- 3. HSBC internal email, dated September 2008, re: Kyc hires (...still grappling with some of the grim realities of the present the upcoming OCC exam in November being one of those grim realities.). [HSBC OCC 0616352-356]
- 4. 30 Day Observations and Recommendations Report from AML Director (Extremely high risk business model from AML perspective * * * AML Director has the responsibility for AML compliance, but very little control over its success.). [HSBC-PSI-PROD-0065332-334]
- 5. HSBC internal email, dated October 2009, re: OFAC resources (...not good in that we don't get the staffing levels we need.). [OCC-PSI-00162661]

- 6. HSBC internal email, dated February 2010, re: Received a call from Kathy G this am (we are in dire straights right know over backlogs, and decisions being made by those that don't understand the risks or consequences of their decisions!!!!). [OCC-PSI-00165898]
- 7. HSBC internal email, dated February 2010, re: Bco Nac Angola (We don't appear to be on the same page as to who owns the risk.). [OCC-PSI-00165932]

Documents Related to HBMX and HSBC Mexico:

- 8. HSBC internal email, dated July 2002, re: BITAL (There is no recognisable compliance or money laundering function in Bital at present). [HSBC OCC 8877797-798]
- 9. HSBC internal email, dated August 2002, re: HIGH NOON, attaching copy of Group Internal Audit, Due Diligence Review Project High Noon). [HSBC OCC 8873843-855]
- 10. HSBC internal email, dated November 2002, re: Compliance Due Diligence Trip by John Root, Bital (Mexico City),- 4-8NOV02. [HSBC OCC 8877800-807]
- 11. May 2004 Group Audit of HBMX (In our opinion, based upon the foregoing, the Direction of Money Laundering Deterrence is operating with a BELOW STANDARD level of Control Risk.). [HSBC OCC 8874376-381]
- 12. HSBC internal email, dated January 2005, re: COMPLIANCE EXCEPTION (...3 members of the Compliance function within HBMX have alleged that senior persons within the Compliance function fabricated records of certain mandatory anti-money laundering meetings * * * There appears little doubt that the transaction is a breach of the relevant OFAC sanction on the part of HBUS). [HSBC OCC 8873671]
- 13. HSBC internal email, dated December 2005, re: OFAC (Some Western authorities allege more sinister purposes, e.g. the funding of terrorist Hizbollah activities). [HSBC OCC 8876612-613]
- 14. HSBC internal email, dated March 2007, re: subject redacted by HSBC (There is a very serious, and high profile, case which has potential reputational damage to the HSBC Group, and must be given the highest priority.). [HSBC OCC 8874315-326]
- 15. HSBC internal email, dated March 2007, re: Travellers Cheques (...in the year through 3Q04, HBMX has sold over USD 110 million of travellers cheques, an amount that eclipses that of HBEU here in the UK). [HSBC OCC 8876645-646]
- 16. HSBC internal email, dated April 2007, re: GROUP AUDIT COMMITTEE APR 07 (Lack of a compliance culture, evidenced (in the most seri[ous] way) by the number of staff defalcations and (in a more widespread general negligence) in the number of fines we receive from the regulators for avoidable errors). [HSBC OCC 8874328-330]

- 17. HSBC internal email, dated April 2007, re: Managerial Letter: HBMX (...process he initiated over a month ago following the seizures of the arms and money from our customers's premises * * * Not a happy story.). [HSBC OCC 8875010-014]
- 18. a. HSBC Bank USA internal memorandum, dated May 1, 2007, re: Wall Street Journal Article Regarding Wachovia (Sigue Corp. A money service business that allegedly processed $24.7 million in suspicious money remittances related to drug-trafficking proceeds.). [OCC-PSI-01358514-517]
 - b. Excerpt from Sigue Corporation Deferred Prosecution Agreement, January 24, 2008.
- 19. HSBC internal email, dated July 2007, re: Weekly Compliance Report (It looks like the business is still retaining unacceptable risks and the AML committee is going along after some initial hemming and hawing.). [HSBC OCC 8875925-927]
- 20. HSBC internal email, dated July 2007, re: subject redacted by HSBC (The principal factor here is that the quality of response from the CMB team has not been of the standard that leads me to believe that they are on top of the compliance risks here.). [HSBC OCC 8875132-135]
- 21. HSBC internal email, dated October 2007, re: CNBV Inspection (This is disturbing and clearly we will need to look at the management structure and practices.). [HSBC OCC 8873338-342]
- 22. HSBC internal email, dated November 2007, re: Mexico (...there are numerous cases of accounts with multiple SARs (16 in one case!!) in Mexico that remain open.). [HSBC OCC 8875423]
- 23. HSBC internal email, dated December 2007, re: Warren Learning HBMX DEC Visit Issues (Sinaloa massive money-laundering scheme (+USD 100 million). [HSBC OCC 8875837]
- 24. 12/2007 audit of HBMX-Money Laundering Deterrence (MLD), Group Audit Mexico, Audit Report Summary Schedule (Main control weaknesses identified during the audit). [HSBC OCC 8876347]
- 25. HSBC internal email, dated January 2009, re: US Issues Various (...if they were contacted by US authorities then they should have thought to advise HBUS.). [HSBC OCC 8873759]
- 26. HSBC internal email, dated December 2006, re: OFAC wire payments blocked from HSBC offshore entities USD 32,000 (re: SDGT) and USD 2,538,939.33 (re Sudan) (How is it that these payments continue to be processed by our affiliates in light of the GCLs?). [HSBC OCC 3407608]

- 27. HSBC internal email, dated February 2008, re: CNBV (...Mexico is suffering a major problem with drugs dealers and the Government is being very robust). [HSBC-PSI-PROD-0198508-509]
- 28. HSBC internal email, dated February 2008, re: subject redacted by HSBC (...in spite of the seriousness of this case and the issues involved, CMB is proposing to retain this relationship.). [HSBC OCC 8875139-141 and HSBC OCC 8875020-021]
- 29. HSBC internal email, dated February 2008, re: CONFIDENTIAL CNBV/FIU Meeting (This is most disturbing and we will need to have the most thorough of investigations.). [HSBC OCC 8966014–020]
- 30. HSBC internal email, dated March 2008, re: HBMX (The comments made by Leopoldo are quite concerning, and it would appear that he was more aware of the weaknesses, and the concerns of the CNBV, than Ramon has indicated.). [HSBC OCC 8874821-825]
- 31. HSBC internal email, dated July 2008, re: HBMX Visit Update (The report...concluded that KYC control was "below standard." A sampling showed that 15% of the customers did not even have a file. For the files that could be found, there were serious failures in following Group procedures.). [HSBC OCC 8873487-489]
- 32. HSBC internal email, dated July 2008, re: HBMX Cayman Accounts (...it appears that our CAMP monitoring system identified significant USD remittances being made by a number of customers to a US company alleged to have been involved in the supply of aircraft to drugs [sic] cartels.). [HSBC OCC 8874829-833]
- 33. HSBC internal email, dated September 2008, re: Cayman Accounts (Account opening documentation is generally poor or non-existent and there is a lot of work to do. Money-laundering risk is consequently high.). [HSBC OCC 8876784-787]
- 34. HSBC internal email, dated November 2008, re: Seriously consider restricting the product Dollars accounts in the zona frontera Product 63 Cuenta Maestra en Dolares P.F. (In the same way we have already restricted new Caiman Island accounts from opening, due to the massive misuse of them by organised crime). [HSBC OCC 8875736-738]
- 35. HSBC internal email, dated November 2008, re: Mexico (What I find most frustrating is the way in which new issues constantly emerge however much time is spent with HBMX.). [HSBC OCC 8875605-607]
- 36. HSBC internal email, dated December 2008, re: Mexico Visit (...significant backlog (3,659) of accounts to be closed. ...675 accounts pending closure were order to be closed by the CCC on suspicion that they are used for money laundering activity ... 16 accounts were sent for closure in 2005). [HSBC-PSI-PROD-0197874-876]

- 37. a. HBUS Banksnotes NY USD Bought from or Sold to Customers in Mexico: 3 Month Period (Nov-06 to Feb-07). [OCC-PSI-00151506]
 - b. BANKNOTES-NY Selected Customers' Activity Alerts & Traders' Explanations for USD Purchases & Sales from 2005-2009, prepared by OCC. [OCC-PSI-00005890-904]
- 38. OCC internal email, dated June 2010, re: HSBC (...this has the makings of potentially being a major criminal case). [OCC-PSI-00928756-758]
- 39. HSBC Presentation, Conducting an Enhanced KYC for Grand Cayman Accountholders, undated (almost no progress has been made in enhanced KYC completion ... success rate in file completion is approximately 25%). [HSBC OCC 8874560-566]

Documents Related to HSBC Affiliates: Circumventing OFAC Prohibitions:

- 40. HSBC internal email, dated May 2001, re: BANK MELLI (I wish to be on the record as not comfortable with this piece of business.). [HSBC-PSI-PROD-0096138-142]
- 41. HSBC internal email, dated July 2001, re: Bank Melli (With the amount of smoke coming off this gun, remind me again why we think we should be supporting this business?). [HSBC OCC 8876128-136]
- 42. HSBC internal email, dated October 2001, re: OFAC SANCTIONS (...bear in mind pending US legislation which will in effect give the US extra-territorial authority over foreign banks, particularly if we are unfortunate enough to process a payment which turns out to be connected to terrorism.). [HSBC OCC 8873890-893]
- 43. HSBC internal email, dated October 2002, re: IRAN (Your already processing USD payments from two existing accounts held in London.). [HSBC OCC 7687373-377]
- 44. HSBC internal email, dated January 2003, re: USD Payments from Iranian Banks (As you may recall, it was agreed that our London/Middle East office would put together a business case regarding plans for providing USD payment services to Iranian Banks). [HSBC OCC 3407510-515]
- 45. HSBC internal email, dated February 2003, re: BUSINESS CASE US PAYMENTS FROM IRANIAN BANKS/ENTITIES (The business case includes a number of express references to practices which may constitute a breach of US sanctions, including the OFAC provisions, and could provide the basis for action against the HSBC Group).
 [HSBC OCC 8876487-488]
- 46. HSBC internal email, dated October 2003, re: Iran Strategy Discussion Paper (...there remains serious political and reputational risks within the USA if they proceed with this). [HSBC OCC 8873941-947]

- 47. HSBC Document, Iran Strategy Discussion Paper, undated, (The Iranian market offers substantial untapped potential for the HSBC Group.). [HSBC OCC 8873949-956]
- 48. HSBC internal email, dated October 2003, re: USD Clearing Iranian Banks (...HBEU have been manually intervening in the processing of Iranian bank payment instructions by removing the remitter's name and country to prevent the probable trigger of a filter in the US, and the subsequent declaration to OFAC (and possible freezing) of the funds.). [HSBC OCC 8875217-218]
- 49. HSBC internal email, dated October 2003, re: Iran (The practice of amending instructions is clearly a long standing one which has hitherto continued despite the RMs believing it had ceased some years ago.). [HSBC OCC 8874660-663]
- 50. a. HSBC internal email, dated December 2003, re: COMPLIANCE OFAC ISSUES IN GENERAL AND SPECIFIC TO IRAN (I currently feel that we may be exposing ourselves to unnecessary and unacceptable Reputational and Operational Risk when we are handling payments originating from FIs domiciled in or who are a local branch of an FI domiciled in an OFAC regulated country.). [HSBC OCC 3407517-522]
 - b. HSBC internal email, dated June 2004, re: PLC Re "do not mention our name" (When Funds Transfer staff noted the messages in the BBI field stating "do not mention our name" they payment was rejected, per our policy, due to concerns about evasion issues under the OFAC regulations.). [HSBC OCC 8873922-928]
 - c. HSBC internal email, dated May 2005, re: Wire Payments Suspended (Wire payments suspended re "Iran" USD 6,912,607.82). [HSBC OCC 8874710-712]
 - d. HSBC internal email, dated February 2008, re: Rami Makhlouf (Please be advised that we currently maintain a relationship with Sellor, Mohamad Makhlouf in our capacity as Trustee and the individual named in your search request (Rami Makhlouf) is actually a beneficiary of the Trust). [HSBC-OCC-8878838]
- 51. HSBC internal email, dated March 2004, re: BankMarkazi Payment (...I remain extremely uncomfortable with the practice of amending Iranian payment orders for whatever means.). [HSBC OCC 8873979-982]
- 52. HSBC internal email, dated March 2004, re: Bank Markazi Payment (The complexity of the OFAC regulations, and the fact that HBUS were unaware that any arrangements existed with Iranian Banks, has made speedy resolution of this issue difficult.). [HSBC OCC 8873985-986]
- 53. HSBC internal email, dated April 2004, re: Iran Correspondent Banking Services OFAC (...the most pressing issue to be resolved is that relating to the limited number of existing relationships that we have (for two small Iranian Banks) where I suspect that HBUS are not aware that payments may be passing through them.). [HSBC OCC 8873994-997]

- 54. HSBC internal email, dated June 2004, re: Iran (...there are very compelling reasons which need to be borne in mind when making this decision, not least of which is the threat to the Group's position in and business with Iran over the medium term.). [HSBC OCC 8874001-004]
- 55. HSBC internal email, dated June 2004, re: Iran (...our interpretation was that we were being asked to 'fudge' the nature of the payments to avoid the U.S. embargo and seizure). [HSBC OCC 8873999]
- 56. HSBC internal email, dated July 2004, re: HBEU Iranian Payments Business (...we are being asked to amend instructions or, assume responsibility that the contents of the payment message do not attract the fed's attention and seize the payment). [HSBC OCC 8876861-863]
- 57. HSBC internal email, dated November 2004, re: U-turns (...initially there were concerns about potential intentional removal of wording "off limit payments" from these payments.). [HSBC-PSI-PROD-0096165-167]
- 58. HSBC internal email, dated December 2004, re: U-turns (Attached are the conditions under which HBUS will accept U-Turn transactions.). [HSBC OCC 3407526-527]
- 59. HSBC internal email, dated June 2005, re: Iranian Payments (...HBME is currently seeking to open a USD account with JP Morgan Chase as our first choice ... in order to process Iranian related USD payments.). [HSBC OCC 8878026-029]
- 60. HSBC internal email, dated May 2006, re: TP Gateways (I would have thought the US regulators would have taken a dim view of routing stuff around the US.). [HSBC OCC 7687437-438]
- 61. HSBC internal email, dated May 2006, re: U Turns (I anticipate that you would prefer to see Field 72 completed, but this will mean more hits in the filters even if they will then be passed.). [HSBC OCC 3243782-787]
- 62. HSBC internal email, dated January 2007, re: Transactions with Iran/Cuba, etc (...let's set up a completely different Swift address to help avoid any problems with Cuba and Iran.). [HSBC OCC 8876921–931]
- 63. HSBC internal email, dated June 2007, re: Iran (There are further complications surrounding the process of closure with all Iranian banks as we have some USD 9m in reimbursements due from Sepah, where we are running off trade lines). [HSBC OCC 8878214-216]
- 64. HSBC internal email, dated June 2007, re: GROUP MESSAGING GATEWAY FOR LAM CLEAR CHOICE REPORT (We have not engaged with CI and Nassau as we have no leadership responsibility for this geography.). [HSBC OCC 8874349-355]

- 65. HSBC internal email, dated June 2008, re: OFAC processing in GCS's (...we're strapped and getting behind in investigations [on OFAC cases] and have some of our key managers in the queues releasing items . . . I cannot hire first level staff unless it's offshored)
 [HSBC OCC 0616349-350]
- 66. HSBC internal email, dated December 2009, re: OFAC Payments (We could use 5 or 6 people for 10 days who can review payments to clear the 700 and building backlog of payments that have been held over and need to be worked to process.). [HSBC OCC 7688668-670]
- 67. HSBC internal email, dated August 2010, re: Project Topaz US Urgent Requirements (We need to move quickly to reduce the AML alerts and the connected KYC issues as it is impossible to plan the required capacity * * * Attached is a list of 121 international banks that we can no longer support and need to exit. * * * the US requirements cut across business lines and it is crucial that the strategies of PCM, TSC and FIG are aligned to prevent this situation occurring in the future.). [HSBC OCC 8876104-106]
- 68. Excerpt from Deloitte Review of OFAC transactions, Results of the Transactions Review UK Gateway, March 29, 2012. [HSBC-PSI-PROD-0197919, 930-931, 940, 968-969, 976, 980]
- 69. Excerpt from March 29, 2012 Presentation, prepared by Sullivan Cromwell LLP and Cahill Gordon & Reindel LLP on OFAC compliance by HSBC Bank USA. [HSBC OCC 8966113, 118, 143]
- 70. HSBC Group Circular Letters (GCL):
 - a. GCL 050047 Compliance with sanctions (28/Jul/2005) [HSBC OCC 3407560-561];
 - b. GCL 060011 US Dollar Payments (06/Apr/2006) [HSBC OCC 3407587];
 - c. GCL 060041 US OFAC Sanctions against Iran U-Turn Exemption (25/Oct/2006) [HSBC OCC 3407606];
 - d. GCL 070049 Sanctions Against Iran (24/Sep/2007). [OCC-PSI-00141530-531]
- 71. Documents related to other countries:
 - a. HSBC internal email, dated September 2005, re: OFAC sanctions (In particular regard to the Sudanese payments, but also to a lesser extent, Cuban and Burmese, there are a considerable number of USD denominated transactions.). [HSBC OCC 8877213-214]
 - b. Information Requested in Connection With: North Korea, Cuba, and Myanmar (We were notified that there are relationships with Cuban and North Korean customers.), HSBC document prepared May 2007. [HSBC OCC 8876093-095]
 - c. HSBC internal email, dated October 2005, re: GCL 050047 Compliance with Sanctions (I note HBMX continues to process USD payments involving Cuba. It is very important this is stopped immediately as the regulators are getting very tough and the cost to the Group could be considerable if a breach occurs, both in terms of the fine and in the rectification work which is likely to be a pre-requisite to any settlement. If this identifies further breaches, the cost could spiral.). [HSBC OCC 8874357-362]

HSBC to testify at U.S. Senate hearing

10 Jul 2012

Group news

In this letter to all employees, Group Chief Executive Stuart Gulliver explains why we have been asked to testify about past compliance failures and what we have done since to strengthen compliance and risk management.

Dear Colleague,

I am writing to you today as you may have seen reports that HSBC has been asked to testify before the U.S. Senate's Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations (PSI) on Tuesday 17 July.

The hearing relates to ongoing investigations by the PSI into our compliance with U.S. regulations including Anti-Money Laundering laws, the Bank Secrecy Act and the Office of Foreign Assets Control sanctions.

While we have previously disclosed these proceedings in our Annual Report and Accounts, the PSI hearing will be the first time that the details of these investigations are made public. It will certainly be the first time that the majority of employees have heard about these issues and I realise it will be a disappointment to you and your teams.

While we have been cooperating with the relevant U.S. authorities since 2010 to improve the way we manage risk and ensure compliance, the PSI hearing may attract significant attention. It is also likely that there will be further enforcement actions from other U.S. authorities over the coming months.

I wanted to ensure that you and your teams had enough information about these issues to be able to answer the questions that you may be asked by your customers, colleagues, friends and family.

While we do not yet know the full details of the PSI investigation, the hearing on 17 July will undoubtedly reveal that in the past we fell well short of the standards that our regulators, customers and investors expect.

During the hearing, we will acknowledge and apologise for our past mistakes. Between 2004 and 2010, our antimoney laundering controls should have been stronger and more effective, and we failed to spot and deal with unacceptable behaviour.

It is right that we be held accountable and that we take responsibility for fixing what went wrong. As well as answering the subcommittee's questions, we will explain the significant changes we have already made to strengthen our compliance and risk management infrastructure and culture.

First, with a new strategy and leadership team, we have put in place a structure that makes HSBC easier to manage. The creation of four global businesses and ten global functions to replace a federated structure allows a coordinated and consistent approach to every part of our business, including compliance.

Second, we have decided to apply high and consistent global standards wherever we work. The Group Standards Committee co-chaired by Group Chief Legal Officer Stuart Levey and Group Chief Risk Officer Marc Moses is working towards ensuring that the highest standards required in any part of the business will apply to every part of the business.

Third, we are driving a change in culture so that our conduct matches our values. We have integrated our values into performance management, judging senior leaders on what they achieve and how they achieve it, because both matter to our reputation and share price.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
EXHIBIT #2a

PSI-HSBC-76-0001

Alongside these changes, we will continue to invest in a best-in-class compliance function. We have increased the amount spent on compliance globally from US$200m in 2010 to US$400m today. Some 3,500 colleagues now work in HSBC compliance worldwide, with more than 1,000 of them in the U.S.

There is no doubt that the coming weeks and months will be challenging, as past practices and compliance failures in certain parts of the firm come under serious scrutiny from regulators, investors, media, customers and employees. I know this will be a disappointment to the vast majority of you who have worked so hard to build and maintain our reputation throughout the turbulence of the past few years, and for that I apologise. I can also assure you that we will also keep you fully informed of these matters via the global staff website and other internal channels.

While we cannot undo past mistakes, we will be judged on how we respond to this issue and demonstrate that we have learnt from it. You have my commitment that we will face up to our past mistakes, show our stakeholders what we have done to address the problems, and never let up in our absolute commitment to ensuring that every part of the firm meets the highest global standards and lives up to our values in the future. As the illicit actors seeking to exploit the financial system are constantly adapting their approach, we will need to be tireless in our own efforts to stop them.

We will do this not just because regulators and authorities expect it of us, but more importantly, because we expect and demand it of ourselves.

This is a fundamental part of achieving our strategy and becoming the world's leading international bank and remains a top priority for the Board and senior management team.

GCL 120014 - HSBC Global Standards

Background

A year ago, we articulated a clear strategy to be the world's leading international bank. In order to make the firm more cohesive and better connected, we established Global Businesses and Global Functions and gave them the authority to manage the firm on a global basis with consistent policies, standards and processes. We also articulated a set of HSBC values to guide our behaviour.

Our ability to achieve our ambition ultimately depends on our reputation, not just for financial strength, but also for trustworthiness and integrity. Too often, we have fallen short of our own expectations and that must change. We now have the structure to help us reduce complexity and run the firm more effectively on a global basis, but structure is not enough. To preserve and enhance our reputation, we must also lead our industry in formulating and implementing global standards and controls to ensure that our conduct matches our values.

What does this mean in practice?

Amongst other things, this means we must:

- adopt and enforce the adherence to a single standard globally that is determined by the highest standard we must apply anywhere. Often, this will mean adhering globally to US regulatory standards; but to the extent another jurisdiction requires higher standards, then that jurisdiction's requirements must shape our global standard
- maximise the sharing of information for risk management purposes amongst Group companies and amongst Global Businesses and Functions
- apply a globally consistent approach to knowing and retaining our customers. When we conclude that any customer or potential customer pases an unacceptable reputational risk (or otherwise does not meet our standards), we should exit or avoid the relationship globally
- ensure that our banking services are not used to facilitate tax evasion anywhere or to hide the proceeds of corruption or crime
- maintain ethical sales practices

Setting and implementing standards and controls is not solely the job of our control functions such as Risk, Legal, Finance and Internal Audit. All of us - across all businesses, all geographies, and all levels of the firm - have a personal responsibility to make this happen. While the Group is made up of many legal entities around the world, we have only one reputation and we are all guardians of it.

Steering Committee on HSBC Global Standards

This will be an ongoing and continuous effort, impacting all of our businesses all over the world. As you all know, much of this work is already well underway. To facilitate comprehensive oversight of these matters, identify additional areas requiring attention, and to determine best practices, I have asked the Group Chief Risk Officer Marc Moses, and Chief Legal Officer Stuart Levey to co-chair a Steering Committee on HSBC Global Standards. This Committee will operate under the supervision of the Group Risk Management Meeting to define the HSBC Global Standards and to ensure that those Global Standards are implemented.

Yours faithfully.

Chapter 5 Legal, Compliance and Reputation

Legal

The Global Legal Function is responsible for providing and managing legal services to members of the HSBC Group, thereby facilitating its business and for protecting the Group from legal risk as well as its integrity and reputation. The Group General Counsel maintains a close relationship with the Chief Risk Officer (CRO).

The Global Legal Function operates through individual legal departments in more than 50 countries. Regional General Counsel for North America; Latin America; Europe; Middle East; Asia Pacific; the Global Head of Global Banking and Markets, Legal; the Head of GBL LGA and the Chief Operating Officer, GBL LGA together with the Group General Counsel form the Group Legal Executive Committee. The Group Legal Executive Committee has primary responsibility for providing leadership and guidance across the function, while the responsibility for providing legal support to the business rests with the individual country departments.

Legal risk is a combination of a variety of risks. In particular:

Contractual Risk is the risk that the rights and/or obligations of a Group member within a contractual relationship are defective;

Dispute Risk is made up of the risks that a Group member is subject to when it is involved in or managing a potential dispute or actual dispute;

Legislative Risk which is the risk that a Group member fails to adhere to the laws of the jurisdictions in which it operates; and Non-Contractual Rights Risk which is the risk that a Group member's assets are not properly owned or are infringed by others or the infringement by a Group member of another party's rights.

For additional detail on legal risk and HSBC's policies to control such risk, please refer to the Legal and Compliance FIM.

Compliance

The structure of the Group's Compliance function is designed to fit closely with the structure of the business and is divided according to geographic units (each country or jurisdiction is headed by an Area Compliance Officer who functionally reports to the relevant Regional Compliance Officer) and Global Businesses (which are typically subject to oversight by a Global Business Compliance Officer). Furthermore for major Group companies, typically those with a dedicated audit committee, a Global Head of Compliance will exist to co-ordinate Local Compliance Officers both within that company's domestic and overseas offices.

Group Compliance in Group Headquarters is the centre of the Compliance function, setting Group-wide policy and supporting the regional/product networks as well as advising Group executives on all regulatory matters. The Head of Group Compliance reports to the Chief Risk Officer, but also has close association with the Group General Counsel so a holistic view of risk across the Group's functions can be obtained.

Given the geographical spread of the Group and the number of financial markets in which it operates, the breadth and depth of legislation and regulation to which the Group is subject is enormous. The penalties for contravening rules and regulations are also increasing in severity. Compliance risk is closely bound with reputational risk and the perception of the Group by customers and others can be readily damaged by a failure to comply with relevant laws. Any wilful or negligent contravention by a Group operation will be regarded very seriously.

For full details of the globally-applicable Compliance policies in place to safeguard the HSBC Group against regulatory risk, refer to the Compliance section of the Legal and Compliance FIM. In some cases, such policies will be supplemented at Global Business level by the appropriate business FIM.

The following Compliance Policy Statement was adopted by the Board of HSBC Holdings plc on 12MAR93 and is required to be adopted formally by all major operating subsidiaries within the Group:

"It is the policy of the HSBC Group (the Group) to observe high standards of integrity and fair dealing in the conduct of its business and to act with due skill, care and diligence.

To those ends, Group members should:

- comply with both the letter and spirit of all relevant laws, codes, rules, regulations and standards of good market practice in each jurisdiction around the world where they conduct business; and
- ensure that any irregularities which arise are promptly resolved in a manner which minimises financial loss and protects the good name and reputation of the Group."

Management at all levels must ensure they, or their executives with delegated managerial responsibilities, are fully acquainted with the rules and regulations applying to the operations for which they have responsibility and that arrangements for ensuring compliance with legal/regulatory requirements are an integral part of the operational procedures of the business. Where managers become aware of breaches of laws or regulations, they must advise their Local Compliance Officer.

Re: FW: Kyc hires

David,

I think we are keeping our view and our plans firmly focused on the future, but are still grappling with some of the grim realities of the present - the upcoming OCC exam in November being one of those grim realities. But I am happy to explore other suggestions for providing 'quick fixes' for the situation, whether those are business-related or compliance-related, and think a meeting is a very good idea (early next week perhaps?). I will also pull together the additional Compliance information you've requested and forward.

Re: Fw: Kyc hires

Thanks Lesley.

I do think that collectively we need to step back and consider the full financial impact of what we are proposing for our PCM business at a time when the business is being asked to consider carefully its strategic objectives, both from a customer perspective and also from a OneHSBC perspective.

The proposal on the table is to add a total of 8 fte to support compliance related activity. I appreciate that they are not all additional positions from a budget standpoint but nevertheless there will be a significant impact on total operating expenses at a time when we are also tasked with keeping costs flat to 1H08.

Therefore, I would still like my earlier questions answered but with the analysis amended to account for the additional Compliance staff in your area which are of course charged back to the business. One further example of where we would benefit from additional clarity: you correctly say that the Cash Letter process is very paper intensive so the function cannot move offshore. What is the profitability of this business and what automation plans do we have because perhaps we should be considering eliminating some of the manual activity?

I think that we must also use this opportunity to accelerate the HNAH centralization initiative. As you say, the request by PCM is effectively to add resource to an operational team. We should be looking to put such resource into a central utility at every opportunity as is envisaged in the ICRM report. If you can do the same with the routine compliance monitoring activity, then economies of scale should result.

I appreciate that this is not the response that you are collectively looking for but in the current environment I feel we must at least ask some harder questions and not simply approve additional headcount. Equally, I am mindful that we have an alert backlog in the PCM business and I should be grateful for an update as to where we stand with this.

Happy to get together if a meeting will help.

Regards

David

Subject Fw: Kyc hires

David.

We would support the request. PCM has an operational team that does client on-boarding and file review in Delaware and we understand they have had some outstanding vacancies. The team was created in response to an OCC comment several years ago and focused on high risk customers and financial institutions. The team was successful and PCM extended their remit to additional customer types in response to an audit comment and to ensure consistency across the business unit. Consistent with the Bank's strategic direction, the team looks to Compliance for advice and guidance but do the actual file reviews and document collection themselves.

These activities are independent of Compliance advisory and monitoring work and resources. On the latter point, we had been in process of trying to hire for 3 additional approved positions (per your approval from late JUN), 2 for targetted monitoring and one more senior LCO. In recent weeks, a couple of events happened that affected our progress:

- the freeze for hiring in global businesses was put into effect. We were advised that this applied in the PCM world, and so we suspended our hiring efforts: - two members of the Compliance staff in Delaware resigned (one to take a position with the business).

As a result we reviewed our staffing proposal and concluded that we would use this as an opportunity to reduce the 5 vacant compliance positions (3 as approved + 2 recent departures) to 4, all outside of New York. Attached is the one-pager we had just prepared which explains and supports that analysis. Given the hiring freeze in global businesses, I understand that it may also need approval by Paul Lawrence, but this has continued to be an area of notable risk and regulatory attention and which needs some stabilization for Compliance resources. In making the proposal, we continue to seek the most efficient and cost-effective means of providing some needed support. My staff has consulted with Michael in this process and understands that he is supportive. Page 3

Chris

As we all know, PCM is a high risk business from a BSA/AML perspective and we need to ensure that we have sufficient qualified resource to meet regulatory requirements. As such , I have asked compliance for their views on this request.

That said, I will need more detailed information. A proposed increase of 4 FTE is significant. What precisely is driving this increase? What is the volume growth of the business in terms of number of customers and who are these customers from a risk profile perspective? Do they fit in with our overall strategy? What is the underlying profitability of this projected growth?

what is the current number of Compliance FTE in the business and how are they deployed? What exactly will the additional 4 people be doing? What progress are we making in terms of further offshoring and utilizing the Global Centres of Excellence? What scope do we have for further cost reductions in other areas, eg payments operations following the centralization under Tom Kaiser?

Finally, I note Michael's comments concerning cost saves but will the business be able to meet the overall corporate goal of keeping 2H expenses flat to 1H?

Thanks

David

I ask for davids guidance with respect to compliance resource.

As regards adds within pcm, as previously discussed, operational integrity is clearly a high priority, however fte adds in this climate will need to be offset by reductions elsewhere in your business in order for a flat cost profile to be achieved.

I know we will be discussing this point at 9 30.

Chris,

As you are aware, I have expressed considerable concern for some time over the lack of resources both in compliance and within pcm to adequately support kyc and related regulatory requirements.

I can not speak to what compliance is doing to add further support to their team, however I wish to ensure that pcm does what it needs to. To this end we have requested 4 adds to staff with immediate effect.

The occ will be here in q4 and we must ensure that resources are sufficient to give comfort to the occ that we take this seriously.

I would appreciate guidance on how/when we can remedy the situation.

30 Day Observations and Recommendations Report from AML Director

To: Curt Cunningham

From: Wyn Clark

Date: Thursday, October 15, 2009

Profile of HSBC

Extremely high risk business model from AML perspective:

High

Compliance: Reputation: Regulatory:

Financial:

Products/Services

Current Observations

AML Director has the responsibility for AML compliance, but very little control over its success

Operate under "crisis" mode, actions are reactive rather than forward thinking

AML Director unable to manage at high level

Several AML Directors/BSA Officers in a short period of time

Systems and controls not adequate for risk profile of organization:

OFAC misses and backlog

Large # of MRAs

Barton Adams

Threat of repeat MRA in GIB

Where are concerns with control environment?

Reporting lines

Business and AML Expertise

Technology

Head count

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
EXHIBIT #4

Independence MIS

Appear to have lost urgency of AML compliance since previous enforcement action was lifted

AML risk profile of HBIO vs. HBUS are extreme opposites

Decentralized functions creates inefficiencies, inconsistencies and a greater potential of things falling through the cracks or missed all together

Commingling of general compliance with that of AML

Proposed Organization (CTP)

AML Director has responsibility for AML compliance as delegated by the BoDs (HBUS, NA BOD and North America BOD) but very little control, oversight or direct authority over its success.

Proposals

AML Compliance should have its own channel within HNAH compliance

Groups supporting AML to have direct reporting into AML Director (see draft org. chart)

To ensure that AML Compliance is maintained throughout the entire North America region it is critical that there is a lead/head in the following key areas. These heads should report directly to the AML Director or advisors in the AML Director's office that oversee these key areas for all of HNAH:

Policy/Dep Director FIU

Surveillance/Monitoring

Investigations SAR Reporting

KYC/CDD/EDD
Training
Regulatory Exam/Internal Audit
MIS/Metrics

Reporting-Non SAR

Represented in AML Governance Council: Business Line AML Officers/Heads LCOs w/ AML component

Questions

Is there a budget for AML?

Priorities

- 1) FIU report to AML Office
- 2) Report AML risks and issues to BoD
- 3) Structure and staffing of AML Office
 - a. Oversight, SME, Policy,
 - b. Operations FIU primarily
- 4) Fix OFAC drill down to determine ultimate root cause and fix, then fix other issues
- 5) Norkom implemented in GIB
- 6) Full scope assessment of AML risk vs. control and system environment
- 7) AML/OFAC risk assessment process

I re-read this a few times and at first thought it was a bit rambling/venting but that is probably what we need at this point. It is on point, just don't know how we are going to get there. I would point out that we do push back on opening/maintaining relationships that are strategic Group relationships and have been able to hold our ground but it is extremely difficult at times - we expend a lot of energy pushing our point and holding our ground and certainly Group member referred relationships/transactions have increased our HBUS

HANA is really HNAH.

Also, think you mean to say you can't think of one exception.

Subject: Fw: Fw: Bco Nac Angola Lesley and Curt, This rings to the heart of one of my major issues here. We don't appear to be on the same page as to who owns the risk. My view is the businesses own this risk and should be articulating to their leaders and compliance as to why they are comfortable with it and provide a clear justification how the risk can be effectively managed within the risk tolerances that have been articulated by our BOD. The same goes to group and our affiliates. It does not hold water that we have to open accounts or process transactions just because we are expected to support group mandates. Just like the businesses, my view is that HANA owns the risk, not group, and we have to start acting that way or we will continue to run into problems with no end in sight. If you own the risk, and receive compensation based upon the risk/reward concept, then you have to be prepared to make the decisions necessary to manage it to make the decisions necessary to manage it.
(Based upon the very upsetting "rewards" process we recently went through in compliance, we are clearly not being compensated on a risk/reward basis in our group.)

The email below, as well as the recent PSI report are good examples. We are spinning our wheels with this PSI report performing scrubs and filing reports where necessary. My view is we should instruct the businesses to review this Page 1 report themselves, and report back as to where they have exposure, the risk, and what their action plan is. This should include the highest levels of management in the impacted businesses, and our organization, approving the actions and accepting the risk. Its not what actions compliance is taking, its what actions the risk owners are taking.

At this point the businesses are not accepting that they own the risk, I can think of one exception, making the difficult decisions and taking the necessary steps to mitigate their risk. My view is the risks are being ignored by the business, and they are simply waiting for compliance to tell them what the risks are and to convince them as to what actions need to be taken. If they don't know what the risks are, then why are they opening accounts or continuing with the relationship? They are essentially pushing the risk to compliance, this is not where it resides.

I am happy to discuss this anytime. I'm convinced that our biggest challenges are internal (risk ownership is just one example, my list is lengthy), and until we realize this and get them addressed, we are not going to have an effective AML and/or compliance program. Its time to have an honest discussion with the most senior levels of management in this organization about the issues, until then we're only fixing the symptoms.

I have no problem with either of you sharing this email with those that you feel appropriate. I'm very transparent and candid in my approach, and feel that dealing with issues head on is the best approach.

I appreciate the responses and the ongoing analysis, however, we need to be evaluating this and other Angolan clients broadly, versus the specific transaction(s) highlighted in our monitoring. As described in the note from Balance Sheet Management below, we have other businesses who do not have direct relationships with this and other Angolan accounts. They are concerned about their exposure to the counterparties and, as a result, are seeking our guidance.

Whereas, its important to highlight all issues and concerns associated with this activity to the business and seek their concurrence, we need to be providing the guidance that is being sought. I don't think anyone involved doesn't already appreciate the risk associated with this business, they are looking for our view. We need to articulate our position and get the view out immediately.

Please let me know as soon as this review is completed. I'm happy to Page 2

John

I have now met with Sandy Flockhart to discuss the way forward.

The key points are as follows:-

I attach a structure chart (by hard copy), which shows the current, and rather unsatisfactory structures within Bital.

Sandy acknowledges the importance of a robust compliance and money laundering function, which at present is virtually non-existent.

Before proceeding very far with the search for expatriate resource, Sandy would like someone to visit Mexico with a view to scoping current resources, the extent of the problem, and the major issues. Particularly he is looking to see if there is any local resource which can either be used or groomed to perform the ACO/MLCO role.

Two possible candidates are the existing in-house lawyer at HSBC, and the current ACO. Could you please talk to Carolyn Wind and get her assessment at least on the ACO if not on the in-house lawyer.

There is no recognisable compliance or money laundering function in Bital at present, and this therefore increases the likelihood that there will be no obvious existing resource which we can use.

Sandy thinks it is important to look both at issues affecting Mexico City, but also closer to the border where there appears to be substantial cross-border flows of monies, including USD in cash.

Sandy is looking for someone to visit mid October onwards, and would like the initial scoping of the extent of the task to be completed prior to closing in early December.

Could I ask you to consider the due diligence, to schedule a trip to Mexico, and once you have some broad dates, contact Sandy with a view to discussing who you would meet, timing etc.

I am happy to discuss further when you have had a chance to consider.

Many thanks

SECTION 3.22

COMPLIANCE

Background

A review was performed of the fundamental purpose, current responsibilities and ongoing activities of GFB's Compliance related efforts, with the overall objective being to ascertain the extent of GFB's existing and potential Compliance related risks. A determination was made to access the effectiveness how GFB's Compliance related efforts are spread throughout the company, including its retail banking network, Cayman Islands and New York City branches, and non-banking units. In addition, GFB has Internet facilities where its clients can perform some banking transactions.

Decumentation reviews and staff interviews were undertaken to ascertain GTB's overall effectiveness with Compliance a clivities and issues. Most of the meetings and interviews were held with Audit officials Rocio Mendoza Ramos, Raymundo Vázquez, Luis Javier Vareia Rubio and Arturo Salvador Reyes Figueroa.

Scope

The principle focus of the compliance review included :-

- Administrative duties and reviews for opening accounts.
- Know Your Customer practices.
- Money laundering prevention, detection, monitoring and reporting.
- Processes established to adhere with Comision Nacional Bancaria y de Valores ("CNBV") Circular 1506, which by September 2002 requires all Mexico banks to have internal control policies and procedures to monitor, control and report certain banking risks.
- Policies and procedures congruous to HSBC's Special Categories of Clients.
- Code of Conduct.
- Conflicts of Interest.
- Personal Investment Policies.
- Investor Suitability.

During 1997 and 1998, an account executive was found to have established and operated a money laundering scheme. GFB's case documentation and records were reviewed.

A review was also undertaken relating to GFB's Departmento de Jurídico (Legal Department). Refer to the Legal section for a summary of GFB's major lawsuits and client complaints.

JULY 2002 :

Structure

• GFB does not have a Compliance Department. Rather, Compliance work is contained within the scope of activities of the Department of a Auditoria (Audit Department - INA), which currently has a staff of 100. INA is headed by Flavio Augosto Franyuti Barreda, who was not interviewed as part of the due diligence effort. Rocio Mendoza Ramos, an INA director, oversees a staff of 30 people, whose responsibilities include Compliance related issues, including operations at the New York agency and assets and liabilities booked at the Cayman Islands branch. Sra. Mendoza said that her area's annual plans include a target goal to review 400 of GFB's 1,389 domestic branches.

Accounting Opening Procedures and Permissible Categories of Clients

The CNBV issued a regulation in 1998 that requires all Mexico banks to obtain fundamental Know Your Client information. Banks had until 01/01/2001 to bring all accounts opened prior to 05/1997 into adherence with the regulation. INA claimed that all domestic accounts have been brought into adherence with the regulation.

GFB collects the majority of Know Your Client information from clients. However, new customers are not asked to provide information about their sources of wealth or initial deposit funds. Also, the GFB does not document any information about the expected use of the account or anticipated transaction volume or frequency.

 GFB does not use World-Check list or any other third party databases for new account screening. Also, new client names are not checked against the US Treasury.
 Department's OFAC SDN List.

• GFB does not have a client restriction policy similar to Special Categories of Clients. It has created an internal blacklist called Boletinado. Certain government officials, known or highly suspected criminals and criminal enterprises, and persons from the FATF non-cooperative countries comprise the list (although the documentation provided did not have the current FATF list of non-cooperative countries, the list being well over one year old.) GFB's core client information systems compare new accounts with the Boletinados and prevents activation of those accounts.

GFB has a department called Banco Gobierno. This department has as clients selected political individuals; local, state and federal government agencies; and the major political parties. There was no information found indicating whether this department receives any special Compliance related coverage. HSBC would regard the individual and political party clients of Banco Gobierno as high risk SCCs.

 GFB's Casa de Bolsa does not obtain investor suitability information. Clients are required to state their maximum investment volumes based as a percentage of the income information they provide.

Recent reviews of account opening documentation -

 FRBNY review in 12/2000 identified that 82 of the 248 accounts reviewed lacked full documentation.

JULY 2002

- A review in 1 Q02 (28% sample review of documentation of accounts booked at the target's Cayman Islands branch) found that 41% of the accounts reviewed (92 of 224 reviewed) lacked full client information.
- During 1Q02, INA reviewed electronically inventory records of 73,391 domestic account files. 49,327 (67,5%) of the files contained all of the required documentation. GFB has a .100% goal for 31/12/2002.
- During 1Q02, INA found that the GFB had opened 2,000 USD denominated accounts outside La Franza Fronteriza, violating Circular 2019 of Banixco. The deposit client information system now blocks attempts to open USD accounts outside of the area encompassing land located within 20 kilometers of the US border.

Monitoring Activities

- GFB's main account menitoring efforts are conducted through a system named Monitor. It is a Hogan Tool Kit based system that was built and refined by GFB's INA and IT departments. Monitor's current primary function is to identify accounts whose transactions exceed the equivalent of USD50k in any single day. Upon identifying an account that exceeds the daily threshold, the system sends alerts that reach the account executive level, where account managers are to review the alerts and notify INA of any alerts believed to be unusual or suspicious. If an account executive replies that a case is unusual or passibly suspicious, an INA employee opens an investigation and reviews the account's most recent 3 months' of transactions. Discussions are held with the referring account executive as deemed necessary. A case deemed worthy to be sent to the Secretaria de Hacienda y Crédito Público para la Prevención de Actividades Ilicitas, is first sent to the central Comité de Analysis de Operaciones con Rocursos Ilicitos ("CAPORI"). The CAPORI has the decision responsibility whether or not to send suspicious activity reports to the government. During 2001, 281 of the 286 cases referred were sent to the government, the residual being considered as not having sufficient merit to report.
- Monitor has columns reporting whether elient current account files are documented fully. It reports the information in percentage terms by business division, branch and account executive populations. At the account level, Monitor states whether the fundamental Know York Client information elements are on file. However, account officers enter this information in Monitor and no rmally this data is verified only when INA visit a branch, when sample reviews are conducted for file documentation. The system is being enhanced to flag daily activities of more than USD 10k for certain accounts.

The system's merits are that it captures and reports transactions with satisfactory detail. However, its overall application is rather limited:

- The system does not have any capacity to aggregate transaction activity for any period other than a given day;
- It cannot issue alorts or reports based on weekly, monthly or 3 months' of activity;
- Account officers are responsible to identify and report transactions they believe to be anusual or suspicious. There is no independent review of the over USD50k of activities;
- Monitor is connected only with current accounts on GFB's ledgers. Client Casa de Bolsa and other non-banking transactions are captured by Monitor only if a current account is affected.
- · Monitor does not identify high risk clients as such;
- · Monitor does not identify the accounts of the Banco Gobierno as such;
- · Private banking operations per sé, are not identified.

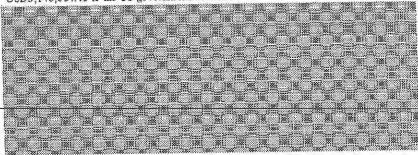

If acquired, it is considered a system such as CAMP Retail would have to be installed and implemented at GFB.

CNBV Circular 1506

In October 2001, the CBNV issued Circular 1506. The circular requires all Mexico banks to implement internal control policies, procedures and practices by September 2002. The main risks identified are operational, liquidity, credit and money laundering. GPB has developed elaborate policies, procedures and systems to comply with the Circular. All affected areas will have to control, monitor and report regularly their associated risks to the central CAPORI, some a reas will have to report monthly. The overall effort is very ambitious, and GPB will be very challenged to be able to adhere to its sophisticated plan.

Money Laundering Case

• GFB was involved in Operation Casa Blanca, a US government undercover sting operation undertaken to combat drug trafficking and money laundering activities in the US and Mexico. A former GFB account executive was found willing to establish fictitious accounts and moved illegal money through them. Despite the fact only the former employee was found guilty of any crimes, because of his actions GFB forfeited USD3,148,884.40 to the US government in 1998.

JULY 2002

- INA conducted a full investigation during September 1998 and reported its findings to the Secretarin de Hacienda y Crédito Público para la Prevención de Actividades Ilicitas in December 1998
- GFB forfeited nearly USD3,2m of funds held at three US correspondent banks to the US government in 1998, and see the US government implicated a second individual, see the US was a management trainer at the time.

have known about the matter, and he did no thing to stop it or report it to management.

However, he was found not to have conducted, or approved, any of the transactions, so

GFB was not found guilty by virtue of

• INA has since conducted money laundering related review work and we are advised by them that no further problems have been found.

Other Compliance Issues .

Regulatory Inspections and External Audit Reports

CNBV conducted two inspection visits during 2001." The regulator cited four principle shortcomings with the target bank's money laundering program.

- 1. No money laundering audits or reviews were performed at the trust area.
- 2. The overall status of client file documentation was found to be less than satisfactory.
- 3. Information was missing for 25% of the over USD50k transactions reviewed by the CNBV inspectors.
- 4. The administration and content of the money laundering training program needed

GFB management replied that improvement measures would be taken to address each issue noted. However, some issues remain outstanding and not fully addressed (e.g. ML training programme on the Intranet).

The December 2000 Arthur Andersen Management Letter addressed three Compliance issues.

- 1. Administration and control of credit facilities and contracts with related parties was weak.
- 2. GFB did not file financial reports and schedules with regulatory authorities in a timely
- 3. GFB failed to fully implement its risk administration program as called for in its policies and procedures.

Management replied that they had taken the steps necessary to clear each item, but the following should be noted.

1. The 2001 CNBV inspection report listed two large insider loans, and reference to preservatial treatment for both which were found to be problem situations. (Reser to the Commercial Credit section 3.3 for further details)

2. GFB has still not fully automated the accounting systems that produce the regulatory reports and schedules.

- 3. A December 2001 KPMG review of GFB's risk control policies and procedures found that the organization was in compliance with all 31 elements of CNBV Circular 1423, which requires Mexico banks to monitor and control liquidity, credit, markets and operating risks. Banks had to implement procedures to control these risks by 01/01/2001.
- 4. The 2001 Arthur Andersen Management Letter did not repeat any of the three issues. It did state, however, that the organization needed to implement certain measures to comply with Circular 1423, unlike the opinion rendered by KPMG. We have not received an explanation as to why KPMG were appointed over and above the involvement of

Also, the management letter stated that GFB did not have a Treasury Compliance function.

Transactions over the Internet

GFB established an Internet web site in 1996. The bank and Casa de Bolsa have some transactional web site pages. Consumers, small business and corporate banking customers can conduct some account transactions over the Internet, including:

- . Purchases of mutual funds shares.
- Tax and other bill payments, including 700 identified service providers and 2 mobile te lephone companies.
- Credit card payments.
- Inter-account transfers (business clients only).

GFB has not, however, established web site pages where clients can open new accounts.

During April 2002, some MXP7.7m (USD770k) of unauthorized third party wire transfers were conducted through the Internet, causing a loss to GFB of MXP1.5m (USD150k). To date, the bank has not been able to identify any suspects. We have not seen confirmation that the inherent control weaknesses have been rectified.

MIN.W 2002

Other Matters

GFB has a Code of Coaduct, but it covers very few matters, its overall content being sparse. Conflicts of interest are addressed, but no examples are given and employees are not instructed how to respond to a situation presenting a potential conflict. Other issues, such as outside employment, receiving gifts from clients and service providers, and guidance on responding to attempts of influence, receive little or no attention. All employees were required to attest to understanding the Code and all new hires must also so attest.

GFB does not have a policy relating to employees' personal investment activities, like HSBC's Staff Dealing Rules. If employees purchase stock of GFB they must hold the shares for three months, and one week for other stocks. Employees at the level of director and above must provide personal asset and liability information on an annual basis.

GFB does not have a policy for anti-boycott measures or contract clauses.

GFB apparently does not employ separation of duties between departments for sensitive client transactions, such as the principals of Chinese Walls for investment banking and merger and acquisitions activities. During some interviews with other DD team members, some GFB officials referred to the concept of Chinese Walls, however, it appeared that they were using the term to note separation of duties between front and back offices.

Conclusions

The GFB Compliance effort is weak, and it appears that the target organization does not have a strong Compliance culture.

- GFB does not, in reality, have a Compliance Department and on e would have to be established and implemented, with possibly some local staff being transferred from INA.
 It is likely that, in the event of the acquisition proceeding, HSBC would need to import an experienced Compliance official establish a formal department.
- Reviews of account opening procedures and client documentation are sporadic, and the reviews normally do not encompass large populations of client files or activities. This effort needs to be strengthened.
- Client i ransaction and activity monitoring is very limited. The reliance on account managers to identify and report unusual and suspicious transactions of their clients is a serious internal control shortcoming. Historical analysis of possible suspicious situations are performed only at the recommendations of account officers. High risk clients receive no special monitoring coverage. The organization permits accounts of individuals and organizations that are considered high risk by some banking organizations and simply not permitted by others. Yet, there are no special efforts to monitor activities or perform special reviews of these clients. Enhanced transaction monitoring, especially for high risk clients and unusual activities, would have to be injected to the effort. Quite likely the increased monitoring activities would require additional staff.

TITE V 200

- Internal and external audit recommendations, and issues raised in regulatory reports do not receive proper respect and action. Many replies to exceptions and recommendations are merely perfunctory, and committed improvements are often slow in forthcoming. At times management has not responded at all to issues and recommendations cited in Internal Audit reports. For example, we identified no records where INA or another department performed any follow up reviews to the matter cited by the FRBNY examiners. Business lines and support areas would have to dedicate efforts to address and resolve audit and regulatory issues and recommendations.
- The shortcomings with monitoring account opening practices, client transactions, unusual operations, and the lack of follow up to exceptions and recommendations cited in audit and regulatory reports, present the potential to have a nother employee or group of employees become involved in another money laundering operation.
- Measures to promote and ensure staff discipline are not satisfactory. GFB's Code of Conduct lacks content, detail and spirit. There is no policy to promote prudence with employees' personal investment activities. Appropriate staff related policies would have to be implemented immediately as part of the overall effort to install a dedicated Compliance and internal control culture throughout the organization.

Attached please find a report on my visit to Bital, a report which Sandy Flockhart has already seen.

There is very little of what we would call a Compliance function. Also, I have left out personal evaluations because of the sensitivities involved. I did not encounter anybody at Bital who I thought immediately capable of building a Compliance department. However, I met with Ramon Garcia Gibson, Director of Anti-Money Laundering at Banamex (Citigroup), and I agree with Matthew (and Susan Wright) that he would be a good candidate to head Compliance in Mexico.

Kind regards,

John Root

> Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations EXHIBIT #10

COMPLIANCE DUE DILIGENCE TRIP BY JOHN ROOT BITAL (MEXICO CITY) -4-8NOV02

NOTE:

The information in this report was obtained through management interviews and has not been independently verified.

Background

The Mexican economy is largely cash-based. Workers even have the right to receive wages in cash.

Prior to 1996, no identification was needed to open an account. One HSBC Mexico manager opines that, in Mexico, a false driver's ID can "be obtained in two hours". The same manager notes that "Mexicans don't like to disclose financial information" and that they "will open an account in the name of the maid".

As more than one senior manager opined, there is a lack of a "control culture" at Bital.

Laws

A number of banks are currently working together on drafting a compendium of banking laws, which would be useful for the Compliance Chart.

Action: the Bital Chief Legal Counsel to participate in the working group and obtain a copy of the compendium for the Compliance Chart. Target date: to be determined.

There is no law requiring "public interest" loans—be they for agricultural or other favoured sectors, or for poorer regions or urban areas. However, last month the Banco de Mexico requested that Bital make a USD 1.5 billion deposit with them at a preferential rate.

Government Relations

One of Grupo Bital's chief regulators, Mr Carlos Provencio Munoz, an Assistant Director General at Hacienda (the Treasury), was extremely critical of Grupo Bital. Perhaps it is best to quote at some length Mr Provencio's own words.

Mr Provencio said that controls ("la area normativa") "do not exist" – an assertion which he repeated a number of times and in which he included legal and internal audit controls. They "carry no weight" and "do not pass the rest". There is "an unacceptable level of client complaints" (See the section immediately below on "Client Complaints"). The regulators themselves receive "many complaints". He suspects that Banco Bital "was bilking the clients for liquidity" [sic] and that its "record was worse than other banks".

Banco Atlantico is a "complicated situation". Banco Bital does not accept Atlantico bank customers or their problems, Mr Provencio continued, even though it has the legal responsibility to do so.

Mr Provencio reserved some of his harshest criticism for Crupo Bital's Legal Department, which he averred was "not guilty of bad faith but extreme mediocrity". He stressed the need for better controls of civil cases, where the group's lawyers were often unprepared and missing the proper documents. He cited several examples but said they were "not isolated cases". One case in particular bothered Mr

Provencio (besides the well-known lawsuit of the Banco Atlantico client whose interest payments spiralled out of control and reached the millions). The current head of the Legal Department told Mr Provencio that a cashier had paid money out to a complaining client – and the hapless department head therefore considered the "case closed". Unfortunately, Bital apparently couldn't produce a proper timestamped receipt, and the client continued to complain to the regulator, who blamed a "bad teller system" which, "while not reaching the level of institutional robbery, can't say what went out to whom and when."

There's a bit more. "Bital needs a proactive strategy." It also needs "sweeping changes in management". "There is a lot of work to do." "There is nil ability to prevent problems." "Today there is no balance between the client and the bank."

Mr Provencio ended with a warning about the need to plan very carefully any systems migration,

Senior management's defence is that relations with the regulators have been sourced by two issues in particular: Bital's capital needs and the Atlantico acquisition.

Action: Faced with such a troubled regulatory relationship, it is suggested that senior management trake a concerted effort to meet frequently with Mr Provencio to keep him informed of progress made in controls, particularly in the Legal Department. Bital's Head of Compliance, when designated, should be the person responsible for co-ordinating such an effort. Target date: cominuous.

Client Complaints

Complaints increased significantly in 2002, averaging 4-5 thousand a month,

There is a centralised system of client complaints called Servital. It can sort complaints by type, region, and client category (A,B,C...).

Major causes of complaints are: ATM malfunctions, payroll errors, bad service, delays in the credit process, check frauds (including for tax payments), and late credit card statements.

The level of client complaints can affect significantly the variable portion of managerial salaries.

Regulators have been highly critical of Bital's client service. (See the section immediately above on "Government Relations")

Litigation

Despite a high level of complaints, there is relatively little litigation against the bank. The Legal Department oversees mostly the collections procedures in the courts.

A few states are known to be particularly debtor-friendly: Chilmahua, Morclos. Tamaulipas, and Durango. This is a problem because, while banking is regulated on the Federal level, collection procedures are governed by state and local regulations.

IPAB, the Institute for the Protection of Banks Savings, audited Fobaproa notes (Fobaproa is a predecessor bank savings protection fund which purchased certain assets of Mexican banks after the 1994 crisis) and returned ones it deemed in contravention of the bail-out regulations. Legal proceedings were instituted against the government fund by Bital, Banamex (owned by Citigroup), Bancomer (owned by BBVA) and Banorte. A settlement is considered imminem.

Fines

Bital was fined USD 400, 000 and Atlantico USD 300, 000 for failure to respond adequately and on time to government requests for information on 1994 crisis programmes. One difficulty had been the reconciliation of discount/interest rates applicable in such programmes.

There have also been fines for the closing of branches.

The bonding company Fianzas has had a historically high level of fines.

Money Laundering Controls

Senior management, perhaps because of recent liquidity concerns, can monitor client transactions, including each deposits and withdrawals, through an IT system called Cierre Diario (Daily Closing).

Cierre Diario comains previous-day information, and is updated in a batch process (i.e., not in realtime).

The system can filter accounts and transactions in different ways (by account, region, branch, amount, etc.). It can scan all accounts.

Senior management's practice is to monitor transactions greater than MXP 4 million (USD 400,000).

The minimum legal requirements for money-laundering controls are three-fold:

- 1) a system to identify the clients of high-risk transactions
- 2) quarterly reporting of monthly cash deposits of at least USD 10,000 or the equivalent
- 3) a monitoring system for lower-income clients who deposit at least USD 10,000 monthly

A senior HSBC Mexico manager has some doubts as to how closely the regulators investigate reported transactions, as HSBC Mexico receives few substantive comments or questions on the information submitted.

Cierre Diario was developed as an MI tool rather than for money-laundering prevention. The main IT-system used by Bital to comply with the above minimum legal requirements is called "Monitor". Monitor is a customised system built with the Hogan Tool Kit.

Primary responsibility for the detection of unusual transactions through Monitor rests with the Direction de Auditoria de Segmentos, an area within Internal Audit. The Capori committee (see below) is informed, and the account executive is asked to investigate and take appropriate action. This self-regulation is a significant weakness in controls.

Monitor filters and records all daily client transactions that total USD 50,000 or more.

In 2001 281 suspicious transactions were reported to the authorities totalling over MXP 1.75 billion (USD 175 million). YTD 2002, 162 suspicious transactions were reported, totalling over MXP 900 million (USD 90 million).

A committee called Capori (Comite de Analysis de Operaciones con Recursos Ilícitos) monitors suspicious transactions. This committee, which is composed of a representative nominated by each of the heads of Audit, Legal, Operations, Fraud Prevention, and Banking, meets monthly. The Committee secretary is a member of the Segmentos area of Internal Audit.

The Capon committee also monitors the implementation of the internal control requirements of CNBV Circular 1506. (The CNBV, Comision Nacional Bancaria y de Valores, is a regulator. Its prime responsibilities include the regulation of securities.) The main risks identified in this circular are operational, liquidity, credit, and money laundering.

There are 5 regional Capori committees, which report to the central headquarters Capori. It is this Capori at Bital headquarters which determines which suspicious transactions will be reported to the regulators (Hacienda and CNBV).

There is a confidential "whistleblower" telephone number for unusual transactions. The programme, called Caporitel, has to date permitted the reporting to the authorities of 7 suspicious transactions totalling MXP 1 million (USD 100,000).

All account records must be kept a minimum of 5 years.

It is claimed that all staff received manay-handering training. However, the exact nature of this training must be verified. The CNBV noted in a 2001 inspection that the administration and content of the money-laundering training programme needed improvement. It does not appear that this recommendation has been fully implemented.

Correspondent Banking

Banco Bital has active correspondent banking relationships with 20 banks. These banks appear to be well-known and reputable institutions.

Banco Atlantico docs not have separate correspondent banking relationships, except in Miami, where there is an account with Banco Bital itself.

Banco Bital has 83 correspondent banking relationships in total, most with well-known banks - and none with banks in FATF non-cooperative countries.

Among those banks requiring further KYC are:

HBUS wants to exit the relationship,

Action: Bital's Head of Compliance, when designated, will monitor enhanced KYC on all correspondent banking relationships, but particularly on the above banks. In the absence of satisfactory KYC, the Compliance head will recommend to senior management the exiting of the relationship. Target date: 3 MAR03.

An average of USD 200 million is wired out of the country every month in 8,300 operations. An average of USD 367 million is transferred to Mexico in 10,000 operations.

Each account executive has to sign off on the KYC decementation, including for the Grand Cayman operations.

All international wire payments are subject to the Monitor system, which does not currently block any transaction, or even use any filter other than the USD values described above. The suspicious activity reporting procedure is the same as elsewhere in the hank (see above "Money-Laundering Controls").

As indicated, Bital does not have as a filter the FATF non-cooperative country list. Mexican banks are "discussing a common position" on the issue.

There are automatic quarterly reports to the regulator (CNBV) of all transactions greater than USD 10 000.

Action: Bital's Head of Compliance, when designated, to develop, and Operations to implement, a group-wide filter for suspicious transactions, including the use of the PATT non-cooperative countries list and the Group high-risk countries list. Compliance will also develop and implement a process to investigate suspicious transactions and take remedial action without any tipping-off. This system will be developed group-wide for all account activity, not just correspondent banking. Target date: 3011N03.

As elsewhere, many correspondent banks do not identify the ordering party of a wire transaction. However, early next year Swift in Mexico will switch to Form 103, which does require such identification.

Bital's two main U.S. correspondent banks are Bital has total correspondent banking deposits of USD 1.5 billion, including offshore deposits of USD 700 million in Grand Cayman and USD 143 million in New York. The remaining USD 674 million is on deposit in Mexico.

Action: Bital's Head of Compliance, when appointed, will analyse all correspondent banking deposits, but particularly those in the Cayman Islands. Target date: 30JUN03.

Bital gave the requisite USA Patriot Act certification.

Foreign Exchange

Bank policy is not to transact business with foreign-exchange shops ("centros cambiares") which only exchange foreign currency – but do not transfer money. These "centros cambiares" – of which an estimated 5,000 exist in the country – are lightly regulated. On the other hand, Banco Bital does do business with bureaux de change ("casas de cambio") which transfer money and are better regulated.

Tax Payments

In Mexico the banks are obligated to process lax payments — which are made almost entirely by check. The banks obtain hierative government business in exchange for their co-operation. (See the section on "Government Business")

The tax collection system is very inefficient and organised fraud is widespread. The banks have successfully lobbied the government to require intenset payments from legal entities and, for larger amounts, individuals (with carned income greater than MXP 1 million, or taxarned income greater than MXP 300,000). In addition, certain other taxpayers (i.e., those required to make monthly withholding payments) must make electronic payments. Pending legislation will further expand electronic payments.

In order to reduce fraud, electronic payments should be maximised, where required or permitted by law, regulation, and the services contract signed between Bital and Hacienda.

Action: Bital Legal and Operations to review all pertinent legal and contractual provisions and develop further the electronic and Internet payments systems by taking advantage of every opportunity provided by law, regulation, or contract. Target date: 31MAR03.

Government Banking

Bital provides banking and payroll services to government at the Federal, state, and local levels. In addition to making loans to state and municipal entities, Bital processes payrolls for government employees (and deducts from their pay instalments on consumer and mortgage loans); advances funds for the payment of supplies; and manages government deposits – including large judicial deposits and deposits for state-controlled entities such as Clearly the preponderant role of the state in the banking sector means that any business proposal is one element in a vast and complex overall relationship. There is a lot of bargaining, in part because fees and commissions can be politically unpalatable (and the government does not have the appropriate line item in its budget). Often the bank's remuneration for a service will be indirect, perhaps through a large deposit at a favourable rate or opportunities to market products to state employees on a captive payroll. (See sections such as "Laws", "Government Relations", and "Tax Payments")

Private Banking

Mexican law does not permit the solicitation of fund transfers abroad, although there are no restrictions per se on such transfers.

Action: Bital Legal to develop practical guidelines on what is and is not allowed in Private Banking. Target date: 31MAR03.

Action: Bital's Head of Compliance, when designated, to review all existing Private Banking, with particular attention to USD accounts and fund transfers to New York and the Cayman Islands.

Trusts

The trust area has experienced many difficulties. Formal documentation is often lacking. Proper accounting for tax payments is a problem (e.g., for foreigners who can only own property on the land borders and coastlines through a trust).

The area should improve with the recent installation of new IT systems.

Labour Unions

The main labour union is the Federacion de Sindicatos Bancarios, to which 6,500 Bital employees belong — "mostly tellers".

Labour relations are considered good. Three cases support this claim. First, the radical Barzon movement, which demonstrates – sometimes violently – for debt-relief for poor farmers, has not usually targeted Bital branches. Second, branches have been kept open longer throughout the country with little protest from the unions. Third, management convinced the unions to accept significant job losses when Atlantico branches were closed – in part because Bital was expanding so rapidly elsewhere

CCF

One senior manager noted "a lot of walk-in CCF business". This is enrious because CCF's formal involvement with Latin America ceased over two years ago and, as far as Group is aware, CCF never had much business in Mexico anyway.

Action: Bital's Head of Compliance, when appointed, to investigate all CCF-originated husiness. Target date: 31MAR03.

I. RESUMEN EJECUTIVO

1.1. Antecedentes

El objetivo de este informe es el detallar las observaciones detectadas en la revisión de Lavado de Dinero realizada a HBMX.

En México las Instituciones de Crédito están obligadas a dar cumplimiento a las disposiciones de la Secretaria de Hacienda y Crédito Publico (SCHP) para prevenir, detectar y reportar operaciones con recursos de procedencia ilicita, establecidas principalmente en el artículo 115 de la Ley de Instituciones de Crédito (LIC), donde se definen.

Operaciones relevantes. La que se realice en cualquier instrumento monetario por un monto igual o superior a USD 10,000

Operaciones inusuales. Transacciones realizadas por personas físicas o morales, que no sean congruentes con la actividad o giro comercial del cliente, por su monto, frecuencia tipo o naturaleza.

Dentro de la Dirección Ejecutiva de Compliance se encuentra la Dirección de Prevención de Lavado de Dinero a cargo de Carlos Rochin Alvarez desde hace 1 año, teniendo dentro de sus principales funciones:

- Asesoria y apoyo al grupo para el cumplimiento de las de la normatividad anti-lavado de dinero.
- Controlar cambios en prácticas y productos asegurando los controles de prevención de lavado de dinero.
- Controlar el cumplimiento de los procedimientos y controles de prevención de lavado de dinero.
- Apoyo en la capacitación en materia de lavado de dinero en el grupo.
- Proporcionar al personal del Grupo los medios y mecanismos para el reporte de las operaciones relevantes e inusuales.

El área se encuentra integrada por 1 director, 2 subdirectores, 5 gerentes y 5 analistas

1.2 Objetivos de Auditoria.

Evaluar que los mecanismos utilizados para el motinoreo y detección de operaciones relevantes e inusuales sean suficientes para proteger la buena reputación de HBMX.

Evaluar el control interno de la Dirección de Prevención de Lavado de Dinero verificando:

- Estructura.
- > Análisis de procesos
- Manuales de politicas y procedimientos.

HBMX GAQ 040026

Evaluar que los mecanismos de reporte de operaciones a las autoridades sean oportunos y suficientes para cumplir con las regulaciones establecidas.

Identificar productos de riesgo y verificar que estos sean monitorcados adecuadamente.

Verificar que el grupo cumpla con las leyes y circulares establecidas para la prevención de lavado de dinero.

1,3 Alcance de Auditoria.

La auditoría se realizó al Grupo HBMX incluyendo HBM1 y filiales, y consistió en:

Se verifico la estructura del área a través de organigrama y descripción de puestos

Se realizaron entrevistas con el personal del área identificando sus funciones, mismas que fueron analizadas y evaluadas.

Se evalúo el sistema MONITOR utilizado para le monitoreo de operaciones relevantes.

Se evaluaron los procesos de:

- Reporte de operaciones a las autoridades.
- Análisis de operaciones inusuales reportadas por las sucursales.
- Monitoreo de operaciones
- > Operaciones relevantes
- Atención de oficios de la CNBV

Se verifico el cumplimiento de las principales leyes y circulares aplicables:

Se analizaron los procesos de control para prevenir operaciones de lavado de dinero en las filiales. Casa de Bolsa, Seguros y Fianzas.

A través de entrevistas se identificaron los procesos en los que se consideró se tiene mayor riesgo de incurrir en operaciones de lavado de dinero y se evalúo en ellos los mecanismos de monitoreo, en las siguientes áreas o filiales:

- > Fiduciario
- > Cartera
- Operaciones Pasivas (Remesas, Cobro inmediato, Ordenes de pago, Inversiones, Logística Monetaria y Aclaraciones)
- > Banca por Internet
- > Compra-Venta
- > Cuentas Gran Caimán
- Casa de Bolsa HSBC
- HSBC Fianzas

- > HSBC Seguros
- > HSBC Pensiones
- > Aseguradora Atlántico
- > HSBC Vida

Se identificaron indicadores de los productos con riesgos de lavado de dinero.

Se dio seguimiento a las observaciones emitidas por las autoridades en el último año.

1.4 Conclusiones

HBMX has insufficient controls to detect money laundering transactions in all areas of the Group in a timely manner. The implementation of the CAMP system is in process yet it only includes the Bank's transactions that have been registered in the Hogan system and fails to monitor those registered in other IT systems / HBMX subsidiaries.

Dirección de Prevención de Lavado de Dinero [Direction of Money Laundering Deterrence] has identified high-risk areas of money laundering transactions, which are not being monitored.

The communication between LCOs and Compliance does not enable the timely detection of the needs and weaknesses of the areas and subsidiaries.

There are inadequate internal controls over the I'I systems used to send information to the regulator on suspicious or relevant transactions to authorities.

In our opinion, based upon the foregoing, the Direction of Money Laundering Deterrence is operating with a BELOW STANDARD level of Control Risk.

Our principle conclusions are as follows:

INTERNAL CONTROL

The principle weaknesses identified in the administration of personnel include the inadequate segregation of duties as the departmental structure is top heavy (1 director, 2 sub-directors, 5 Managers and 5 Analysts).

The internal manual and regulatory circulars are not updated on a timely basis

There is inadequate handling and safeguard of relevant and suspicious transactions. The Sub-director and the personnel reporting to him share the password that is used to access the SITI system and send information to the authorities. The restricted area used to store records of suspicious transactions is not always kept safe.

Página 4 de 1

RELEVANT / SUSPICIOUS TRANSACTION MONITORING

HBMX monitoring tools in place do not ensure that all relevant suspicious transactions are reported, since only the transactions registered in Hogan are monitored, this is not the case for transactions entered through the Bank's other IT systems. The information relating to subsidiaries is not validated before it is sent to the authorities. The information that was incorrectly included by the system has to be manually eliminated before it is sent to the authorities.

There is a high risk of exposure in the detection of suspicious transactions, for they are detected only through banking lines. The internal controls for money laundering deterrence do not include Group areas or subsidiaries. The auditors noted that MONITOR system, which is the only suspicious transaction indicator, has not received maintenance for the last 3 years and the information contained therein has not been used for money laundering deterrence.

Added-Value Recommendations:

Although there is a project to implement the CAMP system in HBMI, it is also necessary to develop systems to monitor transactions in other businesses of the HBMX group using indicators and trends in high-risk products and areas and raising alerts in order to take immediate actions.

1.5. Recomendaciones Principales

Recursos Humanos

Vigilar que las funciones inherentes a la subdirección de medición y control se realicen de acuerdo a lo establecido por el área y caso de que el personal no cumpla con el perfil ponerlo a disposición de recursos humanos (3.1.1.).

Establecer una adecuada segregación de funciones.

Manuales y circulares

Incorporar en el manual de prevención de lava de dinero procedimientos para el tratamiento de clientes de alto riesgo, perfiles de transacciones de clientes y visitas domiciliarias. (3.1.2.)

Sistema Monitor.

La administración del sistema debe entregarse a la dirección de prevención de lavado de dinero.

Establecer validaciones del sistema que verifique la información capturada en las bitácoras Establecer un registro de los usuarios que consultan la información del sistema Establecer mecanismos que permitan identificar todas las operaciones relevantes. Aun cuando se tiene el proyecto de implementar el sistema institucional CAMP, es necesario establecer medidas que permitan monitorear las operaciones adecuadamente en lo que se termina el proyecto. (3.2.1.)

Operaciones Relevantes

Deben de establecerse sistemas que permitan reportar todas las operaciones relevantes del

Realizar un análisis del Set de transacciones de Hogan verificando que todas las transacciones en efectivo estén incluidas en el reporte de operaciones relevantes.

Es importante que antes de que se reporten las operaciones relevantes de las empresas filiales se verifique la información. (3.2.3.)

Operaciones Inusuales.

Establecer las medidas necesarias para evitar la utilización de la red del Grupo con el objeto de lavar dinero (GSM 5.7), estas deberán de considerar todas las filiales y procesos de HBMX.

Establecer junto con el área de operaciones mecanismos que permitan controlar y monitorear los usuarios y hienes de las cajas de seguridad.(3.2.4.)

Nucvas Disposiciones en materia de lavado de dinero

Establecer planes formales y fechas compromisos para dar cumplimiento a cada una de las resoluciones mencionadas en las Disposiciones.(3.4.1.)

	As you may recall HBMX maintained accounts for the in their Cayman branch.
	It looks like I will be participating in a conference call involving HBMX, Jeremy Barton and myself early next. I suspect, although do not know, that this conversation will include some debate as to whether these accounts can be maintained, with presumably Jeremy Barton putting the case for retention based on relationships with Whilst I understand this, in advance of the conversation I would like to be armed with the following information if at all possible:-
	Are transactions exempt under OFAC - or do we in the same as any other set of transactions involving need to determine whether each individual payment is exempt, including judging for U-turn exemptions.
	Without troubling Ramon further, are we aware of any particular reason why for example do they have a diplomatic presence there?
	Unless I am missing something the maintenance of a USD account for an challenges for us - am I missing something?

I am enclosing a draft of the aforementioned report in a document file; however, many of the events disclosed for executive purposes have not been quoted or included in their totality, thus a hard copy of the complete version with all necessary Annexes will be sent to your office, early tomorrow (9:00 AM).

I would like to have the opportunity to address some of your questions, which are partially responded throughout the document;

- The customer was not a referral from other part of the Group, since the account was opened during before HSBC actually acquired Bital.

The Money Laundering deterrence reporting history is well documented in the report.

This was a Corporate entity, and as such it should had been managed by other business segment in our opinion; however, this issue has been discussed at the MLD Committee, not only concerning this case, but others that had been brought to the attention of said Committee, but a definition has not been attained, since the nature of the Committee limits its capacity to exercise a migration of customers from one segment to another, though, it has been stated that our detection, and AML enforcement rules might be biased by having entities recorded and managed by wrong types of business lines.

cutifies recorded and managed by wrong types of business lines.

The search across the group has been initially requested with the companies, and individuals, directly associated to rhe case. As for the other entities that could be associated as beneficiaries, or issuing parties of remittances, or other financial transactions are pending response from the operating areas in order to be identified, since this information is not available at our main operating platform, this should be completed tomorrow, and the report would be also updated.

Should you need any explanation of the enclosed report, please on call me at your earliest convenience.

Kind Regards

David has forwarded your note to me this morning. This is a very serious, and high profile, case which has potential reputational damage to the HSBC Group, and must be given the highest priority.

By now, I would hope that you will have completed your analysis of the case and I would ask that you let me have a report by the end of the day. I would like to know, inter alia, how this account was opened (was it a referral from another part of the Group or a local account opening?), the activity on the account, the money laundering reporting history (including the names of the people in PFS who claimed to have detailed knowledge of the customer and declined to make a report), and the current status of contact with the authorities on this case. As this is a corporate entity, I am surprised that PFS management appear to be managing the relationship, and perhaps you could also clarify this.

I trust that we have already initiated a trawl across the Group for any other accounts held by this company, the connected individuals, and associated companies and/or individuals (including those who have sent remittances to, or received them from, this account), and I would like to know what we have found from this, thus far.

I would presume that BSE would be helping in this investigation, and hence I am also copying Andrew Prosser.

Please get back to me on this by the end of the day.

Thanks

Paul

David,

As a consequence of an investigation initiated by the PGR (SIFDO) las

This customer was reported to the authorities by HBMI during event which in our opinion triggered all this process), and several attempts were made to report them recently, and eventually cancel the relationship as prospected by MLD at the MLD Committee (these observations, and enquires to the business are properly documented in the MLD Committee minutes); however, PrS argued that the customer was fine, properly documented, and known by the business and that a cancellation was not accepted, nor a new report to the authorities was desirable. As such the business assumed the full responsibility of any deriving effects as the one that unfortunately occurred yesterday.

I am building a more explicit and comprehensive note of our analysis of the case, and all of the events in a timeline that preceded this unfortunate act.

HSBC's name has not been printed yet in any media or press report, however, we might expect some more heat on this issue, though my estimation is that we were not the only bank, they were operating with, since their batances with HSHC are not very high, specially when related to the amount of the seizure.

A copy of the official press release by the PGR in Spanish is attached to this Finail, including pictures of the bill, and weapons seized.

Should you need me for an immediate debriefing. I am available at your earliest convenience.

Regards Leopoldo

I believe you need to show some light and shade in the steps taken to improve documentation, the improvement in Fiduciario, the rationalisation of Fianzas, (in Fianzas we know the issue but in Fiduciario as we cannot lay of the risk there will always be uncertainto) the fact that in credit cards the principal issue is the updating of Falcon and growth pains and balancing of resources, the fact that our principal fraud reflected to prior years and that the eajero frauds were organised crime events and that prevention was very difficult unless staff spoke up and possibly there was pressure put on them. As for regulatory times we have stopped fighting these which may be a mistake but a number were where the past administration decided to clear their books.

This type of analysis should be brought to the Audit Cruts attention. I would appreciate if you could consider such an analysis as it will benefit members understanding of our environment.

Regards.

Sandy

In response to your email I comment as follows:

The main systemic weaknesses in HBMX, which I believe remain outstanding, are as follows:

KYC as identified in branch and continuous audit reports.

The lack of adequate documentation and filing systems which remain from the former Bital days, evidenced most sharply in the legal cases in Bonds and the oustanding Trust cases, where we continue to be at risk.

Lack of a compliance culture, evidenced (in the most serious way) by the number of staff defalcations and (in a more widespread general negligence) in the number of fines we receive from the regulators for avoidable errors - e.g. failing to report branch openings, or senior management appointments, on time.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
EXHIBIT #16

User access control and passwords.

Inconsistent MI produced by Finance, the Business and CRM which has hindered early identification of problems as well as hampering effective decision making.

Regarding operating losses and credit card frauds I append the following comments:

Op Losses. The trend in 4Q06 caught the attention of Management and action is being taken to mirigate losses. A working group is being established to improve the reporting (timeliness and completeness), accuracy of the Gordon database and analysis of events, based on recommendations made recently by GAQ.

Credit Cards.- A review of credit card frauds which was the most significant contributor to Op Loss, was recently completed by GHQ and the business is responding to the report's recommendations and are putting in place a series of steps to improve the quality of our card fraud prevention and management so as to reduce card fraud back to within local industry norms.

The foregoing was discussed with Paul Thurston. These comments will be included in my report to the next HBMX Audit committee

Graham,

Thanks.

Could you summarise the main systemic weaknesses in HBMX which you believe remain outstanding. I appreciate these may already have been reported, but presumably some have been addressed. Where do we stand on the rising (I think) incidence of operating losses and credit card frauds?

Regards,

Matthew King

RE:

Wall Street Journal Article Regarding Wachovia

CONFIDENTIAL FOR INTERNAL USE BY HSBC PERSONNEL ONLY

This memorandum summarizes an article in the April 26, 2008 edition of the Wall Street Journal (WSJ) that discussed an investigation into Wachovia's casas de cambio business.

This memorandum also discusses the actions that HBUS has taken with respect to the casas de cambio mentioned in the article as well as other cambios that were not mentioned in the article.

Please note that HBUS does not hold any account for any casa de cambio mentioned in the WSJ article. The only HBUS connection to activity involving those named casas de cambio is activity that was conducted through our correspondent accounts, and most notably through our account with HSBC Bank Mexico (HBMX). ·

1. Wall Street Journal Article

Summary of Article:

- Federal prosecutors are investigating Wachovia as part of a probe of alleged laundering of drug proceeds by Mexican and Colombian money-transfer companies. Wachovia is allegedly one of "several large US banks" that have come under scrutiny for relationships with such companies. (The other "large US banks" were not named by the WSJ.) Wachovia built ties to casas de cambio in order to tap the Hispanic market. Wachovia held deposits for the foreign-exchange houses and provided back-office services to those entities. Wachovia is cooperating with investigators and, in December and January, severed relationships with Mexican foreign-exchange firms.
- Four casas de cambio were mentioned in the Journal article two that are associated with Wachovia (Casa de Cambio Puebla and Majapara Casa de Cambio) and two that were mentioned in a sidebar (Sigue Corp. and Ribadeo Casa de Cambio. Sigue was fined by the Justice Department and Ribadeo laundered fimds indirectly via Union Bank of California. The allegations involving Union Bank and Ribadeo resulted in an enforcement action against Union Bank.)

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

EXHIBIT #18a

These cambios are discussed below, along with investigations HBUS performed into these entities (both as a result of the Journal article and prior to the article) and other cambios.

2. WSJ List of Casas de Cambios:

- Casa de Cambio Puebla Per the WSJ, Puebla is a Mexican chain of cambios and is subject to a federal court action in Miami, Florida in which federal agents seized more than $11 million in 23
 Wachovia accounts belonging to this entity. Prosecutors allege the money was "being laundered".
- Activity: No accounts are held by HBUS; a former Banknotes account was closed in June 2007; funds involving this entity passed through correspondent accounts held by HBUS. (Reference comments below).
 - o On June 15, 2007, HBUS (though HBMX) of a seizure warrant issued by the Southern District of Florida at the request of the Drug Enforcement Administration seeking to freeze $11 million in 23 accounts at Wachovia. All banknote activity at HBUS was terminated in June 2007 as a result of the seizure warrant issued against Wachovia. In October 2007, at the suggestion of the OCC to perform a money service business review, HBUS commenced a review of wire activity over a 12 month period (October 2006 to September 2007) in the dollar range of $5,000 to $25,000. (This review will be referred to as the "October 2007 Review").
 - On November 8, 2007, a news article was published in the Miami Herald that alleged that drug funds were being laundered through Puebla. Upon receipt of the article, HBUS confirmed that it had no account relationship with Puebla.
 - The October 2007 Review revealed that wires involving Puebla had passed through its correspondent accounts. On November 30, 2007, HBUS reporting that approximately 650 wire transactions had cleared through the HBMX correspondent account where Puebla was either the originator or beneficiary of the wire from January 1 through October 31, 2007. On November 16, 2007, HBUS added the name "Casa de Cambio Puebla" to its Internal Watch List to ensure that no accounts could be opened for this entity. On January 23, 2008, HBUS added the name "Casa da Cambio Puebla" to its internal wire filter system. The internal wire filter causes all wire transactions that are attempted to be processed through HBUS to be scanned against the names in the "filter". The filter will stop any wire that includes a "filtered" name (in this case "Casa da Cambio Puebla"). An HBUS wire room employee would then reject the payment.
 - o HBMX, which held an account for Puebla, "froze" its account after the November news article was published. HBMX provided HBUS with a list of 91 parties presumed to be related to Puebla. Eighty-one (81) parties were HBMX customers, whose accounts were frozen by HBMX. A wire search was performed (for the period January 1 through October 31, 2007) on these 91 names that resulted in 523 potential transactions. After review, 170 wire transactions totaling $7,370,508 were found to have been conducted by 6 individuals or entities whose names exactly matched names on the list of 91.
 - entities from accounts held at Wachovia. A search revealed that none had accounts at HBUS.)
 - o In February 2008, HBUS conducted a follow-up analysis of the cambios identified by HBUS in its October 2007 Review that were deemed to require follow-up review. The February 2008 review examined wires processed between October 2007 and December 2007 in amounts ranging from $5,000 to $25,000, and it was revealed that only 3 transactions were processed through HBUS correspondent accounts.

 Sigue Corp. – A money service business that allegedly processed $24.7 million in suspicious money remittances related to drug-trafficking proceeds. It forfeited $15 million and agreed to spend $9.7 million to upgrade its anti-money laundering program as part of a deferred prosecution agreement reached with the Department of Justice.

o Activity: No account relationship is held with this entity; funds involving this entity passed through correspondent accounts held at HBUS. (Reference comments below.)

On January 12, 2008, HBUS noted a news article that reported Sigue Corp., a California money service business (MSB), was entering into a record $25 million settlement with the Justice Department for money laundering violations related to the manner in which it handled remittances to Latin America. The penalty assessed against Signe set a record for a settlement with the Justice Department by a money service business. The allegations focused on anti-money laundering deficiencies that permitted arguably suspicious transactions to occur primarily between customers in the US in the Dominican Republic and Mexico.

Based on the article, HBUS conducted a review of its accounts (which confirmed that no relationships were held with Sigue), an independent investigation into Sigue and a review of wire transfer activity.

The independent investigative search on Sigue and its founder (Guillermo de la Vina) was conducted to determine whether either were the subject of any other negative news or law enforcement activity. That investigation revealed that a Sigue employee was indicted for assisting drug traffickers to launder drug proceeds but Sigue itself was not indicted. Sigue was mentioned in another article as having allowed $295,000 to be transferred from an account at Arvest Bank to an illegal alien in Mexico. (These allegations arose out of an Immigration and Customs Enforcement action against the illegal alien's employer. Sigue, again, was not implicated.)

The wire review revealed 161 transactions for $492.5 million were sent over a 12 month period (January 1 through December 31, 2007). HBUS contacted HBMX (the beneficiary bank) for information about its customer and these wire transactions. HBMX stated that its relationship with Sigue is conducted within certain internal parameters (such as limiting Sigue to conducting transactions for individual customers to $2,000 USD pert transaction).

and December 31, 2007, sent 159 wire transfers totaling $484,499,916 to its own account at HBMX.

Sigue was not added to the wire filter as Sigue entered into a written agreement with the Department of Justice to enhance its AML program and was not (per the investigative search) the subject of any other money laundering investigations.

- 3. Enforcement Actions Mentioned in WSJ Article:
- As mentioned, the WSJ article's side-bar discussed 3 enforcement actions against financial institutions as follows:
 - Union Bank of California Alleged to have allowed a casa de cambio to launder drug funds through its accounts
 - American Express International Bank allegedly failed to report $55 million laundered through accounts owned by drug traffickers
 - Bank Atlantic Undercover agents found that drug funds were laundered through one branch.
 - HBUS originally reviewed these enforcement actions to uncover any names of drug traffickers or casas de cambio, but reviewed them again in light of the WSI article. No other names could be associated with these enforcement actions (other than Ribadeo).

EXCERPT FROM SIGUE CORPORATION DEFERRED PROSECUTION AGREEMENT JANUARY 24, 2008

FACTUAL STATEMENT

- 1. Sigue Corporation, organized under the laws of Delaware, and its affiliated operating company, Sigue, LLC, organized under the laws of Nevada, are licensed money service businesses headquartered in San Fernando, California (hereinafter jointly referred to as "Sigue"). Sigue's primary business activity is the transmission of funds from the United States to Mexico and Latin America. Sigue operates by and through a network of more than 7,500 "authorized delegates" throughout the United States. Authorized delegates are typically small "mom and pop" type businesses that have been contracted to offer Sigue's money transmission services. The authorized delegates and Sigue each earn a small fee for the transactions conducted through the authorized delegates. At the Federal level, Sigue is regulated by the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network ("FinCEN") and the Internal Revenue Service.
- 2. The U.S. Department of Justice, Criminal Division, Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section ("AFMLS"), the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration ("DEA") and the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"), have determined that from November 2003 through March 2005, Sigue violated provisions of the Bank Secrecy Act which require financial institutions to maintain anti-money laundering compliance programs. The violations at Sigue were serious and systemic, and allowed tens of millions of dollars of suspicious financial transactions to be conducted through Sigue, including transactions involving funds represented by undercover U.S. law enforcement agents to be drug proceeds.

OPERATION HIGH WIRE

- 3. From November 24, 2003 through March 30, 2005, Sigue authorized delegates knowingly accepted and transmitted more than $500,000 of money represented by undercover U.S. law enforcement officers to be proceeds of drug trafficking. The money used in the undercover operations was received by and wired through fifty-nine (59) separate Sigue authorized delegates in twenty-two (22) states.
- 4. During each operation, undercover agents posed as drug traffickers and approached Sigue authorized delegates in the United States and asked for assistance in sending money to one of seven undercover Mexican law enforcement officers located in Mexico City, Mexico. The undercover agents clearly stated to the authorized delegates that the currency they wanted to send through the delegates was proceeds of drug trafficking and was being sent as payment to the "source of supply." The undercover agents informed the authorized delegates that they did not want law enforcement to learn of the transactions, and that they preferred not to provide any form of identification or address information. When Sigue authorized delegates requested some form of identification from the undercover agents, the agents produced multiple forms of identification cards, all in different names and bearing obviously different likenesses. The following is a summary of one of the operations, which closely mirrors each of the successful operations:

On January 10, 2005, a DEA Special Agent, acting in an undercover capacity using an assumed identity, entered the targeted Sigue authorized delegate's store and approached a male clerk behind the counter. The Special Agent asked the clerk how much money he could send to the Federal District in Mexico without showing identification. The clerk responded that he thought the Special Agent could send $700 without identification, but he was not sure. The clerk suggested that the Special Agent use the phone to call Sigue corporate headquarters. The Special Agent told the clerk that he did not want the police or government to find out about the transaction because he had made the money selling marijuana. The clerk told the Special Agent not to worry about it. The Special Agent asked if he could give any name when he conducted the transaction. The clerk told him that it only mattered that the person receiving the money knew which name the Special Agent used when he sent the money so that the receiver could pick up the money. The Special Agent asked if the store would tell the government; the clerk again told the Special Agent not to worry about it. The Special Agent conducted the transaction for $900 and then asked the clerk if he could send $10,000 by dividing it into smaller amounts. The clerk told the Special Agent that he could do so at that location, but that he might need to show identification at other locations. The Special Agent asked the clerk if he could send multiple transfers of under $1,000 in one day. The clerk suggested that if the Special Agent used different names, he could send all the money in one day. The Special Agent told the clerk that he might be back, and the Special Agent left the store.

Two days later, the Special Agent returned to the store and told the same clerk that he wanted to send $11,000. The Special Agent asked the clerk if he should do it by sending various transfers of $950 using different names. The clerk agreed and stated that he didn't believe the other clerk in the store would mind. The Special Agent began conducting the transactions for $950 each. After the second transaction, the clerk expressed concern that if the Special Agent was going to keep sending money from one location to the same person in Mexico that the transactions would be questioned. The clerk said he did not want to get in trouble for what he thought might be money laundering. He suggested that the Special Agent send the money to different people using different names.

The Special Agent conducted another transaction for $950. The clerk told the Special Agent that so long as the Sigue corporate operator was allowing the Special Agent to conduct the transactions, the Special Agent could continue to send money. The Special Agent again expressed concern that the clerk might contact the police, but the clerk assured him that he would not. The Special Agent mentioned again that he was in the marijuana business and that he did not want the government to find out. The clerk agreed. The Special Agent conducted five more transactions, sending $950 each to different receivers in Mexico using different sender names. The clerk signed off on all the transactions and faxed the receipts to Sigue corporate headquarters. During the last transaction, the clerk informed the Special Agent that it would have to be the last transaction because further transactions would cause problems. After that transaction, the Special Agent left the store.

- 5. In total, undercover agents conducted 84 successful transactions at 59 different locations (24 Sigue authorized delegates properly refused to conduct such transactions). At 47 locations, the undercover agents, with the assistance of the authorized delegates, structured the cash transactions by splitting large cash amounts over $10,000 into several smaller amounts to avoid triggering currency transaction reporting thresholds at the Sigue corporate level. In some instances, the undercover agents asked Sigue operators how much money could be sent without providing identification and the undercover agents stated that they did not have certain identifying information such as an address or telephone number. Each of the undercover transactions were recorded and/or videotaped by surveillance.
- 6. None of the authorized delegates reported the transactions to law enforcement, as required by the Bank Secrecy Act. At the corporate level, Sigue identified and reported the structured transactions that the agents conducted, but failed to detect and report the broader money laundering scheme and take action to prevent the activity from recurring.

MONEY LAUNDERING VIOLATIONS BY SIGUE AND ITS AUTHORIZED DELEGATES

7. The 59 Sigue authorized delegates who knowingly accepted and transmitted the money represented by the undercover law enforcement agents to be drug proceeds could be held individually liable for violations of the money laundering laws of the United States. Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(a)(3) provides severe penalties (up to 20 years incarceration and a $500,000 fine, or twice the value of the property involved in the transaction, whichever is greater) for whoever, conducts or attempts to conduct a financial transaction involving property represented to be the proceeds of specified unlawful activity (which includes proceeds of drug trafficking), with the intent to (i) promote the carrying on of a specified unlawful activity; (ii) to conceal or disguise the nature, location, source, ownership, or control of property believed to be the proceeds of specified unlawful activity; or (iii) to avoid a transaction reporting requirement under State or Federal law.

8. In addition to the authorized delegates, the government maintains that Sigue could also be held criminally liable for the illegal acts of their authorized delegates. A corporation is deemed to act through its officers, employees and agents, and their conduct will be imputed to the corporation so long as the officers, employees and agents were acting within the scope of their authority and their conduct is beneficial to the corporation. A corporation can be criminally liable for the conduct of any employee regardless of the employee's status or position within the corporation; even the lowest ranking employee may bind the corporation by his acts if they are committed within the scope of employment. Although a corporation is a legal entity and cannot be incarcerated, a financial institution convicted of money laundering violations would incur severe financial penalties and could ultimately lose its licenses to function as a financial institution.

ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING COMPLIANCE REQUIREMENTS FOR MSBS

9. Congress enacted the Bank Secrecy Act ("BSA"), 31 U.S.C. § 5311 et seq., and its implementing regulations to address an increase in criminal money laundering activities utilizing financial institutions. Among other provisions, the BSA requires financial institutions to maintain programs designed to detect and report suspicious activity that might be indicative of money laundering, terrorist financing and other financial crimes, and to maintain certain records and file reports related thereto that are especially useful in criminal, tax or regulatory investigations or proceedings. Fundamental laws establishing anti-money laundering obligations of financial institutions in the United States include the BSA; the Money Laundering Control Act of 1986 (codified in relevant part at 18 U.S.C. §§ 1956 and 1957); and the USA PATRIOT Act of 2001, which significantly amended both laws and extended an anti-money laundering program requirement beyond federally insured deposit institutions to all types of financial institutions.

- 10. Pursuant to Title 31, United States Code, Section 5318(h)(1) and 12 C.F.R. § 563.177(c), financial institutions are required to establish and maintain an anti-money laundering ("AML") compliance program that, at a minimum: (a) provides internal policies, procedures, and controls designed to guard against money laundering; (b) provides for an individual or individuals to coordinate and monitor day-to-day compliance with the BSA and AML requirements; (c) provides for an ongoing employee training program; and (d) provides for independent testing for compliance.
- 11. Pursuant to 31 C.F.R. § 103.125(a), money service businesses (MSBs) are required to develop, implement, and maintain an effective anti-money laundering program reasonably designed to prevent the business from being used to facilitate money laundering. The program must be commensurate with the risks posed by the location, size, nature, and volume of the financial services provided by the MSB. Additionally, the program must incorporate policies, procedures, and controls reasonably designed to assure compliance with the BSA and implementing regulations. With respect to MSBs that utilize foreign agents or counter parties, the anti-money laundering program must include risk-based policies, procedures, and controls designed to identify and minimize money laundering risks associated with foreign agents and counter parties that facilitate the flow of funds into and out of the United States. The program must be aimed at preventing the products and services of the business from being used to facilitate money laundering through these relationships and detecting the use of these products and services for money laundering or terrorist financing by the business or its agents.
- 12. The BSA specifically requires financial institutions to file with the Department of Treasury and, in some cases, appropriate Federal law enforcement agencies, a Suspicious Activity Report ("SAR"), in accordance with the form's instructions, when the type of activity described above is detected. See, 31 U.S.C. § 5318(g), 31 C.F.R. § 103.20. According to the form's instructions, Sigue was required to file a SAR with FinCEN, reporting any transaction conducted or attempted by, at, or through the money transmitter, if it involved or aggregated at least $2,000 in funds, and Sigue knew, suspected, or had reason to suspect that:
 - (i) The transaction involved funds derived from illegal activities or was intended or conducted in order to hide or disguise funds or assets derived from illegal activities (including, without limitation, the ownership, nature, source, location, or control of such funds or assets) as part of a plan to violate or evade any federal law or regulation or to avoid any transaction reporting requirement under federal law or regulation.

- (ii) The transaction was designed to evade any requirements promulgated under the Bank Secrecy Act.
- (iii) The transaction has no business or apparent lawful purpose, and the money service business knows of no reasonable explanation for the transaction after examining the available facts, including the background and possible purpose of the transaction.

AML / BSA COMPLIANCE VIOLATIONS BY SIGUE AND ITS AUTHORIZED DELEGATES

- 13. Sigue filed SAR's on the obviously structured undercover transactions, an indication that its AML systems are functional in at least one key aspect. At the same time, it failed to adequately investigate the structuring activity further and consequently failed to identify, report and prevent the broader pattern of money laundering and to file supplemental SARs. Sigue took no action to block such transactions from continuing to occur (the undercover operation lasted more than 1 year).
- 14. The investigation into this matter has determined that the primary cause of Sigue's failure to identify, report and prevent the money laundering activity is that, during the time period of November 2003 through March 2005, Sigue's AML program contained serious and systemic deficiencies in critical areas, including:
 - (i) Inadequate supervision and control of authorized delegates;
 - (ii) Failure to effectively monitor and investigate high-risk transactions;
 - (iii) Failure to establish an effective risk-based AML program;
 - (iv) Failure to exercise sufficient enhanced due diligence for high-risk transactions and customers;¹

For purposes of this Agreement and Factual Statement, the term "customer" includes any individual who conducts one or more transactions through the MSB as a sender or beneficiary, notwithstanding the lack of an ongoing relationship between the person and the MSB.

- (v) Failure to have an effective, on-going training program for authorized delegates;
- (vi) Failure to take appropriate action on customers and transactions deemed suspicious; and
- (vii) Failure to establish an effective independent review process to test the effectiveness of the AML program.

Some of the key AML and BSA deficiencies of law enforcement concerns were as follows:

Inadequate Supervision and Control of Authorized Delegates

- Sigue assigns each authorized delegate a risk level, either low, medium, or high, depending on their operating location. High-risk areas generally corresponded with each of the areas designated by law enforcement as High Intensity Financial Crimes Areas (HIFCAs). Based on this classification system, Sigue theoretically would subject the transactions from the high-risk authorized delegates to an enhanced level of scrutiny to determine whether they are suspicious, and would file SARs as appropriate. This investigation found no evidence that Sigue implemented an effective risk-based supervision program for high-risk agents during the time period under review.
- 16. Sigue conducted only limited independent testing of authorized delegates and was consequently unable to identify widespread and systemic deficiencies in its monitoring and training programs. Between February 24, 2004 and February 26, 2004, Sigue contracted with a private firm to conduct compliance checks, but only at nine separate Sigue authorized delegate locations in California. Even with these, the contract investigator identified himself to the authorized delegate as an investigator acting on behalf of Sigue and asked each individual authorized delegate the same seven questions, as follows:
 - a. What information are you supposed to collect from a customer who sends a $4,000 wire?

- b. What would you do if a customer comes in four times a day and sends $2,500 each time?
- c. What would you do if a customer comes in with someone else and you see them splitting up the money so that each of them sends a wire to the same beneficiary?
- d. What would you do if a customer who you thought had a low income sends about $5,000?
- e. What do you think the risks are if you, the agent, were aware that a customer had money from drug sales and that the same customer was sending the money through you at the agent location?
- f. Do you think you have enough training in anti-money laundering?
- g. What would you do if a customer placed several wires on the same day under $3,000?
- answered almost all of the questions correctly. Consistently, during the undercover operations, Sigue authorized delegates demonstrated a keen knowledge, not only of Sigue's policies and procedures, but also the money laundering laws of both the United States and Mexico. Yet, law enforcement conducted an historical analysis of the transactions accomplished at those authorized delegate locations and identified widespread and pervasive violations of Sigue's policies and procedures, particularly structuring activities that continued for months, sometimes years. In most of those cases, Sigue filed SARs on the transactions to report the structuring activity, but did not subject those transactions, customers, or authorized delegates to a sufficiently enhanced level of review.
- 18. Late in 2003, Sigue also began requiring authorized delegates to sign a document, dated November 19, 2003, entitled "Anti-Money Laundering Program," acknowledging receipt of the "Anti-Money Laundering Guide for Money Transmittal Agents of Sigue Corporation."

 The letter explained that it is was the responsibility of the authorized delegate to appropriately train each of its employees involved with the money transmittal business on Anti-Money Laundering laws and compliance efforts. This form was printed in both English and Spanish on the same document. In practice, the undercover agents routinely found copies of the money laundering guidelines, but in an unused condition, frequently still in the original packaging and unopened. Although Sigue had a training program for its authorized delegates, many of the authorized delegates or their employees subsequently interviewed said that they had received no training or materials on anti-money laundering.

Transaction Monitoring Deficiencies

- 19. At the corporate level, Sigue began implementing in 2001 and 2002 a proprietary automated transaction monitoring program that screened financial transactions for numerous categories of suspicious activities based on pre-identified "red flags." The monitoring system dramatically improved the company's ability to identify suspicious transactions and to file SARs with FinCEN.² The ultimate failure of the company was less in the design of the monitoring system, but more on the company's failure to adequately investigate flagged transactions further and its failure to take further action against the suspicious activities identified (such as notifying law enforcement directly or banning individuals from sending or receiving money from Sigue).
- 20. The company's reporting on suspicious transactions that it failed to adequately investigate is evidenced by its filing of SARs on almost all of the undercover transactions to report the obvious structuring, while failing to identify and report the broader money laundering activity. To determine whether the company's failure to identify and report the undercover money laundering activity was an isolated example or whether it was the result of systemic weaknesses within the corporation, investigators analyzed more than $6.07 billion of transactions to determine whether similar cash structuring was prevalent. The result was the identification of more than $47 million of structured transactions (including the undercover sting transactions) that Signe identified and reported in SARs, but failed to take action to prevent from recurring.
- 21. To identify the most serious structuring examples, investigators sorted the transactions to select only those cases where one person sent or received more than $50,000 in a ² In 2001, Sigue filed only 52 SARs, but in 2002 it filed 1,072, and in 2003 it filed 1,663.

12-month time period through more than one transaction. Sigue claims that more than 90 percent of its transactions are from customers who send approximately $300 twice a month to friends and family members in Mexico ($7,200 annually). Accordingly, investigators reasoned that any person sending or receiving more than $50,000 during a 12-month period would fall outside of the norms associated with Sigue's unique customer base and would be relatively easy for Sigue to detect, identify, report and prevent.

22. The result was the identification of 238 case examples of serious structuring schemes, cumulatively valued at $25.4 million. The least significant of these examples is an individual who transferred, in a 12-month period, $50,640 through 46 transactions, each transaction averaging $1,100. One of the most blatant examples is an individual who transferred, in a 12-month period, $324,091 to 15 different individuals in Mexico, through 370 transactions, each averaging $875, using only two authorized delegate locations. Another individual transferred $224,232 in 80 separate transactions on a 10-month period, with each transaction just under Sigue's reporting threshold of $3,000. Within these case examples, there were occasional instances of structuring, which Sigue adequately reported, but Sigue failed to identify and report the broader money laundering schemes undertaken by these individuals.

Failure to Establish a Risk-Based AML Program

- 23. Sigue's primary business activity and operating location presents a high-risk of money laundering. Yet no financial institution of substantial size can possibly monitor every single transaction and customer, particularly, in Sigue's case, where the transactions and customers originate from authorized delegates who are far removed from Sigue's corporate operations. To remedy this, MSBs should conduct a formal and detailed risk assessment of each of its products, transactions, services, geographic locations, etc., and then concentrate their AML and BSA resources to specifically monitor and control those areas identified as the highest risk.
- 24. Sigue conducted a limited risk assessment of its operations and products, but it failed to implement an effective AML program designed to subject its highest risk areas to enhanced monitoring, supervision and control at three critical risk areas: the authorized delegates, the transactions, and the customers.

- 25. At the authorized delegate level, Sigue identified some authorized delegates as "high risk," yet very little was done to subject those high-risk delegates to any more monitoring, supervision or training than those authorized delegates classified as "low risk." Sigue failed to establish expected transaction parameters and limits for each authorized delegate, and failed to implement a program to subject high-risk delegates to enhanced monitoring for suspicious activity.
- At the transaction level, Sigue implemented an automated monitoring system that was somewhat effective in identifying "red flags" of suspicious activity. This proprietary monitoring system was most effective in identifying instances of currency structuring. Yet Sigue's process did not include sufficient substantive review of the underlying activity. Sigue conducted some review of transactions associated with the same sender, but no review of transactions for the benefit of a single beneficiary. This failure was exacerbated by Sigue's failure to sufficiently review transactions from related senders or beneficiaries. Consequently, Sigue failed to identify and prohibit the transactions, authorized delegates, and "customers" involved in the undercover operation, which used dozens of different people spread across 22 different states to send structured drug money to a group of seven individuals in Mexico City. Had Sigue implemented a more robust investigative procedure, Sigue could have detected the undercover activity and taken action to report and prevent it.
- 27. At the customer level, Sigue failed to establish an effective risk-based Know Your Customer (KYC) program. Of course, as an MSB, Sigue operates substantially differently from traditional financial institutions, such as banks. Sigue does not require customers to open "accounts;" there is no application required to use Sigue services; and Sigue does not collect source of wealth information, verify employment, etc. Yet, to avoid potential violations of the money laundering laws of the United States, and the misuse of MSBs by money launderers, Sigue needs to implement enhanced due diligence procedures to collect appropriate information, at least from its highest risk customers and operating locations, so that it may reasonably identify, prevent, and report money laundering activities, as required by the BSA.
- 28. The traditional Sigue customer sends less than $400 to Mexico several times a month. For these customers, there is very little KYC information that Sigue is required to collect, under the BSA or the money laundering laws. Yet Sigue, as with all financial institutions, is required to have a SAR program. It is virtually impossible to have an effective SAR program unless the institution also has a KYC program. For MSBs the extent of the KYC information collected should necessarily, and as a practical matter, be risk-based. Sigue should be expected to have very little KYC information for a customer who uses its services to send $400 twice a month to Mexico. However, Sigue and other MSBs should have enhanced due diligence procedures that require them to obtain additional information on customers who do a higher volume of recurrent transactions in significant sums, such as a customer who sends or receives more than $25,000 during any 12 month period. Since these latter customers comprise a small percentage of Sigue's overall customer base (less than 3 percent), Sigue's KYC burden is not overwhelming or unreasonable for these customers. The BSA is intended in almost all respects to help financial institutions comply with the money laundering laws. In order to avoid misuse by money launderers, MSBs may need to implement enhanced AML policies and procedures to fully comply with the money laundering laws and the BSA.

SIGUE'S REMEDIAL ACTIONS AND COOPERATION

- 29. Even before learning of this investigation, Sigue had devoted considerable resources to correct and improve the identified BSA and AML deficiencies, agreed to terminate the licenses of the culpable authorized delegates, and implemented procedures to identify, report, and ultimately, block a broader range of suspicious transactions and customers, including the types of transactions identified during the law enforcement operation. As part of that effort, Sigue has:
 - made significant investments in developing and implementing its current compliance program and internal controls;
 - retained a knowledgeable and experienced staff, with extensive experience in the MSB industry, to oversee its compliance program;
 - increased the total number of compliance personnel on staff to ensure adequate personnel are designated for executing the tactical objectives of the compliance program;

- purchased, developed and implemented advanced anti-money laundering systems and software to detect the misuse of Sigue's financial services;
- instituted an authorized delegate risk management department which is responsible for evaluating authorized delegates prior to contract approval;
- implemented policies requiring all authorized delegates to have undergone Bank Secrecy Act training, and developed authorized delegate-specific Bank Secrecy Act/Anti-Money Laundering Compliance Programs required for each prior to activation;
- deployed a significant team of compliance field personnel responsible for auditing authorized delegates' compliance with their Bank Secrecy Act/Anti-Money Laundering Compliance Programs and recommending disciplinary action, up to and including termination, for non-compliant authorized delegate;
- implemented a comprehensive, enterprise-wide employee training program in which all employees receive Bank Secrecy Act/Anti-Money Laundering training at least twice annually;
- retained a competent risk management consulting firm to perform an annual, independent review of the integrity and effectiveness of Sigue's compliance program and related internal controls.

SIGUE'S CONTINUING REMEDIAL EFFORTS

30. Sigue has cooperated and continues to cooperate with law enforcement and its regulators. Through organizational and program changes, Sigue has shown a commitment to compliance improvements and a dedication to effectively complying with its BSA and AML responsibilities. As part of its continuing efforts to implement an enhanced BSA and AML compliance program, Sigue has committed to the following remedial measures as part of the Deferred Prosecution Agreement:

A. Integrity of Compliance Program and Board Oversight

Sigue will continue to employ a specific individual within its high-level personnel as the Global Compliance Officer who is assigned overall responsibility for the BSA/AML compliance programs. The Global Compliance Officer will be qualified in AML compliance programs, will be delegated day-to-day operational responsibility for compliance, and will report directly to the Audit and Finance Committee of Sigue's Board of Directors. The Global Compliance Officer will be given adequate resources, authority, and direct access to the Board of Directors, and will report on an annual basis to the Board of Directors regarding the integrity and effectiveness of the compliance program.

B. Authorized Delegate Due Diligence

The Authorized Delegate approval process will be assigned to a department which engages in risk management and is independent from the sales and marketing function. Credit and criminal background checks will be run on all owners of Authorized Delegate applicants who own or control at least ten percent (10%) of the Authorized Delegate. Authorized Delegates will also be subject to periodic credit and criminal checks, under appropriate circumstances.

C. Monitoring

Sigue will implement and maintain a transaction monitoring system for the purpose of performing risk-based trend analysis related to sender, beneficiary, originating Authorized Delegate, and paying location transactional activity. The monitoring system will be effected in part through an enhanced identification requirement for senders whose transactions aggregate to $2,000 or more in one day. Sigue will obtain sender's full name and address when sending any transfer (if the sender does not have an address, "none" or a code will be inserted in the appropriate fields) and will conduct an enhanced due diligence review of senders and beneficiaries, and all related persons, transmitting or receiving aggregate amounts more than $25,000 during any 12-month period. Sigue will obtain beneficiary identification information for beneficiaries who receive remittances through Sigue's Mexico-based Authorized Delegates in amounts of $950 or more in a single day and aggregate amounts greater than $2,950 over a rolling five (5) day period.

D. Blocking

Sigue will implement a transaction interdiction system for the purpose of enhancing the functionality of blocking remitters and beneficiaries of money transmittals, as appropriate, including the implementation of enhanced due diligence review procedures to determine whether senders and beneficiaries should be blocked from conducting further transactions where Sigue has filed two or more Suspicious Activity Reports ("SARs") on the senders and/or beneficiaries, or related senders and/or beneficiaries, during any twelve-month period.

E. OFAC

Sigue will implement an OFAC interdiction system that provides for real-time screening of remitters and beneficiaries of money transmittals. Sigue will also periodically screen employees and Authorized Delegates against the OFAC lists.

F. Authorized Delegate Training and BSA/AML Compliance Program Reviews

Sigue will provide BSA/AML training to all new Authorized Delegates before they are activated, and thereafter risk-based BSA/AML training. Sigue will also implement a risk-based Authorized Delegate compliance review program, using dedicated compliance resources.

Entity HSBC Holdings plc - HGHQ

David,

I will discuss the subject below with Warren and John in our Conference Call tomorrow. I would like to let you that the procedure and functions of the money laundering committee (CCC) have been improved in a very important way.

The 2 cases reported at the weekly compliance report is a clear example of the escalation process implemented as one of the learning experiences after and other cases.

I understand that the appreciation from GHQ is that the CCC has to resolve and rule about all the cases presented to the attention of the committee but the real situation is that sometimes there are some cases that need to be escalated to the Business Head and CEO for further discussion.

As I told you when you where in Mexico, CCC is a very unique body created by Mexican regulation in order, among other things, to dilute responsibility of MLD obligations between members, giving a very important weight to business opinions because in theory they are the ones that really know the customer. For that specific situation escalation is a key element when MLD has a different opinion that the one from the business about reporting the case to authorities.

I will explain Warren and John tomorrow the different actions plans I am reviewing with John Rendall including the one originated after your visit in order to have better procedures at the MLD function including the CCC.

Ramon

Subje Fw: Weekly Compliance Report 02JUL-06JUL07

Ramon,

A number of items jump out from your most recent weekly report (02JUL-06JUL) but everything pales in comparison with the ML items on page 4. It looks like the business is still retaining unacceptable risks and the AML committee is going along after some initial hemming and hawing. I am quite concerned that the committee is not functioning properly. Alarmed, even. I am close to picking up the phone to your CEO.

looks like another type of situation — what on earth is an "assumption responsibility letter" and how would it protect the bank if the client is a money launderer? Please note that you can dress up the USD10 million to be paid by one of partners to the US authorities as an "economic penalty" if you wish but a fine is a fine is a fine, and a hefty one at that. What is this, the School of Low Expectations Banking? ("We didn't go to jail! We merely signed a settlement with the Feds for $ 10 million!") I just loved the last sentence of the paragraph: "This information is expected to be spread by mass media." Isn't that just great?

So, strike one. strike two. Let's now look at strike three. (I hope you like baseball.)

The same person who is giving the sacrosanct "assumption responsibility letter" for (Jose Manuel Dominguez, DGA-CMB) is being asked by the CEO to explain why he retained the relationship after USD11 million was seized by the authorities in Wachovia in Miami. What?! The business was okay with this?

The AML committee just can't keep rubber-stamping unacceptable risks merely because someone on the business side writes a nice letter. It needs to take a firmer stand. It needs some cojones. We have seen this movie before, and it ends badly.

John Root

1 4	John,
1 14	On the evidence of the papers that you have provided to me, I agree that the quality of the information provided by CMB does not give any comfort that they have rigorously reviewed this case - they seem on managing out the credit risk, but without considering the reputational risks.
. (On this basis, I support in principle the recommendation to close the account.
il y	However, it has to be noted that it would be a sensitive message to send, to say that we are not brepared to deal with a company that is regulated by CNBV, as this could be embarrassing for them if the became public, which is always possible. I think we should therefore have a private conversation with CNBV in the first instance, to advise them of our intent and the potential reputational risks for them, and seek their "no objection" to our action.
P	fease can you arrange for this to be done, and then revert to me.

They have fold me that their presentation pack is for my eyes only, and not to be shared with others in the bank, probably recognising that CNBV do not want to be seen to be getting actively involved in issues that touch upon the people in the bank. They will issue a normal management letter in due course, without including some of the more sensitive areas, but they wanted to bring these to my personal attention to let me know of their concerns. I indicated to them we were aware of these issues and were progressively mobiling them. I advised them of the new appointments of an experienced Head of consumer risk with experience in Asia, who arrived a couple of weeks ago, and anew Head of card Fraud from GMO who arrived yesterday, the bely we had sought from Ken Harvey to review the robustuess of the IT operations and the planned internal audit of IT in November, and the major programme of customer file centralising and imaging which would give us more robust KYC data for anti-money laundaring. talked about dischanges we are making to split Regional from Mexico responsibilities in areas such as CIBM, IT, Risk and Audit, but they advised that their specific concern here was with PFS, and I indicated that they could also expect changes in this area in the near future. I said thatwe were embarked on changing the business models of the bank, and bringing in specialist expertise, but that culture change would not happen over night. However, I believed that the infusion of new management, combined with changes we were planning to incentive schemes to put more emphasis on customer satisfation and business quality would help push the bank in the new direction. I commented that we have a young staff, and while they lacked experience, I was confident that if we were clear in our business direction to them, and gave them appropriate training, and measures, we could make real progress. I told them that I welcomed their coming to see me, and that we would respond positively to the management lefter. when it arrives, and that I would also meet up with them again to update them on progress with the issues not covered in the management letter. They indicated that this was what they wanted to hear and that they would report back positively to Guilermo Babatz, the Head of the CNBV. I took the opportunity to remind them of the issues that I had taised with them and Babatz two months ago on the PTU (profit sharing tax), where Bancomer and Banamex had been allowed to take action to avoid payment, and they acknowledged that wewould also have to take action if we were to remain competitive, andthey indicated that while they didn't like it, they would not object provided that our solution was within the existing laws and regulations. I will follow up on all of these points, but thought that you should be aware.

Warren,

I believe you are visiting Mexico shortly.

One of my action points from the Conference is to follow up with Ramon GPP 25 application in Mexico (and eisewhere within Ramon's area of responsibility). As you will no doubt recall GPP25 is know perhaps more fondly across the Group as "Two strikes (NOT 2 5ii) and out". At the conference Ramon mentioned that there are numerous cases of accounts with multiple SARs (16 in one case!!) in Mexico that remain open, I would be grateful if you could follow up on this during your visit. Happy to discuss.

Thanks

Regards Susan

Warren.

I am keeping a running list of issues that you might want to raise during your December visit to HBMX. If you or David would like to add to the list, please let me know.

The list below is only partial, and I am constantly adding to it. There is of course overlap with David's visit recommendations Worse annual "31-point" Central Bank (Banxico) inspection of HBMI than last year's, Why have Treasury operations deteriorated?

Resourcing, especially Regional head vs. Mexico head; CIBM; and MLRO)

Sinaloa massive money-laundering scheme (+ USD 100 million)

Regional integration, e.g. Honduras, Panama reluctant to accept CMP requests from Mexico, monitoring, etc.

Clean-up of HBMX Trusts backlog

CIBM HBUS Venezuelan business through Panama

Banistmo business in regulatory and tax havens

Relations with Legal, Audit, senior management, regulators (Mexico and Central America)

AML systems integration (Mexico and Central America)

Nature of Business

The areas involved in the process (business lines) are responsible for applying MLD processes defined and Issued by Local MLD Department on: KYC (Know your Customer). files integration, proper input of customers' information in the system, validation of alerts sent by the DPLD and effective response thereto.

Due to the foregoing, this review was oriented to review DPLD operations, yet it covered a number of areas involved in the detection of ML activities and compliance with governing laws and regulations.

Conclusion of Audit

Main control weaknesses identified during the audit were as follows:

KYE

- Regulatory breaches in KYC issues such as the large number of incomplete client files and the inadequate process of SCC identification and monitoring across the network.
- HBMI has been given an extension by the Regulator from May 07 to May 08 to ensure that a portion of the client files (known as the UBA project-about 1,8m customers) are completed. Due to our concerns with the reliability of the system used to measure this process is unclear on exactly where the bank is in relation to being able to meet this deadline.
- As at May 07 HBMI had advised the Regulator we were at 86% whereas all audit samples both in this audit and the regular branch audits conducted over the year give a much lower percentage. The latter number is hard to extrapolate from a sample basis but is as low as 46% of file integration, meaning the job in hard to reach 100% in 6 months is very challenging.
- The UBA number excludes the almost 6 million other clients the Group has in Mexico which are subject to HSBC 's own MLD policies, where sampling also gives a similar low number of complete files. As this problem had been identified some months ago the COO was appointed to oversee and coordinate a task force to manage this matter, further details appear in the report.

Delays in reporting

 Delays in reporting unusual transactions to the Regulator due to increased number of cases to be sanction by the AML Committee and slow decision-making in the process.

Systems and Tools

- Lack of sufficient understanding of the 1T processes and tools necessary to enhance MLD activities and capacity as evidenced by the lack of a reliable system to track eliem files integration, inadequate ability to screen black lists and inadequate maniforing SCC/PEP's etc.

Training

We also noted the need to re-assess the overall approach to MLD training as a result of failures regularly identified in branch audits, and the need to upgrade several of the iT systems in use to ensure better control over both Regulatory and Group policies and procedures.

To ensure that there is one overall integral approach to resolve the issues, in view of the number and in many cases seriousness of the weaknesses identified, we would recommend the creation of an Oversight body, possibly a HBMX Money Laundering Committee, to implement both a short and longer term plan to ensure that the issues raised in this report can be fully addressed. This body will need to have sufficient empowerment and proactivity to drive through some of the measures needed to comply with both local and Group policies and procedures, especially in the time periods involved.

Response from Management

The first response to the audit is due on 171AN08

OFAC - Wire payments blocked from HSBC offshore entities - USD 32,000 (re SDGT) and USD 2,538,939.33 (re Sudan)

This email is to inform you of the following two payments, initiated by HSBC offices, and blocked due to OFAC sanctions. The first was blocked under terrorist sanctions. The second was blocked due to involvement of a Sudanese SDN.

Value date 9-Nov-2006
Debit: 000054356, HBME Ramallah Br., Ramallah Palestine
Credit: JP Morgan Chase, Tampa, FL
3rd party: Arab Jordan Investment Bank S.A., Amman, Jordan
ORG: HBME, Ramallah, Palestinian Territory, Occupied
BBI: Acc/For further credit to Palestine Investment Bank Head Office Ramallah branch account 6171 for further credit to Al Aqsa Islamic Bank
USD 32,000.00

Note that Al Aqsa Islamic Bank was designated by OFAC on 4-Dec-2001 as a "specially designated global terrorist". The press release from Treasury stated that it is a "direct arm of Hamas, established and used to do Hamas business." Below are links to the press releases.

Subject: CNBV Importance: Normal

This was the note I was thinking of sending to Mike - a bit of a brain dump and not fully up-to-date or polished but I thought I would send it to you as is because it might help focus the call we are due to have later.

"Mike.

My perspective on these issues from my discussions with Paul Thurston, Graham Thomson and Chris Bentley is as follows:

The issues raised by CNBV appear to be pretty similar to those raised previously with Paul. However, whereas the CNBV previously seemed broadly happy with our remedial action plans, they have suddenly become more aggressive, Whether this is because of political pressure, the FIU suddenly raising significant concerns (which perhaps the CNBV thinks reflects poorly on them), it is difficult to say. One theory about the FIU is that they are reacting to our refusal to reimburse a public utility (which also ultimately reports into the Ministry of Finance) for a large internal fraud, effected through our Internet services.

Dut the CNBV has raised concerns about our security arrangements and the matter has now been mentioned to us by the FIU. Whatever the truth of this, it is also the case that about dealing with them. Hence any AML weaknesses may well be treated similarly. The 'evidence' obtained from the FIU does not seem very earth-shattering. There is nothing I have heard which could not equally be put down to carelessness or common mistake (I am not excusing this you understand). However, the necessary investigation work is still underway.

There are areas of known weakness which management have been addressing but where we now need to revisit the current strategy:

Moneylaundering - This area was rated as Below Standard on a Q407 audit and work has been underway since then to address the weaknesses. The Chief Moneylaundering Officer is being replaced, albeit the FIU apparently regard him as trustworthy - management are well-aware that his departure will therefore have to be carefully explained. Various processes are being enhanced. David Bagley is proposing to send in Warren Leeming as a temporary measure to ensure these are now treated as matters of utmost

KYC - My area of biggest immediate concern - this has been a systemic issue for some time. Enhanced regulations were enacted a few years ago and implementation of these has proved problematic for HBMX. One particular problem has been the requirement to undertake visit reports for every new customer at their home/business address. Perhaps because of the extended HBMX branch opening hours this has proved particularly difficult for the branches to achieve. It also inhibits centralisation of the account opening process which has been one of the key solutions to similar problems elsewhere. We (audit) and the CNBV have both identified a very high rate of exceptions (around 50%) to the process, though this level is disputed by the business. A pilot scheme has been running since Q307 to use imaging (and hence assist centralisation). However, I now gather Audit is continuing to identify a high level of exceptions for that process also (around 30%).

Given the concerns now raised by the CNBV and FIU (which apparently includes tapes of a drug ford recommending HBMX as the place to bank) we now have to decide:

whether the imaging process can be made to work to everyone' satisfaction.

how quickly it can be rolled our across the whole network.

in the meantime, whether we can continue to open accounts using the old, flawed process. It sounds unlikely that we will be able to meet a deadline of MAY08 to obtain satisfactory KYC on the 1.8 million customers identified as high risk. I am now not clear whether the CNBV will accept a further delay the previous indications were that they were pretty relaxed.

Documentation - This has been a problem since we brought Bital. I am aware the old storage depots have been replaced, but I am advised the processes are still a mess. Sorting this out needs to be handled as a specific project. It may be worth asking Ian Macalister to run this. He is an IM currently with CMB in NY who previously had reponsibility for sorting out a documentation problem in the trust business in Mexico.

Reporting to the FIU - We apparently route responses through a law firm. It is not clear why or indeed whether this is sinister or just inefficient. However, it does seem that incorrect evidence has been provided via this law firm. There is a very high volume of informational requests but we need to ensure these are handled with due care.

Management Stretch- the CNBV has again raised the appropriateness of allocating regional responsibilities to HBMX management. It may be that you are already close to sorting this out.

Cross-border cash: the trends in this activity still need to be clarified by HBMX but as I read the report the US authorities have a general concern rather than a specific one about us, and CMP last year Identified and acted on a cambio which has just been closed down by the authorities. We can therefore show some successes.

I hope this is helpful background (though a bit long). If you wish to discuss please call me on my mobile I will be in France for the weekend but please feel free to phone at anytime. I have not copied HBMX though the points raised have all been discussed with Paul, Graham and Chris.

Money laundering 'sting' led to MSB's record penalty, says legal pact

Jan 29 2008 Brett Wolf

California-based money transmitter Sigue Corporation has agreed to forfeit $15m and spend $9.7m on antimoney laundering compliance this year to settle US Department of Justice charges that it operated with a deficient AML program. Sigue's wees stem from the fact that dozens of its agents were snared by a federal sting operation dubbed "Operation High Wire," according to the defended prosecution agreement, or DPA, released on Monday and obtained by Complinet.

This record-setting Bank Secrecy Act penalty — the largest ever suffered by a money services business — was well earned, according to the DPA. Still, the agreement states that the government will recommend the dismissal of the charge against Sigue in 12 months if the firm takes the agreed remedial action and does not violate the terms of the DPA.

"The violations at Sigue were serious and systemic, and allowed tens of millions of dollars of suspicious financial transactions to be conducted through Sigue, including transactions involving funds represented by undercover US taw enforcement agents to be drug proceeds," according to the DPA, which Complinet heralded in an earlier article.

The DPA alleges that Sigue, an international money remittance company that specializes in transfers to Mexico, violated the Bank Secrecy Act, Title 31 USC Section 5318(h) 1 and 5322(a). According to the DPA's statement of facts, these BSA violations occurred hetween November 2003 and March 2005 and involved Sigue money transmitting agents, most of which were "morn and pop" shops:

"Sigue authorized delegates knowingly accepted and transmitted more than $500,000 of money represented by undercover US law enforcement officers to be proceeds of drug trafficking. The money used in the undercover operations was received by and wired through 59 separate Sigue authorized delegates in 22 states," the DPA stated.

'Drug money' flows to 'source of supply'

According to the DPA, undercover officers approached Sigue agents and asked for help in sending "drug proceeds" to their "source of supply" in Mexico City, in reality, the recipients were undercover Mexican law enforcement officers, it added.

"The [US] undercover agents informed the authorized delegates that they did not want law enforcement to learn of the transactions, and that they preferred not to provide any form of identification or address information. When Sigue-authorized delegates requested some form of identification from the undercover agents, the agents produced multiple forms of identification cards, all in different names and bearing obviously different likenesses," the DPA states.

Some pass, many fail in total, undercover federal officers conducted 84 successful transactions through 59 different Sigue agents; while 24 agents "properly refused" to conduct the illicit transactions, the DPA stated. It added that at 47 locations, the undercover officers and the Sigue agents "structured the cash transactions by splitting large cash amounts over $10,000 into saveral smaller amounts to avoid triggering currency transaction reporting thresholds at the Sigue corporate level."

The DPA also noted that the Sigue agents who conducted the transactions may be charged with money laundering under Title 18 USC Sections 1956 and 1957, as may Sigue, if it violates the terms of the agreement, it should be noted that the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network also assessed a $12m civil money penalty against Sigue, claiming that its "failure to implement effective internal controls, training or independent testing to manage the risk of money laundering was serious, long-standing and systemic." FinCEN's penalty (PDF) will be satisfied by the $15m forfeiture paid to the DoJ.

The identities of the Sigue agents snared by the sting operation are not revealed in court documents, although Sigue's general counsel, Robert Pargac, told Complinet that saveral have been indicted for money (aundering and the DoJ has said it may indict others. He added that Sigue has terminated its relationship with around 20 of the agents accused of wrongdoing.

"We think that this is behind us now." Pargac said.

Outlook bleak for many MSBs

Sigue may have weathered the storm, but it remains to be seen whether its agents' alleged misdeeds will lead to more misery for fellow MSBs. In recent years, many MSBs have found themselves unable to find banks willing to serve them. The reason is clear. MSBs are high-risk pustomers and mitigating those risks is costly.

A case such as that against Sigue gives banks yet another reason to treat MSBs as pariahs.

The meeting included the Head of the CNBV (Dr Guilliermo Babatz) and the Head of the Financial Intelligence Unit, FIU (Luís Urrutia), the financial crime unit of the Finance Ministry.

He handed me a draft copy of the report that they had compiled which is in two parts:

1. A CNBV report on operational weakness in HSBC in many areas, including Frauds, Customer complaints, IT failures, Money Laundering processes, Culture, and Organisation structure that they had previously identified (and communicated in the previous meeting in October, which is summarised in my note below). The report now includes a summary of the actions taken by HSBC to address each of these, but they acknowledged that this was neither up to date nor comprehensive, and they asked me to review it and revert to them with a correct, up to date, picture on all the actions taken, so that they do not misrepresent the position.

I have advised Richard Bennett, David Bagley and Matthew King,	months with EULIDIA
Our security department investigator is afternoon to get the information from their case files that relates to suspicious in	iternal activity, so we can commence an investigation of these. I have asked Internal Audit to assist in re- raised (most of which came out of previous on-site inspections earlier last year	and are in process of resolution), and confirm the actions that have been taken. I am arranging for D week, when he and I can review our actions and response, and then he and I v	avid Bagley to visit next Ill meet jointly with the cards, money laundering and treasury operations.

They walked me through a presentation pack which firstly set out specific points that had arisen during their inspection, but then moved on to more general concerns of the CNBV with HSBC in Mexico. These centred on:

- weaknesses in internal controls which they saw in several areas of HSBC, citing evidence of the level of credit card frauds, numbers of customer complaints to the bank and to the banking ombudsman, customer concerns that staff in branches do not have appropriate training and qualifications, frequency of IT failures, and slow progress in tackling KYC data problems and anti-money laundering procedures.
- corporate culture, where they comment that since the purchase of Bital, HSBC has driven growth in credit products and launched new products without adequate controls. They acknowledged the addition of new senior executives including the CFO and COO, and they welcomed these, but they are concerned that some areas of the business have not changed at all in mentality, or approach, despite the changing nature of the business, and some lower level staff have not been adequately trained to deal with the business now being undertaken. They implied that they considered that we were still running parts of the bank as if they were still Bital, despite the new ownership and the change in busines sprofile.

They also expressed concerns at senior management having dual responsibilities for Mexico and the region, stating that "there are many concerns on how management will be able to implement strong controls within the bank in Mexico, while keeping an eye on other countries".

Their final slide reads as follows:

"REQUIREMENTS

As a result of the concerns pointed out, the CNBV needs the senior level commitment to solve the problems stressed. In order to do that, HSBC needs to set corrective programmes. These actions should include the following:

- set strong internal controls in key business and operational areas
- adopt measures to stop frauds, reduce clients's complaints and improve the level of service, to reduce reputational risk
- establish the necessary actions to improve iT performance and avoid technological risks caused by systems break down
- manage an effective culture of change
- avoid sharing senior officers responsibilities with LATAM
- set effective measures regarding money laundering issues
- avoid taking excessive credit risks in the credit card portfolio and set actions to assess this risk in an adequate manner.

They will issue a normal management letter in due course, without including some of the more sensitive areas, but they wanted to bring these to my personal attention to let

MEETING ATTENDANCE NOTE - 27th February 2008

Attendees: Leopoldo Rodriguez Borroso (LRB)
David Bagley

Key points raised by LRB in an exit meeting were:-

He had asked to move from the AML job principally due to fears with regard to his own personal civil and criminal litigation exposure, the risk to his physical security, the fact that he did not think that the job was suitably graded or paid and because he had already made it clear when he originally took the job that this would be a short-term post not long term.

TAX TAX CARDINATE TO A STATE OF RESPECT TO THE OWN CONTROL OF THE OWN CONTROL OWN CONTRO

- 2. LRB went on to explain in some detail that his perception of exposure to criminal sanctions was due to the continued poor controls in the bank, the fact that there were allegations of 60% to 70% of laundered proceeds in Mexico went through HBMX and because he did not think that senior management had any commitment to robust AML controls. He thought it was only a matter of time before the bank faced criminal sanctions and cited a number of cases, including as examples of the bank's involvement in activities which might lead to the bank being sanctioned directly and him and members of the team being sanctioned personally.
- 3. It was clear that LRB felt very strongly that relevant business heads within HBMX had absolutely no respect for AML controls and the risks to which the Group was exposed and had no intention of applying sensible or appropriate approaches. Again he cited a number of examples where despite strong recommendations with the CMP business heads had failed or refused to close accounts or indeed on occasions file SARs. He thought that there was a culture that pursuing profit and targets at all costs and in fact had seen no recent improvement in the standard of controls or the types of decisions being taken.
- 4. He was critical of the level of resources in his team and felt that his team had done much to keep the bank out of trouble by working extra hours against impossible deadlines and handling significant volumes of alerts including those from CAMP. A figure of some 14,000 per month/per annum? was cited.
- When asked, LRB indicated that he thought he needed at least 35 new headcount.
- 6. LRB was sceptical about the ability or likelihood of being able to migrate processes to GSCs at least while the bank's systems were so immature (how could anybody check on-line and validate transactions) but thought that this might be a medium term solution once bank systems improved.
- 7. It was clear that LRB felt extremely strongly about his treatment and was resentful both with regard to his recent performance rating, the fact that he thought that the ML department was being scapegoat, and was dishelieving that the hank could find no alternative role. On balance, however, he accepted that he was a difficult individual, had perhaps on occasions been tactless and again thought that he would prefer to leave even thought he was likely to suffer economic hardship rather than stay in a job where he felt personally exposed.

the ment of the manager of the companies and the companies of the companie

- 8. He was adamant that David Leighton had promised him that if he did the job for ten months he would be looked after and felt that this commitment had been reneged upon. LRB was extremely critical of RG who he described as being indecisive, weak and desperate to retain his job and lacking any understanding of AML matters. There was a detailed discussion about the operation of the MLD committee chaired by RG where LRB indicated that he thought it would be chaired by John Rendall. Again he felt there had been little improvement in the decision-making within this Committee.
- 9. LRB was sceptical as to whether the bank would be given an extension of time within which to retrospectively remediate high-risk customers and said why should the authorities given any further extension given that the bank had previously failed to meet earlier commitments. He was clearly of the view that the bank was heading to a situation where in due course it would be sanctioned or penalised and had seen nothing in recent months or weeks which suggested to him that matters could improve.
- 10. LRB then referred to a report he had been in the process of writing which would set out and articulate all of the various areas of weakness that he thought existed. This report had not been finished by him and he was still deciding whether he would write it. DB said that this was very much a matter for L to decide upon personally and that DB would neither encourage him to write it, nor discourage him from doing so. It was very much his own personal decision. Having said this, DB indicated to him that if the report was produced and sent to DB he would discharge his own personal obligations in his current role by causing the report to be carefully considered and factored into any wide work or other review that was being undertaken. DB would not just ignore it or bury it but equally would have to balance views expressed by LRB against views expressed by others and form a view. On balance, it seemed likely that LRB will submit such a report.
- 11. LRB asked that his team members, particularly the more senior members be looked after and no in any way penalised for his departure. This was genuinely unselfish. DB assured him that he would do what he can in this regard.
- 12. Overail, LRB gave the impression as having been dedicated and committed to his work, having real and genuinely felt concerned. His opinions were very firm, the conversation extremely cordial but at no stage were there any suggestions that he felt that individuals, including individuals within CMP were in any way compromised other than perhaps by reason of incompetence or poor management. He clearly feels badly treated but accepts that some of the consequences have been brought on by himself not least asking to be moved.

From: John F ROOT Sent: Wed Jul 30 21:46:30 2008 ---To: David W J BAGLEY; Warren G LEAMING; Susan A WRIGHT Subject: HBMX Visit Update Importance: Normal It has been an extremely productive trip. Below please find a summary of what I have discovered so far. USD Cayman Accounts There are 35,000 accounts with a monthly total average of USD 400 million. Many of these accounts were opened by Bital through its New York branch. When this branch was closed, the accounts were transferred to the Cayman branch, which was opened in 1980. The real surprise was the existence of an HBMX audit in January 2006 on KYC for the USD Cayman accounts. It is not clear who in AML responded, and how. Blank looks all around. I should know more in a few hours. The report, which is in Spanish, concluded that KYC control was "below standard", A sampling showed that 15% of the customers did not even have a file. For the files that could be found, there were serious failures in following Group procedures. Earlier this year, HBMX was fined the equivalent of USD 50k for having advertised the accounts. We could still be subject to other fines: opinion here is divided, with most thinking we will not. CEO Luis Pena has stopped all new Cayman accounts. CNBV were said to be a bit surprised at this, and not entirely happy that a source of USD was being foreclosed. As for the existing accounts, the management plan is to offer to clients to transfer them to another Group entity, currently envisaged to be HBUS (although an actual Cayman entity was also briefly contemplated). Fixing the Cayman accounts will be a struggle. How do you locate clients when there is no file? High-Risk Transactions a sub-director in AML, has identified 1,100 high-risk accounts. Since the beginning of the year, Of these, 270 have been cancelled, most with SARs. These high-risk accounts include USD Cayman Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

The main area of concern is PFS, according even at the "highest" levels. (Yes, I asked.) A set of Bital, and close to retirement, was alarmed at the gap between what we say about integrity and proper AML controls, and what is ·C	ctually happening out in the field, particularly in states close to the US border. His misgivings should of ourse be treated confidentially. I don't want my sources fired or killed. (No exaggeration here — more eople are dying in the drug wars in the north of the country than are being killed in Afghanistan or Iraq.)	*
a	ohn Rendail has asked Ramon Garcia to determine what products have a high AML risk. The COO has lso asked Ramon to look at USD remittances to assess client risk. (HBMX is the largest remitter in Mexico of dollars back to the States.) High-volume customers will be reviewed and risk-weighted. Ramon

The plan has put together a business plan for 14 FTE including himself and an AOP of USD 500k. The plan may not be accepted in its current form because of cost-cutting at HBMX (all departments to cut 15% of neadcount and budget). It might be a good idea for one of you, and perhaps also Matthew King, to stress as soon as possible with Luis Pena the importance of adequate AML staff. I have already done so with John Rendall, who generally agrees with me, but wants more specifics about the plan. (One reservation is hat AML seems a bit top-heavy in management.)
	There is a major issue with staffing. HR and and a second comments of the control

	Much progress has been made. John Rendall and the team have worked very hard, with concrete results to show for it. I attended a lengthy meeting of the project last night and came away very impressed with what they have achieved, I will forward a number of useful reports to you on the current situation. Audit think that much more can and should be done, but the COO and his team have the proper risk-based approach.
	Reporting
	agreed with him that I will liaise regularly with for the reports we require so as to ease the burden on him. The agreed with him that I have discussed the new reporting template and how we should proceed.
	Operating Loss in Colombia
	A recent mishap in Colombia illustrates what we are up against in the region.
	Our treasury in Colombia sold rather than bought repos, and ended up with no securities with the Central Bank to support the sale. We expect a "penalty not a fine", which would appear to be a distinction without a difference. The current estimate is USD 580k. The key issue, according to Graham Thomson, is that someone in Colombia signed off on their being FIM-compliant when they weren't. He is investigating this point, and also why he was only informed last Friday when the problem came to light two weeks ago.
	The same concerns for Colombia, e.g. FIM compliance, apply of course to Central America. Key managers are telling us that they are following Group procedures when, in many cases, they aren't.

I refer to our recent emails.

I am now received further clarification from GAQ on the audit report recommendation status.

No response was received following the issue of the report in APR06 and its recommendations were "closed off" in AIS and included in the matrix of branch control weaknesses, which GAQ routinely discusses with the business.

Periodically GAQ reports on management's progress on these items and continues to check on compliance standards as part of its regular branch audits, where as you aware from reports to audit committees etc, branch standards have failed until recently to be improved. Project Restauracion is now rectifying that position and has included the higher risk CI customer accounts in its risk based remediation approach. HBMX CEO has suspended the provision of CI accounts to new customers.

We have been in discussions with HBMX CMP with regard to certain potentially suspicious transactions identified by routine transaction monitoring. This initial report has widened into a more general issue as detailed below. Whilst we continue to follow up with HBMX, I think it is appropriate to provide an initial report as follows:

I am awaiting further details of the suspicious activity identified, but in brief it appears that our CAMP monitoring system identified significant USD remittances being made by a number of customers to a US company alleged to have been involved in the supply of aircraft to drugs cartels. Appropriate reports have been filed and have apparently enabled the authorities to identify significant related activity passing through other banks. This led to a review of the way in which HBMX operates USD-denominated accounts through its Cayman branch.

HBMX holds a Category B banking licence in Cayman which allows them to provide banking services anywhere other than to Cayman residents.

The licence, inherited from Bital, allows HBMX to provide USD-denominated services to persons domiciled in Mexico. Mexican regulation apparently prohibits individual Mexicans (i.e. non-corporate) to hold USD-denominated deposit accounts in Mexico. The branch currently holds USD400m and 35,000 accounts. There is no physical presence in Cayman and effectively front and back office services are provided on the ground in Mexico. Although HBMX were recently fined USD50,000, for the inappropriate promotion of these services in Mexico. I am advised that CNBV are aware of the existence of the accounts and services and have raised no concerns. HBMX are however sensibly reviewing the position.

I have also asked CMP to review whether there are any similar operations in LATAM. There continues to be a real focus on the level of USD-denominated activity in Mexico by CNBV and other bodies, and the extent of HBMX's activity in this area. This account base has to therefore be seen as high-risk from an AML and reputational perspective.

From: Sent: Thu Nov 27 02:38:42 2008 To: Jaime J SAENZ; Ramon GARCIA

Subject: Seriously consider restricting the product Dollars accounts in the zona frontera Product 63 Cuenta Maestra en Dolares P.F. Importance: Normal

Jaime y Ramon,

In the same way we have already restricted new Caiman Island accounts from opening, due to the massive misuse of them by organised crime, I think it is about time we seriously consider recommending to the business, that we can not support their management of Dollars accounts in the zona frontera Product 63 Cuenta Maestra en Dollars Personas. Fisicas.

We have suffered three cases this week where dollars accounts based in the zona fronters have been opened with the apparent sole intention of using them for money laundering.

The pattern is as follows:

- 1) Accounts are opened at various branches in Cd Juarez (or other border areas within 20km of the USA) in dollars product number 63.
- Declarations are made by the customer in their branch KYC questions of low account movement per month (in one case the client indicated he was going to move USD300 a month, but in fact moved USD1.4MnIIIII)
- 3) Cash is then depoisted in branches far from the border (Toluca and Edo de Mexico.) The individual depoists are normally USD50K but it is one customer, standing at one cashiers window, depoisting ten to twenty bundles of USD50K. The total is USD500K to USD933K in one customer transaction (albeit seperated into 20 bundles)

So fer the total of this cash has surpassed USD3Mn in two weeks. These are the accounts we have been notified about, but I imagine that there will be many more in the coming weeks/months.

There are very apparent breaches of procedures in both the branches that opened the accounts, and the branches that are receiving the funds. (Please see below)

It is my belief that the proffessional money launderes have got wise to our procedures, and are now going to "hit and run" us. They will open accounts, use them to launder as much money as possible, in a short a time as possible, and then either close the account themselves, or wait for our procedures to do it.

The normal time scale in a typical case, to close an account is three months, from when the first CAMP/ROI alert comes in to the AML area. As you know it is then passed via the CCC to UCE who then have to locate the file, and provide it to LGA for them to start their process. LGA say they take on average it is 30 days, but with the resturation project, their backlog is now almost 2.5K cases.

In another case I am working on, the client has already been notified by LGA that the account is going to be closed, and he is using his last two weeks to move as much money as possible. So far this is USD1Mn in three days, to add the the USD9Mn that he has successfully laundered in the last three months.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

It is my opinion that we are not "Preventing" anything. We are allowing the organised criminals to launder their money, and only after three months do we final manage to stop them (by closing the account). By which time they have proably opened up another dollars account in a take name, and started the whole process again.

The first essential thing that must be done is a bank wide email explaining in clear and simple terms the cash depoist amounts that are laid done in CMP PLD 050003.

In my investigation so far, NOT ONE SINGLE PERSON has heard of this circular, and no one is following it

It is my opinion that until PFS can properly educate their staff in the correct procedures for dealings with these types of accounts, then the account should be removed from our list of products.

If we were rigouresly sticking to this procedures, then I am confident that we would seriously restrict the flow of dollars into our organisation. I am aware that this is a theme that has been raised by Luis PeÑa and the CNBV.

For your information the part that I consider most relevan of CMP PLD 050003 is below:

4. Operaciones en efectivo con dólares de los Estados Unidos de América

Queda estrictamente prohibida la realización de las siguientes operaciones:

Emisión de Giros Bancarios Compra venta de cheques de viajero a no elientes/usuarios Venta de Cheques de Caja a usuarios,

HSBC ha establecido el siguiente mecanismo de escalamiento de aprobación interna para el trámite de operaciones (depósitos y retiros) en efectivo con dólares de los Estados Unidos de América;

Nivel del Funcionario Facultado

Ejecutivo de Cuenta (PFS)

Lider de Unidad de Negocio (PFS) a Ejecutivo de Cuenta (tratándose de otros Segmentos)

Subdirector (todos los Segmentos)

Director Ejecutivo (todos los Segmentos)

No se requerirá aprohación en el trámite de operaciones en ejectivo con dólares de los Estados Unidos de América que realicen personas físicas, por montos inferiores a los 10,000.00 dólares, así como de aquellas que lleven a cabo personas morales, por montos inferiores a los 50,000.00 dólares.

We have had clients depoist USD933K in one day in one branch. This depoist should have been approved by the D.Ejec, but it has never reached him. Nor it appears have any of the smaller depoists reached even the levels of Sub-Directors!

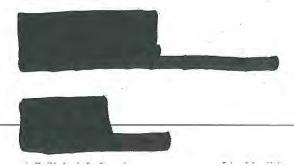

It needs to be made clear that any branch recleving more than USD100K total with one customer (regardless of how the customer wants to seperates the depoists) that has not notified their Sub-Director, will be subject to Zero tolerance policy enforced by UCE and the Sub-Director, who should have been told.

This matter is not Fraud so PIF resources need not be used, and it is not necessary to involve AML in every case as the evidence is very obvious, and easy to prove through branch cash movements. Of course the same Zero tolerance should apply when the cash depoist indicate Directors and D.Ejec need to be informed.

PFS Channels and Products should be able to "police" themselves in this matter, and I repeat that if we stick to these procedures the money launderes will quickly become very tired of waiting to get authorisation from our senior management, and will carry out their business in another financial institution.

I greatly appreciate that this is a complicated issue, but without firm and decisive action we will never stop ourselves being used by organised criminals.

Thanks and regards,

Thank you and all noted.

What I find most frustrating is the way in which new issues constantly emerge however much time is spent with HBMX.

The practice of changing USD in the branches presUmably with little or no ID for non customers is in breach of Group policy. When looking at our USD exposure how can this have been missed.

The SAR filing is just daft as is allowing an account to operate pre-closing and taking too long to close. Are you able to challenge the involvement of legal in this process. If not subject to Richard's views can they gear up their effort in this area.

Mike Geoghegan today visited the president of the CNBV Guillermo Babatz with Luis Pena HBMX CEO

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

and Emilson Alonso. It was anticipated that during the discussion the Banks controls on AML would arise following Paul Thurston's meeting CNBV in March. Ramon and I contributed to a briefing paper for Luis / Mike which is attached. We had anticipated that the CNBV would be comfortable with the improvements that had been made with the controls but that they may still be concerned with the actions of the Bank's staff in accepting deposits without apparent KYC/ due diligence (ie has the message penetrated down to the rank and file).

At the meeting apparently Mike acknowledged the CNBV may be concerned around the Banks controls on AML. The CNBV president, who was accompanied by Patricio Bustamante (supervision) and Pablo Gomez (AML) noted that significant progress had been made to the Banks controls but they remained very concern in respect of:

- 1. The USD Cayman accounts and the slow speed of remediation
- 2. The sheer volume of US Dollars that HBMX repatriates f exports

Between January and September HBMX repatriated USD 3b, 36% of the market which is double Banamex USD 1.3 b which constitutes 17 % of the market and yet Banamex Is the biggest Bank in Mexico and HSBC is 5th largest. The authorities are concerned that when-ever there is a serious MLD scheme HSBC seems to be involved. CNBV also worried that the USA authorities are concerned at the very high levels.

Apparently Mike told Luis that he is is not holding him responsible because he is new but directed him to sort the problem out. When Luis said this could result in lost profits of many billions Mikes clear response is that nothing is worth risk to our reputation.

Luis called a task force meeting this afternoon that Ramon attended. During this meeting it became clear that we are very good at buying/acquiring dollars but we do not seem to sell them and hence our very high repatriation figures, 80% of our dollars come from money exchange business at branches, there is no limit on the amount of dollars that costumers can convert to pesos and for non customers we convert up to 3000 dollars, and do not require any KYC.

Luis has decided that draconian measures are required and he is proposing

- 1. The current freeze on opening USD Cayman accounts will continue indefinitely (there were proposals to reopen as early next week). In addition no new cash deposits will be accepted to the existing accounts.
- 2. HBMX will cease to buy, accept, sell US cash for all customers.
- 3. all remediation must be completed by 31 January (earlier than planned March)

Business are reviewing how to implement and will meet again on Friday morning.

In the 2 days I been here it has become apparent that

1. While remediation efforts have progressed they have in some instants been very slow, particularly around phase II corporate accounts. In addition there appears to be a huge back-log in closing accounts as this is a legal process managed by legal. Pending closure customers can continue to operate their accounts which may be part of the reasons for multiple SARS. Jaime's team is producing figures but there are reports of accounts that MLD committee ordered closed in March continuing to operate.
2. how to resolve aAccounts with multiple SARs not being closed in breach GPP 25. It seems that SARS are filed before we have complete information as to whether there is a need to file them in order to comply with local regulation. We are also reviewing the practice of Director Generals being able to signoff accounts that can remain open.

3. We are reviewing the criteria for high (red) medium (yellow) low (while) customer risk profiles.

Obviously this will evolve over the next few days. Mikes visit and Luis proposed actions are considered extremely sensitive here in Mexico and local management want to get their ducks in a row before advising GMO formally so it will be much appreciated if the above could not be treated as information only and not disseminated without discussing further.

Best regards

Warren

I was at the legal awards dinner where I note you were a judge. During this I took a call from Warren where because of where I was I could not prolong. Core was however that at MFG s meeting with CNBV they raised concerns re the Cayman accounts and amount of USD going to US from HBMX. Am catching up with Warren in the moming.

Please find attached the draft email setting out my high level thoughts following my recent visit. Could I please thank you both for the time that you took to spend with me during my visit during what was a very busy and turbulent time for you both. It was of considerable value in clarifying many of the current issues in Mexico and Central America and I hope that I added value in respect of my discussions with those on the ground.

Despite the reservations expressed by the CNBV in respect of the quantity of US dollars repatriated and progress of remediation, I was heartened to note that they also acknowledged the significant progress that has been made in respect of the compliance and AML controls over the past twelve months and since the CNBV meeting with Paul Thurston in March. If you feel that I have neglected to mention something or you have any issues with my conclusions expressed in my draft note please let me know. I intend to send the note to Luis Pena by Friday, 12 December.

Warren

DRAFT EMAIL TO LUIS PENA

Luis,

As you know I visited HBMX between Tuesday 25th November and Friday 28th November. I spent my time with the Compliance and AML team in Mexico and thought that I would offer the following thoughts/conclusions as a result of my discussions.

Submission of SARs within 30 days. Currently local regulation requires that if suspicious activity is recognised that a SAR should be filed within 30 days. It is apparent that in many instances the business are not providing the information required to the Compliance department to determine whether a SAR should be submitted or not within the 30 day period. Given the regulatory requirement and the absence of appropriate information in order to come to an appropriate conclusion, SARs are being submitted when the information is subsequently received it is not possible to retract the SAR even if the information reveals that it was not appropriate to submit the SAR. Accordingly the numbers of SARs that are being submitted may well be too high and given the GPP25 requires that accounts be considered for closure after two SARs are submitted, we may well be closing accounts where there is no need to do so. This is both unfair on our customers and causes increased work. I note that the regulation is to be extended to 60 days, naving said that pressure should be bought to bear on the business to ensure that appropriate information is submitted to Compliance in time for them to come to a conclusion and submit SARs within 30 days.

Closure of accounts - backlog and blocking. When accounts are to be closed, either as a result of the remediation programme or as a result of a direction by the CCC committee, policy in HBMX requires that such accounts be sent to Legal who will instruct an attorney. Apparently the law requires that customers be appropriately notified. It is apparent that there is a significant backlog (3,659) of accounts to be closed. Of this amount 675 accounts pending closure were ordered to be closed by the CCC on suspicion that they are used for money laundering activity. You will note that some of these accounts are very old, in fact it appears that there are 16 accounts that were sent for closure in 2005, 130 from 2006, 172 from 2007 and 309 from 2008 that remain open. I am advised that based on legal advice it is not possible to block the accounts before closure and accordingly all of these accounts remain open with transactions being conducted on them which also increases the number of subsequent SARs being submitted to authorities. I would ask that the legal advice be reviewed and if appropriate a commercial decision be taken because I was advised that Scotlabank do not use attorneys or their Legal department but notify customers using certified mail. I have also reviewed translations of the applicable legislation which appears to confirm this. High profile accounts that Public Affairs have advised should not be closed because of reputational sensitivities should be reviewed at DGA level to ensure appropriate remediation and/or closure.

GPP25 - DGA letters. This Group policy requires that if two SARs are submitted the account should be considered for closure. HBMX policy allows the account to remain open if there is a DGA letter. There are a large number of DGA letters and I am not necessarily confident that appropriate due diligence is done by the business before such letters are submitted. You will recall that historically there have been two very significant cases.

Where Compliance recommended that the accounts be closed and that the business had taken a commercial decision and insisted that they remain open. Subsequent events have revealed that these cases involved blatant and systematic AML which has caused the Bank much embarrassment. It is important that the businesses ensure that appropriate support/due diligence is conducted before completion of the letters.

CCC/AML Committee. The CCC currently meets monthly and whilst it has improved it appears that there are still many instances where decisions are too slow in being taken and the closure of accounts is delayed significantly by business requests for more time. The presumption seems to be in favour of the businesses views which needs to change to a more Compliance orientated balance. I have asked Ramon who chairs the committee to take a much stricter approach going forward to ensure that suspicious accounts are closed quickly. I have also asked Ramon to consider whether the frequency should be increased to allow more timely consideration of serious cases or authority delegated so that decisions can be taken between meetings. I have also asked that the meeting only deal with high level cases and that the vast majority of cases currently dealt with at the Committee be dealt with outside the Committee and only come to the Committee where business and Compliance cannot agree.

Issues arising from your CNBV visit. I am aware that following your visit to the CNBV with Emilson Alonso and Mike Geoghegan that you have decreed:-

- a) That as of the 1st January the Bank will not accept USD cash deposits nor provide exchange services for US dollars. Accordingly no dollars will be accepted by the branches and travellers cheques will not be sold to non-customers and will be sold to customers on a limited basis. There remain AML Issues in respect of travellers cheques which historically are very high risk from an AML perspective and accordingly we would expect that the limits are reasonably low and that there are very strong controls in place to ensure that branches do not abuse the rules.
- b) That no new Cayman dollar accounts be opened until full remediation of all existing customers.
- c) That all remediation for both the Cayman accounts and the restoration project be completed by 31st January. You are aware that remediation has been slow for the Cayman accounts and also for the CMB phase two accounts. We fully support your impetus to speed up the remediation of such accounts. We also note that in respect of Cayman it is proposed that 3,000 accounts be closed and our above comments in respect of the account closure backlog and speed need to be addressed. We are also aware that examples are to be set both on a branch and individual basis for failure to follow procedures with respect to account opening, ID and V guidelines. We fully support appropriate action being taken against all individuals who do not comply with the Group's policies.

Transaction limits. There are a number of transaction limits. I suggest that the following be reconsidered as appropriate limits and controls be put in place:-

- a) There is no limit on the Bank selling cashiers chaques to customers when they are paid for from the customer's account, This should be subject to appropriate limits and controls.
- b) There is no limit on customers depositing travellers cheques to their accounts.
- c) The Bank will sell up to $25,000 of travellers cheques when it is paid for from the customer's account. This appears too high and as discussed above we would encourage that a reasonable limit be imposed and strong controls be put in place.
- d) There is some confusion around the limits on wire transfers which should be reviewed.

CMP/AML Resources. Having spent time with Jalme Saenz, the new Head of AML, I think that he has good potential. He has our full support and one of his first tasks is to review the resources that he has at his disposal and what activity they conduct. I know that John Rendall has recently approved a new headcount of four which will be very welcome and in addition I have asked Jalme to review all activity currently undertaken by the AML team to ensure that they are not conducting activity that should be conducted by the business and to maximise the use of resources on a timely basis. It appears that in addition to advising the high, medium and low risk parameters that the team has also been asked to actually identify customers that meet these parameters which would appear to me to be a business activity.

Camp Analysis. While some work has been done of refining the camp alerts more work in required on refining the "soft rules" to produce focussed meaningful alerts.

Efficiencies can be obtained by a) analysis of the high and medium risk categories on a slightly more sophisticated basis than has been done in the past by analysing the type of activity on the accounts. This may have the effect of actually reducing the number of high and medium risk cases to be remediated, b) more focussed planning initiatives rather than dealing with issues on an ad hoc basis and, c) introduction of review sampling of customer files to ensure high quality KYC/customer visits including supportive documentation. More detailed risk based reviews by Compliance and Internal Control of the business appear necessary.

I am aware that a "AML Shock Plan" is being implemented and this will assist greatly in moving the emphasis/balance of approach to opening/managing customer accounts to group standards.

I look forward to any comments that you have or would welcome further discussion.

Regards.

FYHTRIT #38

I think the important thing is that we take a close look at the Banknote area, which it sounds like we are doing. I would be particularly interested in the bank's level of due diligence on its Mexican customers, and a review of transaction activity involving those customers to ensure that the bank is satisfactorily identifying and reporting suspicious transactions. I will circle back to the same on this and let him know that we are in the process of conducting an examination of the Banknotes area right now. If he identifies any key areas for us to consider looking at, I'll pass them on.

Sally,

We do not have supervisory responsibility for HSBC Mexico. The last Banknote examination encompassing the geographic area of Mexico was our "New York" Banknote examination which was conducted in 2005 (copy of Supervisory Letter attached). As you can see from the letter we had a number of MRA's involving consistent oversight of the KYC and EDD process, instances where the customer information, required by the bank's internal policies and procedures, was not obtained and/or the information obtained was not properly analyzed, instances in which profile information was either not obtained or the analysis of the information was inadequate, no monitoring had in fact occurred for those clients subject to conditional approval and the specific monitoring instructions of the BSA/AML Director, lack of identifying PEPs and that the current category of SCC clients does not account for the potential for reputation risk based on other adverse risk factors to include clients from jurisdictions that have, or clients who have, based on current events, become subject to enhanced regulatory, legal, media or other public scrutiny.

We are currently conducting a "New York" Banknote examination which includes Banknote clientele from the Mexico. If there is something that we should be doing to assist in matters, we can take the opportunity to do so during this current examination. If we are to take on some additional work during this examination, please let Elsa de la Garza know as she is acting EIC as I am on annual leave starting tomorrow.

Sally and Grace,

This morning I spoke to an AUSA in the Eastern District of N.Y. Said that his office is in the early stages of investigating possible money laundering through the repatriation of U.S. currency through accounts at the banknotes division of HSBC-N.Y. The scheme that described is similar to activity that we have seen at Union Bank, Wachovia, and Zions. Basically, the way it works is that drug money is physically hauled across the border into Mexico, then brought back into the United States through wire transfers from casas de cambio or small Mexican banks, or else smuggled across the border in armored cars, etc., before being deposited in U.S. institutions. According to most U.S. banks, recognizing the risks involved, have gotten out of this business, but HSBC-NY is one of the last holdouts (although, interestingly, he said that HSBC-Mexico will no longer accept U.S. currency).

wanted us to be aware of his investigation, but he also wanted to know: 1) whether the OCC has supervisory authority over HSBC-Mexico; and 2) whether we have done any recent examinations of the banknotes area at HSBC-NY (if so, he would like to see a copy of the ROE). I told him I didn't know the answers to his questions, but I would get back to him. Can you help?

Thanks,

Dan

Conducting an Enhanced KYG for Grand Cayman Accountholders Proposal to Update the Strategy to Control Risk arising from Grand Cayman Accounts HSBC (The world's local bank

Background

HBMX CEO requested to conduct an enhanced due diligence (KYC) for all Grand Calyman CDAs DDAs.

The Bank has been recently fined for offering this product in Mexico, and money laundering red flags have been identified.

On 28JUL, ¢MP gave instructions to suspend this product.

On 31JUL08, Segment Directors were requested by CEO that an enhanced KYC will be completed for all Grand Cayman accounts before 01DEC08.

As of JUL08, in Grand Cayman CDA/DDA product there were 49,937 customers, and its portfolio was approximately USD 1,500 million.

Currently, this product is expected to be re-opened, as long as necessary adjustments to systems, processes and documentation are made, with stricter controls, and if Group Compliance's sign-off is obtained.

On 26SEP, Segment Directors reported that almost no progress has been made in enhanced KYC completion. In addition, a central validation of enhanced KYC quality is not in place.

The following memo is background information on the Bank Melli business, prepared by John Richards, Group Representative Iran. Additionally, in a conference call that Joe Harpster, Compliance and I had with HBEU and Richards on 6/27, It was relayed to us that the Group (with the backing of Bond) was looking to significantly grow our presence in Iran. Current lines of credit were reported to be $800m, trade lines of $150m and growth was anticipated in trade, cash management and internet banking. The Bank Melli clearing was viewed by Richards and others as not only profitable as a standalone but also key to winning additional business.

It should also be noted that at the time this proposition came to our attention, HBEU had already consulted with both Matthew King and external counsel and advised a comfort level from both quarters.

Given the seriousness of the business proposal, we continue due diligence on the transaction flow. The decision is primarily a Compliance/Legal one and we are working closely with them on the operational feasibility of any proposed transaction flow.

Subject: The Central Bank of Iran

Dear Brian

We have been approached by the Central Bank of Iran to take back their USD clearing business from Natwest. In principal I am keen to do this but on the clear proviso that it can be done profitably and on a sustainable basis.

One of our key objectives for the year is to develop HSBC's Asset Management activities in Iran and with the Central Bank now managing the oil price stabalization fund amounting to some USD10bn there is considerable scope for this. Obviously many foreign banks are chasing the same business and so we need to demonstrate some competative or relational advantage. The proposal from the Central Bank was therefore not unwelcome.

I had an initial meeting with Mr Nowbahar Director Intl Dept of the Central Bank yesterday along with Nigel Weir who is visiting Tehran. I emphasised that if we were able to do this we would need to have detailed discussions so that we are clear what is required of us and what we require of them. The Central Bank manage their transactions through Bank Melli London and the intention would be that negotiations are held with Mr Saderightar.

I would like to end up with a written agreement so that all parties are aware of what they are committing to. Although negotiating with Iranians is a frustrating activity we are in a strong position. They have become disatisfied with NatWest and with the exception of LLoyds, who will have the same issues we have there is little competition, I also assume that our technology advances will make the business more attractive than it was in the past.

I shall be grateful for your thoughts on this and your advice on how I should take this forward. Nigel is here until Thursday and if possible I shall be grateful for your initial feedback before he leaves so that I can discuss the matter further with him. I am sure that he will take this up with you himself but at the end of the day negotiations will be held in London and will be driven by you.

Nasser and I will be in the UK on Feb 14th 15th to help host a presentation to a number of Iranian Bank Managing Directors in association with Robert Gray and the Investment bank. Subject to your views we can join any negotiation meetings that are arranged over that time.

In summary if we can make this business independantly profitable and sustainable the benefits that we can derive particularly from the Treasury, Asset Management and Investment banking spin offs will be substantial. I want therefore to agree a strategy of how we go forward and who we involve before we make any further contact so that I am aware of all the issues involved.

I appreciate your help with this

Best regards

John

This is an issue that you should be aware of. As described in Carolyn's memo, we have had ongoing discussions on the topic of Iranian payments both internally, with HBEU and with HBME IRN. HBUS Compliance and HBEU have also consulted with external counsel. The genesis for the discussion was an RFP for HBEU Treasury to handle Bank Melli's USD clearing. From an operational perspective, we will follow Compliance's direction as to whether we should support this business and if agreed, will establish any required operational controls.

Given the level of attention this is now getting, it may be raised at the SMC and will be included in the quarterly Compliance report.

I will keep you apprised.

Subject: Bank Melli

Matthew, this e-mail is to summarize the issues we discussed yesterday regarding HBEU Bank Melli proposal. As you know, HBUS was initially approached in January 2001 with the proposal that HBEU would use its USD account with HBUS to clear USD payments for Bank Melli. Subsequently, there has been extensive review of the matter, including input from two outside US legal firms. The first issue was whether or not the underlying transactions originated by Bank Melli are permissible under the Iranian Transactions Regulations. The regulations provide a general license for transactions that meet the "U-Turn" definition and so we have gone back and forth as to whether the proposed underlying transactions meet the definition. (see below). There continues to be some disagreement between the advice from our two outside law firms on this point but we could probably resolve the difference. Of more concern is the second issue which is that given the way the payment orders are to be constructed and formatted, HBUS will not be able to confirm whether or not the underlying transaction actually meets the "U-Turn"requirement. It is not apparent that HBEU will be able to confirm that each payment meets the requirements. In an effort to facilitate "straight-through processing", it now appears that HBEU will train Bank Melli on formatting the payments and that we will be relying on Bank Melli to ensure that only qualifying payments are processed through HBEU's account with HBUS. (See attached letter to Bank Melli). If OFAC identifies a transaction that does not qualify, it might view HSBC's actions due to the non-disclosure as having involved willful disregard or evasion. Given the large dollar amounts and volume of activity proposed (300-400 transactions per day), if OFAC took such a view, potential liabilities could be substantial and would certainly impact HBUS's relationship with OFAC.

So to recap:

- A) Does this structure as proposed meet the U-turn requirement for processing? If Bank Melli and the second foreign bank do not appear on the MT202 processed by HBUS, how do we determine that the payment is in fact a U-turn?
- B) HBUS will not know the foreign banks and, therefore, will not be able to monitor for compliance. Will Melli be informing HBEU of the second foreign bank? Will HBEU set up a function to monitor these payments for compliance with the U-turn provision?
- C) If HBEU will set up a function to monitor the payments, it is possible that OFAC may not find it acceptable for HBUS to rely on HBEU to monitor payments for compliance with the U-turn.
- D) If the foreign banks involved are not disclosed on the MT202 processed by HBUS, and neither HBEU nor HBUS is monitoring the payments for compliance, OFAC could refer to the section of the regulation regarding "evasion" (Section 560.203 Evasions; attempts).
- Definition of the permitted "U-Turn" transaction under the Iranian sanctions:
 The opinion received from outside counsel, Tom Crocker of Alston & Bird, on 2/2/01 in regards to the proposed transactions per Peter Blenk's emails of 1/31/01 and 2/1/01 is quoted below.
- "...the scenario outlined below does not appear to qualify for the so-called USD "U-turn" exception in the IranianTransactions Regulations. Section 560.516(a)(1) of those Regulations provides a general license for dollar clearing functions which meet the following criteria: the transfer must be
- (1) by a foreign bank which is not an Iranian entity (2) from its own account at a
- domestic bank (3) to an account held by a domestic bank (4) for a second foreign
- bank which is not an Iranian entity." Diagramming this out, the chain would look as follows:

Foreign Bank (non-Iranian) 1—Domestic Bank 1—Domestic Bank 1 or 2—Foreign Bank 2 (non-Iranian)

(The point of disagreement between legal firms is whether Foreign Bank 2 has to be a different bank from Foreign Bank 1. Our survey of other major USD clearing banks indicated that they follow the literal interpretation of the license, which is two different foreign banks involved.)

TRANSACTION DETAIL

Example I: U-TURN TRANSACTION

1. Bank Melli sends instructions to HBEU to:

debit Bank Melli's account at HBEU credit HBEU nostro with HBUS

2. HBEU sends instructions to HBUS to:

debit HBEU account with HBUS credit any foreign bank (via a USA correspondent for the foreign bank) for further credit to the ultimate beneficiary

Note: Original HBEU suggestion on payment format would not mention Bank Melli as the originating bank

Example II: Cover Payments (MT202 & MT100)

1. Bank Melli, London sends instructions to HBEU to:

debit their account with HBEU and credit HBEU nostro with HBUS

2. HBEU will send an MT202 to HBUS to:

debit HBEU's account with HBUS credit any foreign bank (either on our books or via a USA correspondent for the foreign bank)

Note: Current HBEU recommendation on format would not mention Bank Melli but would contain some reference identification on the specific transaction being settled between Bank Melli and their customer.

HBEU will also simultaneously send an MT100 to the foreign bank (credit party) referenced in the above MT202, supplying them with beneficiary details for applying the funds received from HBUS

Note: The MT100 is often processed prior to the MT202 due to time differences between the US and the beneficiary's country.

3) HBEU Instructions to Bank Melli regarding how to format payments: See attached email of 28JUN01 from John R. Wilkinson with a copy of the letter sent to Bank Melli with instructions on how to format the SWIFT messages.

Peter C BLENK/HBEU/HSBC@HSBC Subject; Re; Bank Melli

Per our conference call today, please find attached the letter 30APR01 sent by our Payments dept (MPD) to Bank Melli Iran London.

Once the proposition goes live we have instructed Bank Melli to alter the format of it's payments to achieve straight through processing. The field 52 input of 'One of our clients' is a standard phrase used by MPD in these situations.

Since sending the letter we have further asked them to only put 'One of our clients' in field 52, thus removing the chance of them inputting an' Iranian referenced' customer name, that causes fall out of the cover payment sent to HBUS and a breach of OFAC regulations.

This method was successfully tested last month on a MT202 (bank to bank) and a MT100 (commercial) payment.

I can understand your concerns following the recent formatting error detailed in Peter Blenk's email 15JUN01, however I must provide some background for you.

MPD confirm that Bank Melli have not yet gone live on the new method of formatting payments, as we have not yet taken on the new business. Bank Melli are still formatting payments in their usual method, in this instance MPD failed to spot the poor input and did not follow their normal procedure of altering the payment, hence it wasblocked. MPD have again confirmed the new formatting method will achieve straight through processing and overcome these difficulties.

I hope the above detail is sufficient for your purposes and you are able to progress this matter forward as intimated in your earlier approval.

Dear Saeed,

I refer to our meeting last month and our telephone conversation of today, I am pleased to advise that following tests in our payments environment we are confident that we have found a solution to processing your payments with minimal manual intervention.

The key is to always populate field 52 – if you do not have an ordering party name then quote "One of our Clients", never leave blank. This means that the outgoing payment instruction from HSBC will not quote "Bank Melli" as sender – just HSBC London and whatever is in field 52. This then negates the need to quote "DO NOT MENTION OUR NAME IN NEW YORK" in field 72.

In order to test our proposed solution we would appreciate if used the following templates when submitting your next payments to the following customer, or alternatively submit a USD 1 test payment.

David.

I will forward to you separately a note I sent to Mark Taylor which I hope may clarify things to a certain extent.

The position is difficult because things have changed since September 11. We also have to bear in mind pending US legislation which will in effect give the US extraterritorial authority over foreign banks, particularly if we are unfortunate enough to process a payment which turns out to be connected to terrorism. My own view therefore is that some of the routes traditionally used to avoid the impact of US OFAC sanctions may no longer be acceptable. I appreciate however that the solution will involve the installation of some form of automated screening system. We are looking into this now. Until this is resolved, all we can do is to ask that payments from the affected countries

I do this solely from the perspective of avoiding any misunderstanding. A number of the OFAC sanctions could have potential effect upon business in this Region, the most obvious of which are those relating to Iran, Libya and Sudan. As these are US Sanctions, binding US persons they do not have the same effect as the UN Sanctions against Iraq, and on the face of it do not bind either HBME's activities, or those of our customers in any of the above jurisdictions.

I recognise however that the sanctions do affect all transactions in USD, and that payments passing through the US are capable of being identified by the OFAC filters. Even if those transactions involve say an HBME UAE based customer, if there is a connection with one of the above jurisdictions it is likely that the payment will be frozen pending further investigation by OFAC itself.

There are of course risks for us if such a payment is frozen, particularly if the monies are frozen as between correspondent banks, and yet we have shown a credit to the customers USD account here in the Middle East. In the past we have been obliged to pursue a release of monies which have been released to a customer, but have been frozen through the correspondent banking system in the US.

What I am currently unclear about however is the extent to which we are expected to police and observe the OFAC sanctions when dealing in transactions for our customers. Recent notes seem to suggest that we should apply the OFAC Sanctions regardless of jurisdiction.

As I understand the current position we do routinely, and across the Group, adopt differing approaches to payments potentially subject to OFAC sanctions, than to those payments that are unaffected.

This is achieved by a number of different methods. -

What I am unclear about is whether these procedures is viewed as being inappropriate, and thus should be disallowed. We do not structure these payments against a specific request from the customer, rather we undertake this structuring as a routine. I am advised that there may even be software in the UK which filters such payments for restructuring in the event that the original message has been structured in such a way that it will be caught by the OFAC filters.

Were we to disallow all payments which are potentially subject to the OFAC process, or forward messages in such a way that they would be caught, then clearly this would have a significant affect upon our business within the Middle East, but also the Group's business within correspondent banking.

Equally given the likely volumes it is impractical to submit each payment to a process of referral to HBUS.

I would be grateful for your clarification as to whether what is currently going on is acceptable, or whether we should be adopting a different practice.

I recognise that with regard to sanctions which clearly bind HBME (e.g. - Iraq) we have no choice other than to ensure that sanctions are observed, that we undertake no transactions which are potentially caught by the sanctions, other than those permitted on the food for oil basis. I have separately resolved the issue of EU sanctions, which would theoretically bind HBME as an EU person, where we have confirmation that to observe the sanctions within UAE would place the bank at risk of double jeopardy. I apologise for the length of the note, but having spoken to Mark Taylor both of us are a little unclear as to how far we are expected to observe sanctions which are non-binding in our jurisdictions in the current climate.

Anne, thanks for the update.

As your aware HBEU have to comply with the FATF regulations soon, which means full disclosure for all MT100/MT103 payments from all banks.

As my previous e-mail explained these payments would then be sent to HBUS for processing (examples of the types of instructions you're receive have been sent previously) and it is my belief that they will full into the normal OFAC process. Your already processing USD payments from two existing accounts held

The majority of payments will be processed with HBEU sending a MT100/MT103 to the beneficiary bank and HBUS will receive the MT202 cover payment (again your already doing this).

Can I suggest that I call you today to discuss this further at 9am your time? Can you set up a conference call that interested parties (in cc above) can join in? If it's too short notice please advise me of a convienient time/date (I'm 8 hours ahead).

Gary, I understand from Nancy Hedges that you are looking for feedback on the Bank Melli proposal. The position of HBUS Compliance remains unchanged re this proposal in that all transactions involving Bank Melli must be fully disclosed and represented in one single transaction that reflects the complete flow of funds. Full disclosure will allow the HBUS payments filter to stop the USD transactions involving Bank Melli and will allow for review of the transaction by HBUS Payment Operations staff to ensure that the transaction fits the definition of a U-turn transaction allowable for processing under the U-turn exemption of the OFAC Iranian sanction.

It is still my understanding that the document attached below (see email from Denise Reilly dated August 29, 2001) is the operative document that outlines the operational process and transaction flows. The transaction flows were approved by Legal Counsel as fitting the U-turn exemption requirements. The next step was that the operational process must be agreed between HBUS Payment Operations and HBEU Payment Operations. At which point, prior to making any proposal to Bank Melli (or any other Iranian banks) HBUS Compliance must inform OFAC and our Senior Management Committee of the proposal and the agreed upon operational procedures.

After you have reviewed and provided us with your comments, which may require amendments to the business case, HSBC Bank USA had intended to present the business case to our Senior Management Committee prior to acceptance of the plan. Executive Summary

This paper has been produced in order for the Senior Management Committee (SMC) of HSBC Bank USA (HBUS) to evaluate whether or not HBUS will process US dollar (USD) payments initiated by Iranian Banks via accounts held with HSBC Bank Plc (HBEU), using the process provided to HBEU by HBUS dated 29 August 2001. This operational process may be amended at any time and HBEU will be required to adhere strictly to the new procedures as advised by HBUS.

Currently, it is estimated that Iranian banks issue up to 700 USD payments a day using their USD service providers, mainly banks in the UK and Europe, which in turn use their New York USD correspondents to effect the payments. It is believed that some service providers amend the payments to ensure Iran is not mentioned in the body of the payment instruction to their USD correspondent. This process minimises the risk of payments being referred to OFAC.

Institutional Banking and PCM believe there is a substantial income opportunity to sell a USD payments proposition to Iranian Banks in view of the impending FATF regulations, which are due to become effective in Q2 2003. The new regulations dictate that each bank (effecting the payments on behalf of their clients) within each FATF member country must ensure the full name, address and account number of the ordering party are quoted on the payment instructions. This increases the risk of Iranian payments being held in the USA as they may fall foul of the OFAC regulations. The Iranian Banks have now prioritised this issue and are now actively seeking a solution from their banks, including HSBC.

We believe that HSBC could offer the Iranian Banks a solution that facilitates a way for them to effect USD payments to beneficiaries outside the USA using the 'U-Turn' process documented within the OFAC regulations for Iran. HBUS have already provided HBEU with their operational requirements to process these U-Turn payments and therefore SMC approval is being sought prior to HBEU scoping potential IT changes and the production of a service proposition for the Iranian Banks. This business case also highlights the potential risks should approval not be given.

Background

Iran Representative office was formally opened on 11th of November 1999. Following the establishment of the office the volume of business between Iranian banks / companies and Group offices has been increasing all the time. The Group now has an excellent relationship with all Iranian banks and some very large Iranian corporates such as National Iranian Oil Co, National Petrochemical Co, National Iranian Gas Co, National Iranian Steel Co, top Iranian insurance companies, Ministry of Power, Ministry of Post and Telecommunications etc.

About 80% of Iran's foreign trade, totalling USD25 billion, is denominated in USD. Iran undertakes a considerable volume of trade in markets in which HSBC is represented, enabling the Group to leverage its global footprint. Our Iran Representative office has worked hard over the past three and a half years to build a positive image of Iran through road shows, visits, supporting trade missions and by referring good Iranian business to Group offices. This has shown HSBC to its customers as a bank that is able to do business in difficult markets and as a result added considerable value to the Group. Strategically, Iran is the country in the Middle East region with the most development potential for HSBC in the long term. It has the world's fifth largest oil reserves, second largest gas reserves, substantial mineral reserves and a large well educated population.

The Iran Representative office was established to develop relationships and credibility for HSBC in the market. This objective has been achieved and the Group is well placed to develop its operation from a position of considerable goodwill. Details of HSBC's business with Iran and Iranian entities are shown in Appendix 1.

Opportunity

The FAFT regulations are due to be implemented in Q2 2003 and will force banks, within the FAFT countries, to disclose all details of the ordering and beneficiary parties, effectively ending the practice currently undertaken for Iranian payments. The Iranian banks have yet to hear from their existing providers, mainly Lloyds Bank and Standard Chartered Bank, and we believe there is currently a window of opportunity.

However, during the past two years, HBEU and HBUS have been in discussions about how we can process these transactions, identifying the operational processes and compliance issues involved. After meetings with OFAC and external counsel, HBUS has produced a payments process. It will be scoped by HBEU, subject to SMC approving this paper, in order to identify their operational, compliance and IT issues before providing Sales with a service proposition.

HBEU / HBUS have identified that by using the 'U-Turn' payment method, Iranian banks can effect transactions to beneficiary accounts outside the USA. This method will allow HBEU to send HBUS payment instructions with Iranian entities quoted on the instructions and yet at the same time be compliant with FATF and OFAC guidelines. The proposed service proposition will provide a suitable disclaimer to ensure HSBC is not held liable for any payments which have not met the 'U-Turn' criteria and as a result been referred to OFAC.

Benefits

- Payment volumes are estimated at 700 per day of which 70% will be commercial payments. Transaction income is estimated at USD4M, assuming that HSBC wins all the business at an average item price of USD30. We believe that charges being levied by other banks at the moment are far higher than this.
- Balance income in HBEU.
- Reputation within Iran and the potential to leverage additional business.

Risks If Approval Declined

- If HBUS declines to process these transactions, then consideration will need to be given to closing all existing Iranian bank USD accounts with the HSBC Group.
- Should the above occur the current Group annual income of USD2M from Iranian Banks will be under threat.
- The market will perceive that HSBC does not support Iranian business
- The adverse impact on our Representative office in Tehran.

Summary

It is anticipated that Iran will become a source of increasing income for the Group going forward and if we are to achieve this goal we must adopt a positive stance when encountering difficulties. We are aware of the concerns expressed by HBUS but strongly believe that by working together we can overcome them using means which are perfectly legitimate and in accordance with rules laid down by the relevant regulatory bodies. I hope we will be able to resolve this issue otherwise I fear we will destroy future value in a market which has substantial potential for the Group.

It will be appreciated if you could raise this paper to your SMC at the earliest opportunity and advise me of the decision as soon as possible.

Appendix 1

- 1- Medium Term Project Finance Line Various Group Offices. USD500M. This line covers a number of individual BCA backed project finance loans. It is denominated largely in USD. The facility requires that Iranian banks effect regular USD repayments. So far under this facility USD35M is utilised. HSBC now has a mandate from National Petrochemical Co. and Technip of France for USD155M to arrange financing for Olefine 9 project. Two other projects, one for USD145M for Styrene Monomer out of the UK and one for USD170M out of Japan will be financed by HSBC through structured finance outside the above line. The latter, for Mitsui with JBIC cover is already finalised and the other one is near completion. The provisioning for Iran has been reduced to 5% in December 2002, which will make it easier for HSBC to undertake more projects in Iran in the near future. With this in mind HSBC Project and Export Finance have decided to increase the above line to USD1bn.
- 2- Short Term Trade Refinancing Agreement HBME Dubai USD50M, BACB USD25M. These lines are denominated in USD and require the USD loans to be booked at HBME Dubai or BACB London.
- 3- Wheat Finance lines with HSBC Australia USD50M and HSBC Canada USD100M.
- 4 L/C's Issued for Iranian Companies Abroad Various Group Offices.

 HSBC offices are developing relationships with Iranian Government and non Government companies. The L/C's issued are normally denominated in USD. Following NIOC's acceptance of HSBC as one its listed banks, HSBC Bank Middle East now handles Iran's oil export related L/C's. Turnover for this business is about USD400M per year.
- 5 USD Clearing Accounts. HSBC Bank plc has a number of existing USD accounts for Iranian banks, which are used for payments clearing purposes.
- 6 Treasury and Capital Markets
 HSBC Investment bank has transacted in excess of USD1bn of Bond business with Iran generating an income of over GBP700k in 2002. HBME Dubai and HSBC Markets operate active foreign exchange and money market lines with the Central Bank of Iran and Iranian banks.
- 7 Potential Business
 a- HSBC is actively pursuing an Asset Management mandate with the Central Bank which will require USD payments to be paid and received.
 b- Iran has entered the capital market for the first time in 20 years, issuing USD1bn worth of paper through the Central Bank. The budget for the next year is USD 2bn with some to be issued in Islamic form. HSBC has a very good chance of being nominated to lead manage part of the conventional issue and a good chance of being nominated for the Islamic issue. Both require USD payments to be paid and received.
 c- HSBC may form an Internet Bank in Iran, which will require an active USD payment capability.

The key thing to note is that all existing and potential business involves a regular and substantial flow of USD payments both in and out.

IRAN - USD PAYMENTS

Ajay / Gary,

As discussed, I attach a copy of the draft discussion paper on Iran.

David Hodgkinson discussed this paper, and the general topic of Iran, with various members of the top team during the recent offsite in London. Notably, he held discussions with Youssef Nasr covering, amongst other things, the topic of USD payments.

David advised yesterday that he is keen for HBME, together with HBUS, to explore in more detail the alternative ways in which we might be able to offer USD payment services to transan banks. Youssef Nasr has suggested that our first point of contact in HBUS should be Paul Lee, their legal advisor.

I had a brief telephone conversation with Paul this afternoon during which we agreed that the best way to take this forward would be to have the relevant PCM specialists within each organisation work together on the preparation of a feasibility study that examines the alternative options and the risks associated with each.

Paul has recommended that you work closely with external legal counsel in Washington to ensure that the various legal and compliance implications of each option are properly considered. Paul has suggested that you make contact with Carolyn Wind, HBUS' Head of Compliance, who will be able to put you in contact with their recommended external counsel. I would greatly appreciate it if you could progress this with a view to having a draft of the feasibility study available for review by HBME/HBUS senior management by 21 November. Subject: IRAN - STRATEGY DISCUSSION PAPER

Following the discussions initiated by Ajay Bhandoola with Paul Lee which I know happened at Yousself Nasr's suggestion, Paul Lee made contact with me expressing some concerns.

Having considered the strategy discussion paper, there seemed to me to be a number of issues which require clarification, particularly in relation to OFAC.

In no particular order these are as follows:-

I am not sure that the interpretation of the U-turn exemption relating to the Iran sanctions is accurate. A detailed consideration of the OFAC sanction in question makes it clear that the initiator and beneficiary of a U-turn qualifying payment must be both non-US and non-tranian. I attach a summary note prepared by John Root (who happens to be a US lawyer) which I hope is of some assistance, although it is a general note relating to all OFAC sanctions not just those relating to Iran. The position is not helped however by what appears to be contradictory advice on OFAC's own website where in one example Bank Meill is described as being capable of benefiting from a U-turn exemption, but in another example is excluded by reason of the fact that it is a government owned franian bank. We will seek to clarify this apparent discrepancy.

I am of course aware from my past, of the existence of a number of USD denominated facilities lesued in relation to Iran. What concerns me is the extent to which such facilities, if they remain in USD, are viable once there is a requirement to disclose details of the remitter of settling payments. Would this not make settlement under these facilities somewhat complex.

I am not sure that HBUS are aware of the fact that HBEU are already providing clearing facilities for four Iranian banks, presumably including USD clearance. Bank Markazi is named in the OFAC sanctions as a government owned bank and thus on the face of it not able to benefit from U-turn exemptions. I think we should give consideration to the current PCM services and the identity of the banks to whom those services are currently provided in the context of considering our overall risk appetite.

When we considered the Bank Melli clearing proposition my understanding was that we would consider either enhanced screening of payments for the U-turn exemption within HBUS (with presumably that extra cost being supported by HBUS) or alternatively looking to pre-screen payments for U-turn compliance within HBEU, is this contemplated by the proposed expansion of activity in relation to PCM?

I am not sure that the current political position with regard to the US has changed in any significant manner from the point at which we determined that Project Beluga, and the Bank Melli clearing proposition were inappropriate.

As I would be rejuctent to undertake significant work, particularly in relation to the incurring of US.

Attorneys' fees, before it was clear that this was worthwhile, I would be grateful for an indication from you or those cooled as to whether further work would be appropriate at this stage.

Regards

David

IRAN - STRATEGY DISCUSSION PAPER PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

Purpose ·

This paper has been prepared to seek GHQ's "in-principle" agreement, and HBUS' "no objection", to:

- the adoption of a more agercssive approach to the pursuit of Itanian business opportunities; and
- an acceleration of the Group's strategy of "gradual engagement" with Iran.

Brief Country Overview

The Iranian market offers substantial untapped potential for the HSBC Group. That said, there are sociodemographic and political challenges that need to be considered when determining strategy. To briefly summarise some of the country-specific highlights:

Economy

- = With a GDP of c. 110bm in 2002 Iran is the 2nd largest economy (after Saudi Arabia) in the Middle East and North Africa region, The country experienced an average 5.8% growth in GDP over the past three years, and GDP is forecast to reach 8% next year. This growth has been largely driven by government policy changes (some of which are described below). The strong performance of the cit and agricultural sectors have also contributed,
- Iran's economy is heavily reliant on oil. The country has proven reserves of c. 90bn barrels, the 3rd largest in the world (after Saudi Arabia and Iraq), accounting for 8.5% of the global total. The development of Iran's oil industry has, however, suffered as a consequence of the US sanctions. Iranian oil production has remained relatively stable for the past decade, whilst global oil production has shown steady, albeit small, year-on-year growth (c, 14% up since 1993). Whilst the oil sector's share of franian GDP has declined from 30-40% in the 1970s to less than 20% today, oil revenue still accounts for c. 80% of the country's export earnings and anywhere between 40-70% of government revenue, depending on the prevailing oil price.
- . Iran has an estimated 26,60 cubic metres of natural gas, the second largest proven reserves in the world (after Russia), accounting for c. 15% of the global total. Iran is far behind some other Middle East countries (e.g. Qater and Oman) in the development of its export capabilities. The Iranian government has recognised the potential for significant growth in this area and has set an ambitious target of doubling production by 2005.
- * According to the Economist Intelligence Unit, Iran has only USD7.8bn of external debt, a relatively small proportion of annual GDP (c. 7%). The country has, in recent years, enjoyed a positive trade balance and had, at September 2002, approximately USD2 Ibn of foreign currency reserves (approx. 10 months import cover).
- · Although Iran's economic development has been strong in recent years it could, arguably, be much stronger. The recent reforms (discussed briefly below) have had a positive affect but these have proceeded as a relatively slow pace. The country's growth is still significantly hindered by the ongoing US economic sanctions as well as an archaic domestic banking system dominated by bureaucratic and inefficient government owned banks. Should the sanctions ever be lifted, and the liberalisation initiatives secclerated, the economic growth potential (and opportunities for strategically well-positioned banks) would be enumous.

Socio-Demographic

- = Iran's population of c. 65m is the second largest in the MENA region (after Egypt). On a per capita basis, the country's GDP is a relatively low USD 1,700.
- han has a strong education system. The country has a c. 85% literacy rate (97% amongst those under 29).
- · However, like several other countries in the region, Iran faces a significant demographic challenge with v. 50% of the population under 20 years of age.
- . The Iranian government has been making a concerted effort to create jobs, with some success in 2002. That said, the unemployment rate remains high (estimated at 15% in 2003) and with 700,000 educated youths entering the labour market each year, there are inevitable social trusions (see Political comments below).

Political

- Iran's 1979 constitution laid the foundation for an Islamic theorem, with a supreme religious leader acting as the country's most powerful political figure, presiding over a legal system based on Sharia law. Following

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

Khomeini's death in 1989 the constitution was amended and some of the supreme religious leader's executive powers were transferred to the elected president. As a result the country now has an, at times, "uncomfortable" dual power structure in which decision making authority is shared between (amongst others) the supreme religious leader and an elected president.

- There has been significant media coverage, in recent years, of the ongoing internal conflicts within Iran between the so-called "conservatives" (notably the Guardian Council, a legislative watchdog run by conservative clerics) and the "reformists" (led by President Khatami). Although Khatami's government has a clear mandate from the populace (he was re-elected with 78% of the vote in June 2001), the Guardian Council have succeeded in blocking a number of social, political and economic reforms that had been approved by the parliament. The Expediency Council (another government body headed by former President Akbar Rafsanjani) has, however, helped mediate some of the disputes, enabling the introduction of various reforms. For example:
 - a new Foreign Direct Investment Law;
 - abolition of foreign exchange control;
 - the unification of the exchange rate;
 - tax & tanff reforms;
 - the creation of an oil stabilisation fund;
 - laws allowing the establishment of private banks.

These reforms have helped create a more positive environment for foreign investment and have facilitated, amongst other things, tran's successful entrance into the international capital markets with 2 Eurobond issues.

That notwithstanding, the pace of change is, for many, not fast enough and the country's demographic pressures and unemployment problems (60% of those that are unemployed are between 16-24) provide for potential unrest. The frustration amongst some student groups boiled over into street demonstrations earlier this year. These were quelled easily enough but most international commentators continue to believe that demostic tensions will remain for the foreseeable future, slowing the pace of reform and economic development.

- In 2001, the US renewed sanctions on Iran for 5 years under the Iran Libya Sanctions Act (ILSA). They also succeeded in blocking Iran's accession to the World Trade Organization (WTO). Tensions escalated last year when President Bush designated Iran as one of the principal countries supporting international terrorism. Relations between Iran and the US (and certain other countries) have further deteriorated in the past 12 months. A few notable examples of recent problems include:
 - The withdrawal of Moody's B2 rating on Iran following a US Treasury investigation into whether the rating agency may have violated US sanctions against the country further source relations.
- 2) The US has repeatedly accused Iran of harbouring terrorists and destabilising reform efforts in Iraq.
- 3) The death of a Canadian journalist, in Iranian police custody, has undermined Iran's relations with Canada,
- 4) The UK and Iran have had a diplomatic spat over the detainment (for potential extradition) of an Iranian diplomat who was studying in the UK. The British embassy in Tehron was subsequently shot at in what may (or may not) have been a related event.
- 5) Iran's nuclear policy (notably its unwillingness to sign additional protocols to allow enhanced inspections of its nuclear facilities) has put the country at loggerheads with, not only the US, but also some of the countries that are more favourably disposed to Iran politically (e.g. various European countries and Russia).

THR believe "Past experience shows that Iran will eventually find a pragmatic solution to stabilize the situation". It is worth noting that French and German companies / banks have been able to gain considerable credibility and business at Iran through their adoption of a pragmatic approach to the international political tensions.

HSRC's Association with Iran

Long History in Iran. HBME was founded under a British Royal Charter as the Imperial Bank of Persia in 1889, The Bank's first Chief Manager moved to Tehran that year and, by 1893, the Bank had opened branches in each of Persia's eight largest cities. By the Second World War the Bank had 14 branches across what was, by then, Iran. After the war, the Bank adopted an expansionary policy across the Middle East, establishing branches in Dubai, Museat, Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia between 1946 and 1950. The 60-year banking concession expired in 1949, following which the various Iranian branches were gradually closed. The Tehran main office was the last to close in July 1952, at which time the Bank was re-named BBME.

IRAN - STRATEGY DISCUSSION PAPER PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

BBME re-entered the country through a joint venture (Bank of Iran and the Middle East) in 1959. This bank was, however, nationalised in 1979 following the Islamic revolution.

Initial Re-engagement. HSBC re-entered from in 1999, establishing an HBME representative office in Tehran (THR). This office has, during the past tour years, focused on a) raising the profile of the HSBC Group in fran and b) actively supporting various Group members in their pursuit of business opportunities in Iran. The representative office has been very successful on both counts, with significant business wins in the areas of Project and Export Finance, Trade Finance and Treasury & Capital Markets. THR estimate that Iranian business generates c. USD7m p.a. in revenues for various Group entities,

The articulated strategy of the representative office has been one of "gradual engagement". The objective has been to systematically develop the Group's presence, capabilities and business flows in Iran in a steady and measured manner. Whilst business volumes, and the range of services offered, have continued to grow in the last two years the pace of "gradual engagement" has remained somewhat cautious. As a consequence, strategic initiatives such as "Project Beloga" (briefly described below) have, for a variety of justifiable reasons, been put on hold.

Project "Beluga". This initiative proposed the establishment of an offshore bank, modelled on First Direct, that would offer a range of banking services to customers on the Iranian mainland through remote distribution channels (further details are provided in Appendix A). Given legal restrictions, which inhibit foreign banks from establishing onshore banking operations in Iran, Beluga was seen as the most logical way to progress the strategy of "gradual engagement". The most recent iteration of this initiative (in 2002) did not progress very far as GHQ indicated that, whilst strategically sound, the timing of was not right. (Iran was then, as now, facing strains in its relationship with the US government and the Group was, at the time, actively pursuing acquisition opportunities in the US).

The Next Stage? Iran clearly represents one of the most significant potential growth markets for HBME in the short, medium and long term (a brief synopsis of the potential business opportunities is outlined below). HBME believes that there is a need to:

- Adopt a more proactive / aggressive approach to the pursuit of new business in Iran; and
- More clearly define the next stage of its process of gradual engagement.

Guidance is required from GHQ (and HBUS) on whether they would have any concerns with HBME's proposals to accelerate business dealings with Iran.

Business Opportunities

HBME believe that the strategy should now be progressed in two phases:

- 1) Phase I. The Group should seek an immediate increase in the quantum of cross-border business undertakenwith Iranian counter-parties. Such will generate incremental business revenues whilst demonstrating, to both the Iranian authorities and our customers, the Group's continued commitment to developing its business / presence in this strategically important market.
- 2) Phase 2. In the medium term, there is a need for a more tangible presence in the country. If legislation were in place to allow us to establish an on-the-ground presence, the preferred route would be the establishment of an HBME branch or wholly owned HBME subsidiary in Tehran. In the absence of such legislation, a "revitalisation" of Project Beluga, in some form, may be a viable option.

Phase 1 - Immediate Opportunities

We perceive there to be immediate opportunities to undertake significantly more profitable and creditworthy business in a variety of different business areas. Specifically:

Trade Finance. The Group has, at present, a USD120m short-term (<365 days) trade cap for Iran, with a forfairing sub-limit of USD20m. The utilization of this limit is very high (consistently > 85%) and, based on market feedback, our limits are substantially below those of our competitors (Standard Chartered, for example, reportedly have a USD500m limit). HBME believe there to be immediate opportunities for further profitable business if the HSBC credit limit were significantly increased and the maximum tenor extended up to 3 years.

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

- 3. Islamic and Corporate Bonds, The government in Ima are considering issuing an Islamic Government Bond (Sokuk) and various substantial Iranian corporate bodies have expressed an interest in undertaking Islamic or conventional corporate bond issues. HSBC Amanah has already secured a working mandate from the possibility of issuing a corporate Islamic bond and, should this lead to a specific issuance, there will be related ancillary business opportunities. If the Group is to have any chance of winning such business it will need a medium term credit limit for Iran.
- 4. Advisory Services. There is a growing demand in Iran, from both private and public sector bodies, for corporate finance advisory services. HSBC will pursue such business opportunities irrespective of whether there is an increase in credit risk limits. The likelihood of success would, however, be enhanced if HSBC's commend commitment to develop its Iranian business can be clearly demonstrated to "Iran Inc.".
- 5. Financial Institutions. THR has been able to nurture profitable business relationships with a variety of frantan banks. Associated income is derived from trade services, project finance, treasury i money market operations and correspondent banking. The Iranian banking system is, effectively, controlled by the Iranian government. THR believe that our relatively small appetits to book s-t and m-t Iranian risk undermines the Group's position in the eyes of the Iranian authorities. This could undermine our chances of retaining the current volumes of business from Iranian banks.
- Payments & Cash Management, Iran undertakes approximately USD25bn of international trade annually, c. 80% of which is denominated in USD.

HBEU PCM currently offer USD payment services to 4 Iranian banks. There is an opportunity to actively market our PCM espabilities to other Iranian commercial banks, including Iran's Central Bank (Bank Markazi).

HBME PCM believe that the potential business to be won would be worth up to USD4m pa.

The US sanctions and the impending UK legislation resulting from the FATF recommendations, however, significantly complicate the USD payments process for Iranian counter-parties. HBME PCM has identified a practical solution that requires additional support from both HBEU and HBUS. As explained under "Issues for Consideration" below, there are still some reservations about undertaking more of this type of business.

To support HBME's desire to more aggressively pursue Iranian business opportunities, and to provide a foundation for the original evolution of our strategy of "gradual engagement", HBME will shortly prepare a paper for GHQ CRF's consideration requesting appropriate increases in relevant country risk limits for Iran.

The identified PCM opportunities have, if pursued, several potential implications (examined under "Issues for Consideration" below). As such, HBME require the "in-principle" support of GHQ (and HBUS) before actively marketing our PCM capabilities in Iran.

Phase 2 - Medium Term Strategy

The request for an increase in credit limits will, if approved, enable the Group to generate increased income from Iran in a variety of business areas. In the medium to long term, however, we need a strategy that provides the Group with the ability to provide a wider range of corporate banking services, domestic personal financial services

(probably a limited offering for high end customers) and various Islamic banking services. (The domestic banking market in Iran is entirely Shariah compliant. There are potential opportunities for HSBC Amanah Finance to develop products for sale; distribution through either an HSBC owned / managed entity or through local banks).

HBME's preferred strategy, when the legislation and market conditions in Iran allow, would be to establish an onshore branch (or, if the law required, a locally incorporated whothy owned subsidiary).

In the absence of any such legislation a "Project Beloga" type structure offers an alternative vehicle through which the process of "gradual engagement" can be progressed. (The establishment of a remote banking operation would not prevent the Group from potentially establishing an onshore branch at a future date).

The business case for fite establishment of a Project Beluga type vehicle is not as robust/compelling as would be the case for an onshore branch. That said, HBME believe that the Beluga option is still worthy of consideration in the medium term as a method of ensuring that HBME remain one of the dominant international banks in Irau. (Standard Chartered have already attained "first mover" status by announcing their intention to establish a branch in Kish Island). Whilst HBME are not advocating any immediate action in this regard they would like to keep their options open to pursue such an initiative in one or two year's time, subject to market developments.

HBME request guidance from GHQ and HBUS on the potential implications for the Group of pursuing such an initiative sooner rather than later, both in terms of reputation and our US business interests.

Issues for Consideration

In assessing HBME's recommendation, GHQ will (in consultation with HBUS), need to consider a number of specific issues:

1) Domestic Political Situation

One of the reasons to accelerate our process of engagement is to demonstrate; to the authorities within Iran, that we are committed to the development of their country. This is seen to be puricularly important given the more aggressive / pragmatic approach to Iranian business adopted by French and German competitor banks.

Such a demonstration should, theoretically, enable HBME to develop a stronger market position in what remains, for the time being, a state-controlled economy. That said, the internal conflicts within Iran's political structure are significant and not all parties within Iran will welcome increased involvement of foreign owned banks in Iran. We consider there to be two potential scenarios with respect to the domestic political situation:

- a) Significant Upheaval. In extreme circumstances (which HBME consider to be highly unlikely) it is possible that the ongoing internal political conflict will escalate, leading to further social unrest and, ultimately, enforced regime change. If such a scenario were considered likely it would, of course, seriously dampen the Group's appetite for immian credit risk and would necessitate a deferral of any Project Beluga-type initiative. (Such a scenario need not, necessarily, discourage the immediate pursuit of PCM business).
- b) Gradual Process of Reform. HBME believe that it is far more realistic to assume that there will be a gradual process of economic and social reform with, admittedly, inevitable internal conflicts along the way. Whilst this latter second will result in sub-optimal economic growth, it does suggest that the economic situation will continue to improve over time and, as such, an increase in credit limits and provision of PCM services is entirely appropriate. The bureaucracy that might be created by my internal conflict could act as a deterrent to the pursuit of a "Phase 2" initiative in the short term. That said, if there is a belief that Iran will, over time, become an increasingly attractive market, then a compelling case can be made for increasing our profile sooner rather than later, notwithstanding the logistical challenges.
- 2. US Regulations. There are two principal areas of US law that would affect any attempt to a) provide USD PCM services to Iranian counter-parties and b) establish a more tangible presence in Iran. (These regulations are unlikely to directly impact the various initiatives that are relient on the provision of increased credit limits):
- LIS Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) regulations, which prohibit US transactions with Iranian entities.
 HBME has received legal advice in 2000, 2001 and 2002 on the OFAC regulations.
 - * Implications for the prevision of PCM services. The sanctions against Iran prohibit US banks from providing correspondent banking services for Iranian banks. The OFAC regulations do, however, allow a mechanism (the "U-Turn exception") whereby USD payments can be settled on behalf of Iranian counterparties, through a US settlement bank, provided that neither the originating or beneficiary bank are US institutions. In practice, the U-Turn mechanism currently works as follows in HSBC:

- a) An Ivanian bank opens a USD account with HBEU;
- b) HBEU receive USD payment instructions from an Iranian bank in favour of a beneficiary account held at a non-US bank. HBEU instructs the beneficiary bank and arranges for settlement through its own USD account with HBUS:
- c) Provided there is no reference to the Iranian counter-party in the USD settlement instruction, the transaction would pass through HBUS seamlessly. If, however, the name of the Iranian counter-party is included in the settlement instruction, HBUS will be obligated to check whether the transaction qualifies for the OFAC U-Turn exception. If in doubt, HBUS will refer the transaction to OFAC. OFAC would then either approve or reject the transaction. In certain circumstances (e.g. the remitter is a known terrorist), OFAC has the right to arrange for the funds to be frozen.

Until now HBEU have not been required to reveal the identity of the originating Iranian counter-party. UK legislation related to FATF regulations will henceforth require the identity of the ordering customer to be clearly communicated in all such payments. If, therefore, the Group decides to pro-actively promote USD payments services to Iranian banks the payments will need to be processed by HBUS with full details to satisfy OFAC requirements. There will, therefore, will be a need for additional resources in HBUS to identify, check and process such payments. Two concerns, in addition to the costs and legistical difficulties, have been raised:

- (11.1) HBUS could be held liable (and staff within HBUS, personally liable) if mistakes are made.
 - The increased volume of Iran related transactions would be noted by OFAC. In the current political environment it is conceivable that the US administration will think less highly of HSBC if it grows its business dealings with Iran (see below commentary on the international political situation).

We understand that the impending change in UK legislation has led Lloyds TSB to give notice that they will be withdrawing their existing payments service offered to Iranian banks.

- Implications for the establishment of a more tangible presence. If the list the last the last tangence are supported by the last tangence are s
- The USA Patriot Act, passed in the aformach of the various attacks on 11 September 2001, governs US correspondent banking arrangements for foreign banks generally.

Under the OFAC regulations no Iranian incorporated bank can have a bank account in the US. As such, the provisions of the Patriot Act apply indirectly to any Iranian bank that uses HBEU to process U-Turn payments. Patriot Act requirements would, in such circumstances, be imposed on HBEU by virtue of its maintaining a correspondent account at HBUS. HBEU would therefore have to satisfy itself that each of the relevant Iranian banks has a rigorous know-your-customer and anti-money laundering program.

Neither of the two applicable laws present an insurmoustable barrier to either the relevant Phase 1 strategy (i.e. the provision of PCM services to Iranian banks, including Bank Markazi) or the potential Phase 2 strategy. That said, the laws do create a significant amount of additional workload and, in the case of the OFAC regulations, open the Group to additional potential risks. Other issues are raised by the need to liaise with the US authorities to ensure compliance with these laws (see below).

3. International Political Situation

Iran has, as already explained, faced a variety of international political problems in recent years. The country's standing in the international community is, at time of writing, not strong and it looks extremely unlikely that the US sanctions against Iran will be lifted in the short to medium term. That said, the prospect of the US escalating its anti-tran rhetoric and taking direct military action against the country can be considered to be highly remote. The international political tensions influence different elements of the strategy in different ways:

 Credit Limits. If the external political environment for Iran remains tense, it could complicate the domestic reform effort and, in turn, undermine the economic prospects for the country. That said, the country has a strong economy, despite the existence of sanctions. As long as we believe that there is little chance of either;

- a) the imposition of UN sanctions related to the nuclear conflict (highly untikely) or
- b) a direct military conflict with fran (extremely unlikely).

we need not let the rather delicate international political situation deter us from seeking increased credit limits / business flows from Iran. (The US government is unlikely to view the provision of USD750m of credit facilities dramatically different from the provision of USD100m or USD250m).

- PCM Business. The international political tensions are, however, of relevance when considering whether to offer USD payment arrangements to Iran's banking sector and, specifically, its Central Bank. Such arrangements would (as explained above) necessitate the use of US based banks for USO clearing. The US authorities would, given changes in the UK law, be aware of the Group's increased interaction with Iranian country-parties. Given the delicate political climate, there is the potential for HBUS to lose the valuable goodwill of the US authorities if the Group is perceived to be co-operating with what the US perceive to be an unfiltently nation. From a Middle East perspective its is in the Group's commercial and strategic interests to provide greater PCM services to Iran's financial sector. GHQ, in consultation with HBUS, need to advise whether it is in the Group's strategic interests to do so.
- Phase 2 strategies. The most recent iteration of Project Beluga (informally proposed in 1H02) did not proceed as, in the view of GHQ, the timing was not right given, inter alia, the ongoing tensions with the US. Iran's present international political situation is, if anything, more tense than in mid-02. That said, the HSBC situation has evolved since that time as the Household acquisition has been completed. This could, depending on one's perspective, justify an adoption of either a greater or lesser level of sensitivity to international / US political concerns vis a visitan.

Summary & Recommendation/Request

tran is a resource rich country which is in the process of developing / liberalising its economy and finance sector.

There will, in the short term, be attractive transactional opportunities for financial institutions that have the appropriate marketing resources and requisite credit appetite. In the long-term a compelling strategic case can therefore be made for the Group to strengthen its foothold in what will become an increasingly important market.

With this in mind, HBME wishes to accelerate the pace of its engagement with IranThe extent of HBME's engagement has, in the recent past, been curtailed by either:

- a) lack of credit appetite (largely at GHQ level) or
- b) concerns regarding the political implications of a closer association with Iran.

This paper has been raised to seek GHQ's approval (and HBUS' "no objection") to a two-plinsed, three pronged strategy which sees the Group, in the short term:

- formally acknowledging an increased appende for Iranian risk;
- actively marketing PCM services to a larger number of Iranian financial institutions, including Iran's Central Bank, and, in the medium to long term;

iii) actively pursuing the opportunity to enhance our presence in Iran through either the establishment of an onshore branch/subsidiary or, if the law does not allow that, the pursuit of a Project Beluga type offshore banking solution,

Whilst recommending that the process of engagement is accelerated. HBME are mindful of the potential implications for other HSBC businesses and the HSBC name in general. As such, the guidance and views of both GHQ and HBUS are sought.

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

Appendix A - Background to Project Beluga

HBME has, since, mid-2000, been considering "Project Beluga" (in various forms) as the logical next step in the process of "gradual engagement". The rationale behind this initiative, and a basic outline of the business model, follows:

Rackground. Foreign banks are not presently permitted to establish anything more than a representative office on the Iranian mainland. Various Central Bank officials have indicated that the market will "soon" open up to foreign banks but opinions differ on when exactly this might happen. Legislation introduced in 2000 does, however, allow foreign banks to incorporate a wholly owned "offshore bank" in one of Iran's three Free Trade Zones (FTZs). Such banks can offer services remotely to individuals and corporations on the Iranian mainland.

Rationale. In line with the strategy of "gradual engagement" HBME have, in both 1H01 & 1H02, looked at the possibility of establishing an HSBC branded / managed remote distribution bank (modeled on First Direct) in Iran's Kish Island FTZ. Such was, at the time, seen to be the most logical way to progress our Iran strategy.

Business Model. The most recent iteration of this initiative involved a JV with two of Iran's largest banks (Bank Melli and Bank Saderat). The business model envisaged the Kish incorporated JV providing a limited range of financial services to customers on the mainland through a combination of a) direct banking channels and b) JV representatives based in selected Melli and Saderat branches, it envisaged a relatively simple product offering initially (i.e. deposits, payments) which would gradually evolve (i.e. credit cards, wealth management, trade facilities) over time. The primary objectives of the initiative were to:

- . build the HSBC brand in the Iranian market,
- · gain "first entry" status and position the Bank for future growth; and
- · develop new revenue streams.

Negotiations with Melli and Saderat did not progress very far in 2002 as GHQ indicated that, whilst strategically sound, the timing of such an initiative was not right.

EPS HBEU have been manually intervening in the processing of Iranian bank payment instructions by removing the remitter's name and country to prevent the probable trigger of a filter in the US, and the subsequent declaration to OFAC (and possible freezing) of the funds.

EPS have apparently been Instructed by Compliance to cease this practice. (It is somewhat unclear whether this instruction was in writing, or when it was given and by whom.) However, given "long-standing valuable relationships", IBL have purportedly negotiated a cut-off date of 31DEC03 for the current practice to stop. (Brian Richardson and John Wilkinson in essence deny that they were even aware of the practice, let alone that they have been pushing for an extension of it.)

After 31DEC03 complete payment instructions will be sent on to HBUS. EPS also intend to consider MT202 cover payments to be "unacceptable" after such date, and payment instructions will be fully formatted on a MT100/103 serial basis only. However, there has been some question as to whether the MT100/103 format is an actual legal requirement. So far this does not appear to be the case. A further winkle is FATF Special Recommendation 7, which calls for accurate and meaningful originator information. Individual countries are then expected to exempt FI-to-FI transfers.

There are approximately 11 payments every business day. USD clearing services are provided for the following banks:

Meiti Tejarat Keshavarzi Markazi Export Development Bank Sepah

All of the banks are on the OFAC list of state-owned banks, except for the Export Development Bank. As it is a reasonable assumption that the Export Development Bank is a state-owned bank, either its omission is an oversight by OFAC, or one of the other banks may in fact be the Export Development.

Bank, At any rate, it is prudent to assume that it is also a target of the OFAC sanctions.

Two banks - Tejarat and the Export Development Bank - account for around 90% of monthly payments (210 out of 233).

John Wilkinson, the HBEU RM, should notify the Iranian banks of the above payment instruction changes by letter at the end of October. Wilkinson is awaiting HBUS agreement before sending the letter. The Iranian banks will be given a disclaimer on the possibility of the application of OFAC sanctions. The disclaimer will state that the Iranian bank in question will remain responsible for complying with OFAC sanctions. The full effectiveness of such a disclaimer can be doubted, particularly as it is not market practice to have written agreements with correspondent banks.

Project Wolf, which should be effective at the end of November, will not necessarily screen for compliance with the "U-turn" payments exception, according to Paul Proctor. Wolfs focus will be to screen for, e.g., terrorists and drug traffickers against government-issued lists. HBUS will continue to be responsible for full screening with regard to OFAC sanctions, which have a broader application than the names screened by the Wolf system.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

A related issue is the effectiveness of Iranian correspondent bank money-laundering control procedures for the purpose of USA Patriot Act certification.

The business state that they intend to keep payments "at a low level" but then add that higher payments will require a re-negotiation of fees. Also, there are plans under consideration to increase the USD clearing business with Iranian banks - provided that HBUS are in "full agreement".

The practice of amending instructions is clearly a long standing one which has hitherto continued despite the RMs believing it had ceased some years ago. I have never seen anything in writing to show how/when this practice commenced or who authorised it but clearly the proposed termination will need to be handled with sensitivity if relationships with the Iranian banks are not to be damaged.

John,

Further to recent exchanges of emails, I detail below my responses to the queries raised, together with a synopsis of my concerns on this issue.

Responses

HBUS have not been advised of the new procedures- we have attempted to engage them in our proposals before but have been expressly forbidden from continuing dialogue with them. I have been given a further directive from Malcolm Eastwood, Senior Manager Payment Services in the last few days not to contravene these instructions from our colleagues in US.

The procedures have therefore not been agreed and any potential changes in volumes of traffic are unknown to them.

iranian banks have not been provided with clear guidelines with regard to the new formatting requirements. Possible solutions have been put forward by HBEU Payment Services but I do not believe they have been communicated to the Iranian banks. We can suggest that payments on behalf of the Iranians for small amounts are sent to us on a test basis but this does not give us or them a guarantee that all payments will be effected without problem.

The implications regarding OFAC are purely what we have gleaned from the OFAC website and previous historical correspondence. We have had no direct contact with OFAC and, being a US government agency, I understand that this would prove fruitless. In short, I believe straight MT202s are acceptable to US banks, providing full disclosure of the U-turn payment is apparent, althoughMT202 cover payments in support of direct MT103s are not acceptable. Additionally, OFAC have stated that they retain the right to freeze payments at their own discretion.

Concerns

U-turn payments- there have been a number of views expressed regarding the validity, or otherwise, of the U-turn payments submitted to us. As a UK bank, our own understanding of US legislation is limited and, whilst we might believe we know what constitutes a U-turn payment, it would seem extremely risky for us to start telling Iranian banks what will and what will not comply. Lengthy discussions, per se, may expose us to unnecessary risks.

It was my understanding that the original business case submitted by Rick Pudner, Head of CIB, Middle East in January 2003 was not signed off. Indeed, Marilyn Spearing has underlined the strong operational and reputational risks involved and further support to this view was given by Bagley who suggested holding off due to the acquisition of Household. I would be grateful if you could confirm that the appetite for this business has been authorised at the appropriate level.

The position of Risk Management Services (RMS) is becoming increasingly untenable. RMS controls the Project Wolf filter and yet we have been requested to find ways to circumnavigate our own and other institutions' compliance filters. My own role is predominantly to protect the Bank from reputational risk and I now feel uncomfortable in compromising my position by leading IBL, PCM or Iranian counterparties down certain routes which may directly contravene the splrit of the Compliance framework. If this business is to be progressed or expanded (as indicated in Nigel Weir's note) the impetus for formatting solutions will need to come from PCM MEM, HBEU's role is to pay as instructed and with effect from 1 January 2004 this will be reinforced, as no Iranian payments will be amended.

Despite coherent arguments being put forward by a number of parties within HSBC, it is still worth noting that some US banks, notably Bank of New York, refuse to deal with U-turn payments due to the high risk nature of these transactions and the potential for possible fines, censure or reputational risk. I have copied Group Compliance in on this note to ensure they are aware of and do not have a problem with this continuing risk to HSBC.

I have been alarmed by recent inferences that Payment Services have been amending the Iranian banks' payments without the knowledge or consent of IBL RM or IBL Compliance. This has been a long standing practice and to evold future doubt, I will relierate the points made in Malcolm Eastwood's memo to Nige!
Weir of 22 Jan 03. If we are to continue to effect these payments, we will require your commitment that Iranian customers will be provided with a template and it is made clear at the proposal stage that: -payments must be submitted in this format only. -that payments submitted in the wrong format which may be sequestrated by OFAC are entirety Iranian remitter's risk, albeit we will submit the appropriate OFAC request forms licences at the funds when sanctions are lifted. to retrieve -that we will not be liable for any funds sequestrated as a result of changes in Iranian Sanctions US authorities which might lead to a payment "correctly" formatted being sequestrated. by the . I am uncertain as to the extent to which the Iranian banks are aware of the differing views and procedures adopted by individual US banks which complicates this issue, but it is imperative that they are aware of our stance from 1 January 2004. I think you now have all the information which is available at this stage but please let me have your views when you have had a chance to digest and discuss with your customers, Regards

This note forms a discussion paper formulated following various conversations that have taken place over the last few weeks. As the custodian of HBEUs payments operation I currently feel that we may be exposing ourselves to unnecessary and unacceptable Reputational and Operational Risk when we are handling payments originating from FIs domiciled in or who are a local branch of an FI domiciled in an OFAC regulated country. As a result there is a need to firstly clarify both the OFAC and HBUS position with regard to these payments and then to determine/communicate the way forward to the RM and PCM Sales teams.

I would emphasise that in no way we are seeking to avoid the OFAC filtering/sequestration arrangements here. Indeed whilst HBEU are not bound by these requirements the FATF principles which are scheduled to become legislation early next year and our own payments filter which is currently being built will take us closer to the US model. I merely wish to establish which way OFAC are looking to deal with the sequestration issue so that we can plan compliance and avoid substantial potential losses which can result from the "incorrect" processing of these payments.

BACKGROUND CASES

The above comments are prompted by two high profile OFAC related cases seen in the last few months.

The first is a case involved Ing Bank sending a payment for USD 3M to BBVA from and to the account of the same Cuban Bank beneficiary. HBEU forwarded this payment to HBUS via the Serial Payment route. The HBUS filter identified the Cuban bene and the funds were sequestrated by OFAC. The result of all this is that we are in the closing stages of correspondence between HBEU and Ing lawyers pending a Court case between our two banks. Ing are contending that HBEU should not have sent this payment via a Serial method and that we should have converted the message to generate a cover payment which would not have then been sequestrated by OFAC. We are defending our action vigorously and have a strong case built around the fact that we "paid as instructed". Prudence dictates that we have found it necessary to raise a general provision of GBP 2M to cover a potential negative result if and when this goes to Court.

Compliance - OFAC Issues In General And Specific To Iran

The second case involves Iran and Bank Markazi when a payment for USD 7.5M was frozen again because the payment was sent via a Serial Route and the OFAC filter identified it as being subject to OFAC rules. Following assertions by HBEU that there was no commercial transaction involved (this was the Iranian Central Bank paying itself at another European bank ie a Money Market transaction) these funds were released but only after a couple of sleepness nights for all of us in London. I have subsequently been advised that this sequestration may have been the result of a clerical error by HBUS but this has not been confirmed to me. Nevertheless HBEU are left settling Standard Chartered's interest claim for late receipt and with an underlying feeling of uncertainty with regard to the Iranian payment issue and the subject of U Turn Payments (we believe that the above payment should have been treated as U Turn) and had thought that this practice was established in the US as a valid payment method specific to Iran.

COMPLIANCE WITH OFAC ISSUES GENERALLY

HBEUs historical practice has been to send these types of payments where the U Turn principal applies (ie funds are generally moving from an European bank to another European bank for the credit of an OFAC regulated entity) via the Cover Payment method. This means that the payment instruction received by HBUS contains no mention of the country or entity involved. My understanding is that this has been accepted practice for many years and that HBEU IBL hold accounts, some in USD for FIs domiciled in these countries ie Cuban, Iranian etc.

There is also evidence (the Ing Bank case being a case in point) that some other European FIs are using HBEU to transact business with these banks, primarily because the benes hold accounts with HBEU but also because they use us as a form of "Filter" for payments being made to the US. Whether we should be supporting this latter business going forward is highly questionable particularly in the light of the FATF regulations. Indeed Ing Bank will be asked to close their account shortly. I feel that there is a need for HBEU IBL to examine the accounts of these OFAC regulated customers to see if there are other examples of other banks with accounts in our books using us for this purpose.

My understanding is that OFACs tolerance of the Cover Payment method is lessening and that there is some pressure being applied to follow the Serial Payment route for all transactions (Denise can you confirm?). Clearly if this is reality this will have major implications for HBEU both from a payments processing and IBL relationship stand point. We therefore need to seek clarification of HBUS/OFACs stance so that we can determine our future payments strategy. Certainly the FATF requirements, whilst not specifying Serial instead of Cover do point toward the principle of "transparency" which the Serial Payment method would support.

IRANIAN PAYMENTS

Turning specifically to Iran we have seen the various papers on the subject of U Turn Payments and I believe that we have a reasonable understanding of what these are. The above Markazi situation has put uncertainty in my mind on the validity of this payment method and also highlighted the fact that HBUS have yet to formally "sign off" the process described in your last note. Our conversation suggests that HBUS are now looking at another "U Turn plus" option and I would like to understand what this means for us as payment processors.

I believe that we need to resolve this issue as a matter of some urgency if we are to avoid incidents like the one highlighted above. The Iranian banks continue to send us what I describe as conditional payment instructions which for HBEU require an element of amendment by ourselves. This introduces operational risk and under FATF principles we should not be amending these payment instructions. Acceptance of these items over many years means that we are bound by the precedents currently in place, and I believe that we need to break these precedents by

- Establishing with HBUS and OFAC the validity of the U Turn Payment principles for Iranian payments. Whether this be by U Turn or U Turn plus I would like these to be signed off by HBUS as soon as possible and certainly by no later than 31/12/02.
- To agree a "template" payment instruction for these U Turn Payments which can be used by PCM Sales and the RM team and sent to the Iranian Banks stipulating that payments must be formatted in this way, confirming that we will be sending these via the Serial method and that any deviation from this template will be at the Iranian Banks own risk. We would also have to state that the validity of this template would be subject to any change in OFAC legislation in the US. In this way we can give ourselves a level of protection from claims relating to capital or interest which may arise from funds being sequestrated or delayed as a result of OFAC seizure.

If we cannot achieve this in the short term then I will have to recommend to my General Manager a view that processing these payments is "unsafe" and that these items should be filtered out and cancelled. This would have severe repercussions for our Groups relationship within the Iranian FIs.

FUTURE BUSINESS STRATEGY

I believe that there is a need, based upon your responses, presumably formulated in conjunction with your colleagues from Compliance for HBEU to consider its business strategy for the continuation/development of its business with OFAC regulated countries. Whilst I am told that there are significant business opportunities particularly with countries such as Iran there are also substantial Reputational and Operational Risks, not to mention Financial losses associated with it.

Continued

Compliance - OFAC Issues In General And Specific To Iran

Whilst I am not suggesting that we should discontinue these established relationships there is a need, in the light of the charging regulatory climate for us to review our position and ensure that we have a correct balance between risk and reward.

I apologise for writing at some length but there has been much happening on this front recently and I thought it appropriate to try and pull all of the somewhat fragmented information together and to share our concerns with you.

The only certainty from all of this is that we cannot delay and prevaricate in this matter for too much longer. We have seen potential losses in excess of USD 10M in the last couple of months and it is now time for HBUS to define exactly what is and what is not acceptable to them.

Your views and those of your colleagues in Compliance would be much appreciated.

Regards.

For the most part, the u-turns that we have processed for HBEU are fully disclosed as per the conditions stated in the attached document last December.

(Document submitted by Denise Reilly to PCM management December 2004)

The remitter, Credit Suisse Zurich, is well aware of the u-turn practices of other U.S. organizations and the requirement for full disclose of the name and address of the originator and the beneficiary.

Please let us know if should return the funds to Credit Suisse Zurich "as per internal policy".

Thank you.

Terry,

I attach a self-explanatory exchange of correspondence forwarded to me.

What concerns me is whether the underlying action taken at your end denotes a change of policy and approach within HBUS to what I would normally expect to be cover payments.

As you are aware, there are no Group standards which require that the originator and beneficiary details go in all payments. Accordingly, Group Operation globally will not habitually require or input this information if the underlying customer instruction is received on a basis permitted by the SWIFT format and by local regulation.

If the action that has now been taken represent the change of policy on the part of HBUS, however understandable in the current regulatory environment, if concerns me that any such change of policy may not have been communicated across the Group and subject to appropriate levels of consultation with business colleagues.

EXHIBIT #50c

I would be grateful if you would clarify whether there has in fact been a change of policy, as if so, there does not appear to have been any external consultation or notification from HBUS. Alternatively, if the payment has been blocked because of a reference to Iran then this is understood. Subject: Re: Bankivarkazi Payment

Q.

Thanks. Having reviewed the attachments and the payment itself I have asked Rod Moxley to ensure that it is paid with immediate effect.

Regrettably we are now reaping the rewards of the inability of IBL and Compliance to resolve the Iranian payment issue for in excess of 12 months. We in CSD now have the tools to identify both potential Sanction and Terrorist payment activity and we have to use them and protect the Bank from financial loss and reputational risk, therefore I have no issue with the action taken by RMS.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
EXHIBIT #51

The information about stage payments gives some comfort altifough in my opinion OFAC would be perfectly within their rights to sequestrate this item. It is only the beneficiary name and repeat nature of the payment which will perhaps mitigate this risk. It is on the basis that if this is sequestrated the risk is IBLs or its customers I am making the payment.

On the wider issue of tranian payments in general I remain extremely uncomfortable with the practice of amending tranian payment orders for whatever means. Although much of this activity is historic the political climate has moved on and such practices are no longer acceptable to the regulatory authorities. On this basis I would urge both Compliance and IBL to get this issue resolved as soon as possible. My own Compliance certificate is heavily caveated to reflect what we are not compliant in respect of Iran and this will become a problem for me if we have not progressed a solution when I am asked to sign the next

I regret that until we achieve clarity on this issue we will continue to see items delayed and debated.

Clearly I have no wish to jeopardise good relationships with IBL customers but whilst this matter remains in my pending file I am left with little choice but to hold and challenge these items on a case by case trask.

Malcolm

David,

Thank you. I do understand the complexities having been embrolled in them for many months myself, but my team are placed in an impossible position. We either have to pay or return items on a daily basis and given the lack of clarity I am sure that you can understand my concerns.

My note merely seeks to raise awareness of an issue which in terms of resolution appears to have gone uncomfortably quiet of late but is very much alive in the world of payments. I take some comfort from your note and that we have a legal opinion. Hopefully we can share the contents shortly and finally produce something workable for all concerned.

Richard,

I refer to your note concerning the above, and attach the results of a recent exchange of correspondence with David Hodgkinson on this subject. You may recall that we discussed this matter in our previous meeting with SKG where he gave a clear indication that Martin Glynn's views should be sought before there was any expansion of activity in relation to Correspondent Banking services for Iranian Banks.

My note of 22MAR04 to David was intended to ascertain exactly what was intended, although as you will see, I have received a slightly opaque response.

I will follow up with Warren in terms of the work David says is underway, but as you will see the most pressing issue to be resolved is that relating to the limited number of existing relationships that we have (for two small Iranian Banks) where I suspect that HBUS are not aware that payments may be passing through them. Do not believe that we can allow this situation to continue very much longer, which is the point I will make to David in my response.

I recognise that there is a need to act on SKG's suggestion for a solution. It occurs to me however that this solution may not be workable given the multiplicity of pointers involved. We are dealing with payments for the customers of Iranian Banks. These will not therefore lend themselves to a vetting approach given that we will have no control over who acts for the various remitters and beneficiaries.

Kind regards

I am uncomfortable with this activity in its current form and think that we need to make an early decision both with regard to this business and the extent to which we wish to expand our activities involving Iranian banks.

I spoke personally to the US lawyer who has provided us with advice, and separately with Paul Lee who as you know is a senior lawyer in our in-house legal department.

My reason for writing to you at this stage is that I think it would be sensible for us to make an early commercial decision before we spend any more money on legal opinions, or in upgrading our activities in the UK so as to achieve a compliant approach. My sense of the value of the existing business is that it is relatively modest. When I spoke to Nigel Weir, my recollection is that he was talking about the value of increased business as being some USD3m. If these figures are accurate, then the amount of revenue may not justify either the additional work and investment that will be required, nor would it justify running the reputational and regulatory risk in the US. I recognise however the significance of this activity in terms of our image in Iran and our ability to expand our business there.

I would be happy to discuss this issue more generally with you if that would help, although suspect that perhaps the next conversation you might wish to have would be with Martin Glynn. Could I suggest however that any such conversation take place over the telephone, as we are seeking to avoid correspondence with HBUS on this sensitive issue other than through lawyers so as to preserve privilege.

I would stress that I do think we need to make an early decision given the current activity that is taking place.

Thank you for your note. I would ask you to reconsider your suggested proposal as there are very compelling commercial reasons which need to be borne in mind when making this decision, not least of which is the threat to the Group's position in and business with Iran over the medium term.

You may be aware that the tranian Banks that use HSBC for these payments are State owned banks. If we advise them that we will no longer communities process these payments we will be effectively insulting the Government and State of Iran. The implication of this action is difficult to predict with certainty but we expect that it will adversely impact our overall business with Iranian banks and, more importantly, our operations in Iran. In the current sensitive political situation we have declined to accept new USD payments business from Iranian banks but to exit business which we have been conducting for many years would jeopardise all other existing business activities. It will specifically impact the servicing of our trade business with Iran where our current temover is in excess of USDIBn p.a. For your information, overall, the Group earns about USDIOM p.a. from these business activities.

We believe the low volumes are reasonably cost effective to control and as such I should be grateful if you could revisit this issue and, working with Group Compliance (and the PCM team in HBME Dubai if appropriate), prepare a solution which will enable HBEU to effect USD payments in accordance with US regulations for our Iranian Bank customers, GHQ Compliance can then present this to HBUS for their consideration.

Thank you and Regards

Operational difficulties i) Duplication of payments. will involve much additional detail on the MT202s and it is my belief that this additional detail may lead to some recipients treating this as a direct payment rather than the cover of an original payment. Duplication of payment may result. ii) Global market practice. The procedure we would now be adopting would be at variance with standard market practice and this in itself could produce processing problems iii) STP. The suggested procedure would lead to more manual intervention, greater cost and potentially less control, as 3 or 4 different sites can be involved in the processing of any transaction. The level of control which RMS could exercise over such payments diminishes as payment processing is divided between RSC (NHQ27), EPS (Livingston) and GSC (India). iv) Other US banks. The stance of other US banks who have withdrawn from the Iranian market means that we are still in a vulnerable position if our customers are asking us to give guarantees that payments will reach their ultimate destination without v) U-tum payments criteria. The definition of what constitutes a U-turn payment is upon to interpretation and the accuracy of information on the OFAC website has also been questioned. This can lead us on occasions to making subjective decisions which could lead to operational losses or reputational damage. Proposal For the reasons stated above, I feel very uncomfortable recommending that we continue to process franian payments. It is possible to continue but the higher level of costs, the reduction of control, possible systems enhancements and the potential for error make this mattractive. We have discussed this situation at length and so, rather than re-open another round of talks, I should be grateful if you could let me have your " formal response, (and that of any other interested copy parties to this email) by Friday 18th June 2004. Thereafter, unless compelling commercial reasons exist, which have been endorsed by Group Compliance and HBUS, I shall be formally advising interested Relationship Managors that we will no longer be able to hundle Iranian payments after 30 September 2004. michael; reference your earlier query; this is clearly not a simple matter, our posture has been to respect the law and our bank,s reputation, we are being asked to amend instructions or, assume responsibility that the contents of the payment message do not attract the led,s attention and scize the payment, we should not take on that responsibility, essentially, a payment clerk is asked to judge upon a payment kicked out by the filtering system, whether to release, or return, there is an irony; someone could argue that by returning payments to iran that we are contrevering the ofter rules(office of foreign asset control), today we run the risk of 1) having the payment seized and incurring the operatioal loss, and 2) jeopardising the group,s reputation and incurring hefty fines.

even if we receive an indemnity, our people would continue to be asked perhaps to decide whether a payment is acceptable despite being kicked-out by the filtering system, so as to avoid seizure, we will make mistakes. lloyds has been fixed i,m told and few if any u.k. banks are in the business. we may discuss at your leisure, i will bring the experts.

Please find attached a detailed note on the subject of Iran. I have attached to this email a one page Executive Summary which provides the headlines.

This is an extremely sensitive area. To date we have steered away from detailing exactly what we are doing with these particular payments because of the sensitivities. I would certainly counsel against a wide distribution and we should definitely resist any move to send the detail to anyone in HBUS as It may well compromise their position with the US Authorities.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

EXHIBIT #56

The Fed would certainly frown on any process either deliberately or accidentally designed to prevent the legitimate sequestration of Iranian funds under OFAC rules which is why we currently use the Wolf filter to identify potential terrorist related payments and not to block other payments. The proposals are written to reflect an adjustment in the use of Wolf to check that Iranian payments are legitimate U Turn items and then to release these rather any attempt to prevent US legislation doing its job which might then compromise the Groups US licence, it also places the risk and responsibility for ensuring payment legitimacy firmly with the Iranian FI community rather than with curselves.

This is a difficult area for many reasons, not the least of which is the fact that the OFAC regulations relating to Iran tend to be grey and are subject to different interpretations by the US Banks. In this proposal we are attempting to walk a difficult path between protecting our US licence whilst also protecting a not insubstantial income stream and finure potential income stream from Iran. The safest option from my perspective would be to exit the Iranian FI payments business as indeed others have but in the knowledge that this will denude our income stream Rod and I have tried to build an alternative solution.

Please let me know if you wish to discuss.

Denise, thanks for re-sending the doc. Just a few questions:

It is my understanding that initially there were concerns about the potential intentional removal of wording "off limit payments" from these payments. Based on what we are being asked to do now, has that concern been addressed? I'm not familiar with the use/removal of "off limit payments" but the recommendation from a legal and compliance perspective is to have full disclosure of all parties and payment details. HBEU would be advised to not alter the payment details in any way.

Is this proposal for Bank Melli only or is the intent to grow this business? When this topic first arose it was to support Bank Melli but my understanding is that the business under discussion now is more general, with no specific clients named to date. I also heard sometime ago that Bank Melli established a elationship with another institution for their USD correspondent needs. I

HBUS Conditions for Processing U-Turns

Agreement to the following conditions is required for HBUS to accept U-Turn payments.

- Transactions will be formatted in accordance with SWIFT standards and will be fully transparent serial payments that reflect full payment details. Payments must include complete name, street address, city and country of the originator and beneficiary.
- HBEU will agree to strictly abide by U-turn processing requirements (to be provided by HBUS) and will not alter "as received" payment instructions in a manner other than that required to meet payment formatting requirements. Payment details will in no case be dropped from the instructions forwarded to HBUS.
- HBEU will indemnify HBUS for all potential penalties that may result from violations of OFAC sanctions, regardless of the cause and source of the action that precipitated the violation.
- A separate processing account will be established under the name of "HBEU Special Account" on HBUS books. Only Iranian originated transactions will pass through this account.
- The account number of "HBEU Special Account" will be entered into the HBUS payments system OFAC filter so that every transaction for this account will be stopped in the OFAC queue for review and approval before processing.
- HBUS will be reimbursed for any additional FTE's required due to increased process burden attributable to OFAC review of Iranian payments.
- HBUS pricing for the transactions will reflect incremental processes and risk.

From: David H HODGKINSON Sent: Mon Jun 27 11:29:30 2005 To: David W J BAGLEY Cc: Richard E T BENNETT Subject: Re: IRANIAN PAYMENTS

Importance: Normal

David,

By way of update, HBME is currently seeking to open a USD account with JP Morgan Chase as our first choice (or Bank of America as second choice), in order to process Iranian related USD payments. Whilst JPMC have verbally agreed to open the account they have warned us that any cover payment could be subject to their compliance process whereby they would seek full details of the underlying transaction either before or after processing. There could be a risk of referral to OFAC should their interpretation of a U-Turn transaction be different to ours. We have been advised that an account could be opened within a few weeks should we proceed down this road.

At the same time, new USD accounts for our Iranian correspondents will have to be opened with HBME in Dubai, which will have to be communicated, with the assistance of our Tehran office, in order to get their USD payments re-routed appropriately. We will also need to establish procedures in order to ensure compliance with OFAC regulations regarding U-Turn payments, which involves an operational review and staff training. With London's assistance, this should be completed by early September.

I note your comments in point 2 with interest as we never envisaged anything other than U-Turn compliant payments being processed. Accordingly we agree that there is no reason to use anyone other than HBUS and can confirm that there is no misunderstanding in this regard. I understood that the only reason we considered using another US correspondent was purely because HBUS had shown an unwillingness to process these transactions for reputation risk reasons. Having considered this further it appears to us that using another correspondent may not completely overcome the reputation risk issue.

When the USD accounts of Iranian banks are opened in Dubai, HBME will take over the payments from HBEU. We will establish a specialist team to manually review each transaction (including running them through WOLF) ensuring they are U-Turn compliant. We intend to continue with the cover payment method as our understanding is that if serial payments are used other US banks in the chain may interpret the U-Turn process differently which may lead to delays and other problems as payments are referred mistakenly to OFAC. We envisage providing HBUS seperately with full details of each payment (but in a manner to avoid duplication) so that they are in a position to satisfy themselves and anybody else that the payments are genuine compliant transactions.

For the sake of clarity we would repeat the definition of a U-Turn payment defined by OFAC on their website as a payment "...involving Iran where US Dollar transactions are cleared through a US bank. Generally speaking, there must be a third-country bank on both sides of a transaction to qualify as a "U-Turn." For example, Bank Melli Iran can send funds from its account at a German bank through the German bank's correspondent in New York to an Italian bank to pay for goods purchased from Italy. The originating and beneficiary banks may not be US banks."

In light of the position, assuming that the decision to use another bank is re-visited and the above process is acceptable to HBUS and yourselves, HBME will be happy to meet HBUS counterparts to provide them with any further comfort or explanation that they require. I have not copied this message to Stephen Green, as your message was not.

Your thoughts and guidance will be appreciated.

David

Subject: IRANIAN PAYMENTS

Our Ref: Your Ref:

Entity: HSBC Holdings plc - HGHQ

David

The above topic surfaced in the routine meeting which Richard Bennett and I had with Stephen in advance of the monthly GMB meeting.

Stephen raised with me the following points:-

He sought my assurance that the agreed arrangements in relation to Iranian payments had been put in place. For obvious reasons I was not able to give that confirmation but did emphasise that in failing to do so I was not suggesting that the arrangements were not in fact complete. I thought it only right and proper however to alert you to the fact that Stephen is looking for confirmation that all payments are not being routed through HBME via a non-Group clearer, or that a reasonably proximate date has been set by which time those arrangements will be in place. His sense of urgency is possibly explained by the information contained in the third bullet point

Stephen also asked for confirmation that the payments that would pass through the US would all be payments which were U-turn exempt even if they went through the US in the form of a cover payment. Although I may have misunderstood our discussions I was not previously aware that this was a precondition nor did my original paper envisage that if we used a non-Group correspondent we would necessarily consider passing only U-turn exempt payments through them. In fact in such circumstances there would be no reason to use anyone other than HBUS given that HBUS could not be criticised were it to carry out exempt payments. I would be grateful if you would confirm that there is no misunderstanding in this regard and that we will only be passing payments through the US, whether or not through our own correspondent, that we have validated as being U-turn exempt. If this not the intention then I suspect some further discussions with Stephen may be required.

I understand this point, but believe that we also need to consider the extent to which we are at risk if we fail to consider the transaction as a whole (i.e. both the cover payment instruction and any linked bank to bank message) which if put together would lead to a different determination in terms of that U-turn exemption.

The reason for my additional caution is that I had a number of discussions at a recent Wolfsberg needing which raised my concerns with regard to the level of scrutiny that US authorities are giving to cover payments generally but also specifically in relation to OFAC compliance on the part of US banks offering correspondent banking services.

One major European entity has made a decision to apply OFAC regulation and restrictions across the entirety of its operations, inside the US and outside, in all currencies. Although they were hesitant in explaining their reasons for taking this decision I suspect it is because they have had recent fairly well-publicised difficulties with OFAC compliance.

Another European institution indicated that they were facing a criminal prosecution in the US for deliberating evading OFAC sanctions by failing to link a cover payment and an underlying bank to bank message together thus allowing the sanctions to be evaded. Admittedly their activity appeared to have been through their own correspondent branch in the US, and I was unable to clicit any further details. Nonetheless this does seem to me to justify further scrutiny and consideration on our part.

As I may have mentioned the US regulatory authorities, OCC and Federal Reserve, are carrying out a joint peer review of correspondent banking from an AML and OFAC compliance perspective. The visit to HBUS will commence shortly if it has not already commenced. As part of that review I believe that the US authorities have focused upon cover payments both in relation to AML procedures but also in relation to OFAC compliance. I believe that a potential account of the senniny and the resultant recommendations will be an expectation that US banks should not merely accept cover payments without seeking full details of any underlying transaction. That would of course mean that we would probably be required to disclose both details of the cover payment and the linked message to any US correspondent we employ even if they were a non-Group correspondent. I recognise that this is something primarily for the US correspondent to resolve but I suspect you may need to factor this potential development into your thought processes going forward. Of course if this is a wider requirement of all US Dollar clearers then the potential for damaging our relations with Iran would be minimised given that we are merely following restrictions imposed on all market participants by a more zealous application of US law.

I am in fact out of the office travelling on business this week, I will however monitor my BlackBerry, but it may be that you would prefer to correspond with Stephen direct with regard to the first two points on which he was seeking assurance.

If there is any news with regard to the further legal advice that is being taken then I will ask John Root to consider a joint note to us.

Terry,

The attached is all I hope self-explanatory and whilst I am not suprised at the reaction from JPMC, it is important to emphasise that we are talking about exempt U-turn payments. HBME have no choice but to now pass the paymments via HBUS, but as they are exempt, you have previously confirmed with Martin that HBUS are comfortable this does not seem to me to be problematic.

I anticipate that you would prefer to see Field 72 completed, but this will mean more hits in the filters even if they will then be passed. Could you let me know and copy Gary Boon and Alan Kerr as I am out for part of today, Monday is a public holiday and I at Wolfsberg next week.

Dear Gary,

It was a great pleasure speaking to you and Alan today.

First, many thanks for keeping us informed on the group decision regarding the payments method. This is to confirm that we will be pleased to continue processing HSBC's Middle East dollar payment transactions, (both MT103 and 202) with the exceptions of the Iranian referenced transactions that should be directed to other correspondent banking account. Unfortunately, as a business decision we will not be able to process such Iranian referenced details on the payment narratives.

We look forward to continuing our excellent business relationship. Please do not hesitate to contact us if we can be of any further assistance or if you have any questions.

Have a nice week end.

Stephen,

I apologise for troubling you on what I know is a busy day.

As discussed I advised HBME DUB to continue to pass U-turn payments through JPMC, and I think quite rightly HBME advised JPMC that we would start to cross-reference the underlying 103 message in the cover message.

As you will note from the attached JPMC have indicated that they are not willing to process these payments, I assume for reputational rather than regulatory reasons(given that they are within the U-turn exemption), which means that we will now have to pass these payments through HBUS. We have previously received concurrence from HBUS, confirmed by Martin. On this basis I do not believe we have any choice but to proceed on this basis.

I would be grateful for your views, but anticipate that HBME will need to reach a decision in time for the opening of the USD payment window on Monday.

We have heard that this might be coming and here it is ! I note that they want to split their traffic - is this possible?

What are the practical IT and Operational issues with this - ie with GMG going down in the middle of the night fairly regularly could we be taking on a problem we dont need here if Brazil are open when this happens?

I have copied John Allison to see whether Group Compliance have a view given that they are only proposing to send US sanctioned items via this route. I have concerns that we might be breaching at least the spirit of the US Serial Routing GCL if not the letter of it.

Your contact has been provided by Mr Neil Chantry

Appreciate if you could assist us with the following. Not sure anyone has briefed you yet.

HBBR has some payments going into Iran, Cuba and other sanctioned countries, which are compliant with the Group Compliance Policy. Currently our GMG is based in the US, so we run the risk of having such payments blocked. For these specific transactions (circa 50/year), we would like to use the GMG based in the UK and perform the transactions in EUR. To enable it, we have been informed that we have to create a second SWIFT address (BIC 7) to be used exclusively for this purpose, which should also not be published by SWIFT in their books.

Could you assist us with obtaining this second SWIFT address? Any idea how long it would take? Grateful for any other information you could provide.

I look forward to hearing from you.

You and me both.

I do think this requires further investigation before it is "dumped" on us as a fait accompli. Bitter experience, or payments to you and I, have shown that we are faced with a real dilemma when trying to identify and then eventually pay transactions which have so many conditions attached to them. Slightly irritating too that GHQ CMP seem to have bent over backwards to accommodate a system which looks very dodgy to me. How about no you can't do this?

Speak further tomorrow

Sending payments via USA GMG subjects Brazil to an all currency prohibition for all OFAC entries, Brazil is, however, permitted under current Group policy to make payments in currencies other than USD to entries on the OFAC list, provided that the reason for inclusion on the list is a reason other than Terrorism/Weapons of Mass Destruction (where payments cannot be made in any currency). We believed that this small volume of these permissible payments would be sent by Brazil by "manual" means (telex?).

Whilst we therefore do not have an issue with Brazil's request from a policy point of view, we would be concerned if a second SWIFT address entry drew attention to itself, or contained some reference to this address being used for making payments to entries on the OFAC list, as this could result in a negative perception by those not aware of the detail of our policy.

Lucas,

Further to our recent exchange of emails I have now sought views from Group Compliance, IT and my Operations team.

Whilst what you are proposing is technically achievable we are not attracted to a proposal which would segregate certain transactions through separate SWIFT address, albeit that these proposed transactions might be perfectly permissible under Group policy as this might bring unwelcome attention from external parties and at least make it seem as though we are taking action to avoid certain transactions being examined by the US authorities. Group Compliance share this view.

On this basis if we were to make a change I believe that it would have to be on the basis that all of your current SWIFT traffic be directed via the UK GMG. Of course this would be a much more significant challenge for all of us but if it is this route that you wish to pursue please could I ask your team to discuss with Bill Rice (UK Operations) and Jon Curl (UK IT) and Rod Moxley (Risk Management Services, UK Operations and Compliance).

The points I would like covered are

- Message volumes including averages and peaks so that we can ensure that these volumes are manageable. Whilst the UK GMG is currently meeting our needs IT are currently looking to reshape our GMG infrastructure to ensure better reliability. We must avoid crating further instability.
- That we can provide viable operational support given the time zone differences between UK and Brazil.
- 3. WOLF terrorist filtering support, who would undertake this function including case escalation?

Clearly this substantially broadens the scope of our original request, introducing more operational complexity and reputational issues from both the UK and Brazilian banks perspective.

If we are to progress this broader request then I believe that it would be prudent for me to discuss the proposal with the UK Banks CEO before we would formally agree to proceed.

Happy to discuss further with you once you have considered the above.

With kind regards.

Mike,

I should briefly clarify that there is very little left of our relationship with although enough to mean that it woulld have been inaccurate to tell Levey there was nothing.

Without being able to look back over previous corresspondence on the issue my recollection of key recent decisions on Iranian banks include

- 1. We decided some time ago to stop using the U-turn exemption under OFAC.
- We cancelled trade lines previously extended to certain Iranian banks including have virtually run off in the case of and these

We discovered that there was an agency banking relationship in HBEU both for and other Iranian banks. Notice has been given on these and we have made it clear that these must be closed by end July

There are further complications surrounding the process of closure with all Iranian banks as we have some USD 9m in reimbursements due from Sepah, where we are running off trade lines, where we may need co-operation from Central Bank of Iran. David is in the loop here.

I am in fact travelling next week but will monitor by BlackBerry. Apologies for the length of the e-mail but I thought the above detail may help deliberations next week

Mike,

Stuart Levey, the US Treasury Under Secretary for Counter Terrorist Financing and Sanctions was a speaker at the recent annual conference of the Wolfsberg Group, of which I currently act as Co-chair. Levey asked for a private meeting with me to discuss a number of matters including Iran. Levey has been extremely active in promoting the US policy on Iran, particularly the use of sanctions to deter weapons proliferation. He has in the past met with David and I to encourage us to refrain from dealings with Iranian banks. The key points raised with me, and the subsequent actions agreed with David are best summarised as follows:

Levey acknowledged that we as a Group have acted responsibly on Iran and I took the opportunity to emphasise to him that we applied OFAC across the Group when dealing in USD, and had acted whenever specific sanctions were enacted either by US, UK or UN.

Levey however expressed concern that we were still operating accounts for who he asserted had clearly been identified as having acted as a conduit for Iranian governmental funding of this is a repeat of allegations made previously by the US which hacve led to targetted sanctions in the US, but have not had support within the UN.

Levey essentially threatened that if HSBC did not withdraw from relationships with we may well make ourselves a target for action in the US. It appears that we have been approached in this way as he use the fact that we have maintained accounts for them as an arguement in support of representations made to other banks for ongoing support.

We in fact have only limited relationships, with and in fact overall with Iranian banks.

Following this meeting I have discussed the approach we should take with David. His decision is that we should immediately withdraw from and also withdraw from all Iranian bank relationships in a coordinated manner, recognising that there may be some legally binding committments we will have to honour(for example PEF facilities), and we may need to allow for an orderly run -off.

Once the position is clear on precisely what steps are being taken I will then advise Levey of the steps we have taken.

I am aware that Levey has sought to persuade other non-US banks to withdraw from Iran, but the tone of his remarks were notably more direct and strident.

t REPORT

All,

As you are aware, we have been assessing the most viable and Group policy compliant Group Messaging Gateway (GMG) for future processing of LAM payments. Attached is the final version of the Clear Choice (CC) and to which I request your approval to proceed.

For ease of reference, I advise that the CC report recommends migration of all LAM non US Based SWIFT addresses to the UKGMG.

The CC was collectively put together by: IT, PCM and CMP in the UK and IT, CMP, PCM in LAM, representatives from HBBR, HBAR and OPSCO (for HBMX, LAM International and CC sponsorship). My thanks to all participants.

Post approval, priority next steps include:

Definition of: Project sponsor, Project Coordinators for LAM and the UK from Business and IT, In-country Business and IT representation and supporting LAM and UK Project teams. Action: Davidovich. Preparation and approval of a Project Terms of Reference. Action: Project Coordinators in LAM and UK. Advice to all LAM countries of CC decision. Action: Heredia. Progress with HBEU IT the need for spanish speaking support during LAM's working hours at the SYDGC. Action: Heredia with Phillips. Identify and agree Pilot site. Action: Heredia with Macnaughton.

Follow on actions will include: prioritised list of countries to be migrated, roll-out plan and timelines, project plans per country, SLAs between countries and the SYDGC, formalisation of the migration of Keys and Access rights, demise of SWIFT Alliance etc.

Please address any queries arising to me.

Regards.

Sandy

I refer to your e-mail of 14th March.

Clive Bissett, Global Project Manager, GTB has been nominated to assist with the preparation of a Clear Choices document. Could I suggest therefore that someone be nominated for LATM to liaise closely with Clive which will ensure that a proper and complete consideration will be given, including to the capacity issues.

I am aware from my contact with CMP in Brazil that they were giving some consideration to giving up certain payments activity given the challenges of passing that activity through the US. We have indicated that any final decision should be deferred in this regard pending a proper consideration as to whether the payments messaging can be migrated elsewhere thus allowing us to preserve as much activity and business as possible. There may also need to be a conversation at some stage with Paul Lawrence if it is necessary to persuade HBUS to continue with payment messaging pending any migration. I will however advise further if this proves to be the case.

At my end I will ask one of my team, John Altison, to support Clive. I look forward to receiving details of your nominated contact whereupon I will ask Clive to make appropriate contact and commence the necessary work.

I am grateful for your assistance.

David.

We are similarly keen to ensure that payments continue to operate smoothly, whilst being completely compliant with Group requirements, and to this end would not be averse in principle to re-routing payments traffic via Sheffield, rather than as present, via the USA.

Whilst clearly this would need to be fully evaluated, not least in respect of the cost savings that would presumably accrue, as well as the ability to meet specific Latin American requirements (time zone, language etc), we would want to ensure that all Latin American countries met the most stringent requirements, possibly by centralising all payments through a Payments Services Centre such as the one we recently commissioned in Mexico. One component of this might be to ensure that we used precisely the same algorithms and screening parameters as are used by the US, but this too would be part of the abovernentioned evaluation.

Clearly a decision will need to taken soon as we are in the process of defining the migration of Banistmo, which, until your communication was received were going to be routinely routed through the United States in the usual way. However, you mention there may be capacity issues in the UK, and of course these would need to be resolved without disproportionate cost implications for LATAM. It would therefore be helpful if you would advise the name of a contact with whom we could discuss various points of detail prior to reaching a final decision, and with who we could work with afterwards to convert if such was decided to be the way forward.

I look forward to receiving your thoughts on the above.

Subje Group Messaging

Sandy

With apologies for the length of the note set out below, I need to raise an issue with you which relates to payment messaging for large, if not all, parts of Latin America. This is an issue that has been around for some time, but probably now needs a strategic high-level decision given the potential, commercial and cost consequences. The key issues are as follows:-

You will of course be aware of the increased significance of compliance with the US sanctions promulgated by OFAC. This has led to the Group reinforcing and reiterating a requirement for all Group offices to comply with OFAC in relation to transactions denominated in USD regardless of their place of incorporation or operation. This policy is well-established, and appears to be adhered to very closely by Group companies.

Obviously our operations in the US are obliged to comply with the requirements of OFAC in all currencies, not just USD. This obviously reflects the fact of either their US incorporation, or the fact that they were operating within the US. Within the US however there is an increased focus upon effective compliance with the requirements OFAC on the part of both OFAC itself but also our banking regulators.

At present, cross-border payments, regardless of currency, initiated by most, if not all of our operations in Latin America pass through the payment gateway operated by HBUS in the US. The increased focus upon OFAC compliance has led us to consider various situations where transactions pass through the US, but are not initiated by and do not involve our Group companies in the US. They are, in effect, merely a service provider.

This also applies to certain of our internet offerings where servers were located in the US for all sorts of technical reasons (e.g. hsbc.com and hsbc.net) but are in effect owned or operated by US companies.

This clearly has the potential for adverse commercial consequences, in that transactions in currencies other than USD involving countries or entities covered by US sanctions would be caught even though overall they were permitted by Group policy by reason of their non-USD denomination. For this reason, we are in the process of relocating the .net and .com services, and made a conscious decision to develop a stand-alone WHIRL system server in the UK where the original proposal was to host all Group credit card transactions through servers located in the US.

Obviously the significance of the above is that where payments are processed through the New York gateway on behalf of Latin American operations then HBUS, taking a cautious approach justified by the current regulatory environment, will need to filter all transactions regardless of currency and reject those transactions where they would breach OFAC regardless of currency. This would clearly be disadvantageous from Latin America's perspective, and equally I suspect the logistics of having to locally pre-screen all cross-border payments in all currencies would be commercially and operationally challenging for our operations in Latin America.

My own view is that commercially you would find the introduction of filtering by our US colleagues unattractive commercially, and I do remember the problems that a local US hotel chain got into when refusing access to certain Cuban visitors. If my assumption here is correct then on the assumption that you will want to carry out as many transactions permitted by Group policy as possible the most viable option and way forward would seem to be to relocated your payment processing to a different Group Messaging (GMG) gateway. This however would need your support and the generation of an appropriate business case and clear choices proposal. Any such proposal would need to take account of likely impacts upon operational support, time zones, performance and cost. We have informally explored the possibility of relocating Latin American flows to the UK GMG, but this centre has experienced some capacity issues.

Whilst we have lived with the current position for some time, it is fair to say that now that our US colleagues are on notice they feel extremely uncomfortable in allowing the position to continue indefinitely. In essence, we will either have to have a pass and timeline for a relocation of the payment messages or will need to turn the filtering on.

I thought it important to canvas this issue with you first, but recognise that you will probably want to nominate one of your team to take matters forward. Similarly, we will provide as much assistance as we can here in GHQ CMP, having developed some understanding and knowledge of the issues posed by OFAC, and possible solutions and approaches to resolve those challenges.

Nancy, currently we have offshore resources conducting first level reviews of customer hits with oversight and QC conducted by ICRO. We have emphasized to our regulators when offshoring is discussed (they get very nervous on this topic with respect to AML and OFAC) that the risk is lower in offshoring first level customer hit reviews vs payment hit reviews. The customers have already been vetted. We would really have to talk this one through internally and then potentially let the regulators know if the Bank decided to move forward on this — just my thoughts. I reached out to Denise on this as well and she agrees.

Any issue that you know of with processing our OFAC hits out of one of the GSC's? The only thing I think there may be an issue with is how the Fed might view it and the fact that personal fines / incarceration of staff could occur (hopefully never here) and how would that be handled / looked at if the staff are in India / Malaysia?

Michael,

HSBC-OCC_E 0041342.txt Spoke with our OFAC team, we could use 5 or 6 people for 10 days who can review payments to clear the 700 and building backlog of payments that have been held over and need to be worked to process.

Skillset is fairly straight forward. They would need to understand how to read a wire and be able to review the information provided by the client against payment information to determine if the item is a false positive and can be processed. We have all of the materials printed for review and can set this up as an assembly line.

You can reach me on 212-525-8607,

Project Topaz US Urgent Requirements

Andrew

Following the Topaz meeting, I explained that the US would need some immediate assistance and probably an interim solution as we cannot wait for the outcome of a complex and prolonged project. We need to move quickly to reduce the AML alerts and the connected KYC issues as it is impossible to plan the required capacity unless we do and in addition, we need to show progress to our Regulator.

We have completed Phase 1 of a review of international banks and countries and HBUS must now move quickly to withdraw from those which do not meet either risk or return hurdles. We cannot get sufficient traction across the HSBC world to exit these names in a timely fashion. We have consulted widely and achieved broad consensus from Product and Global banking but inevitably, for some, there are still pockets of dissent, usually from regional/in-country teams.

Attached is a list of 121 international banks that we can no longer support and need to exit. For each it shows the country of origin, the country of parentage, the reason for exit and the direct revenue implications. The total revenue estimate for these banks is USD18.1m (although for a small number of primarily high risk exits this data is not immediately available). However, you will note that of this total Angola accounts for over USD15m and Sierra Leone and Belarus together close to another USD1m.

The rationale for exit will be one of two broad categories:

Where an independent review by FEDD has determined the credit or reputational risk is too high, or Where rationalisation on the basis of commerciality is recommended following a country by country Panel review comprising Global Banking, TSC and PCM.

This is being managed and coordinated centrally by HBUS FIG but where there is no GRM, PCM Executives will be required to write to the clients. It is not viable for the CEO of HBUS to ask for closure of an account in another country and so, similar to Barron, I would be grateful for your help in getting prompt cooperation in the exit process.

In the absence of a compelling business case for retention, we need to start exiting these relationships next week. We cannot afford the time to negotiate each name, so rather than HBUS asking for a closure, waiting for the pushback and getting into multiple debates, I propose that we view the situation differently and we tell you which names we can no longer support and set timelines for the exits which need to be accomplished in the relevant geographies. For high risk clients we will give 30 days notice of termination and for all others 60 days. I am happy to discuss how we go about this but I believe that the communication of the names to be exited and the timelines needs to come from GMO.

Just to keep you in the loop, Phase 1 focuses on USD PCM only but will be followed rapidly by Phase 2 as you will appreciate the urgency with which we need to resolve our regulatory issues related to KYC and AML alerts. In Phase 2 there will be Trade names the exit for which may be more complicated but to give you a flavour of the problem, we seem to have 16 correspondent banks in Sudan which cannot be right. From our analysis of the situation aside from risk, it is clear that the sheer volume of clients we have contributes to the current problems. Phase 2 of our review will therefore concentrate on revenue and for HBUS PCM alone, it appears that approximately 1,200 names collectively earn less than USD4.5m per year. This is an average revenue of less than USD3,600 each, which in many instances, does not cover our ongoing compliance costs. Whilst some of these are propositional, for high risk countries and high alert generators, we will propose a material further rationalization shortly. We will need your help here too.

Clearly, the US requirements cut across business lines and it is crucial that the strategies of PCM, TSC and FIG are aligned to prevent this situation occurring in the future.

GCL 050047 - Compliance with sanctions (28/Jul/2005)

Introduction

Group Standards Manual (GSM) 5.6 requires that all Group Offices comply with all anti-terrorism and crime legislation and with all economic and trade sanctions to the extent applicable pursuant to local laws and regulations.

In addition, however, Group Compliance (GHQ CMP) is required by the above section of the GSM to issue a circular advising all relevant Group Offices when any legislation or sanctions have extra-territorial effect.

OFAC sanctions

The Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) is a department of the US Department of the Treasury, and is responsible for the administration and enforcement of economic and trade sanctions based on US foreign policy. These sanctions target foreign countries, suspected terrorists, drugs traffickers and those engaged in the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

The OFAC sanctions consist of both country-level sanctions (including sanctions against Cuba, Iran, Zimbabwe, North Korea, Myanmar and Sudan) as well as sanctions against individuals (Specially Designated Nationals (SDNs)). There are variations in each of the statutes establishing the country-level sanctions such that there is no uniform approach (e.g. the Iran sanctions contain an exemption which is not applicable to other country-level sanctions).

Revised policy

With immediate effect, all Group Offices (including those Offices Incorporated or operating outside the US) must refuse to participate in any transactions and activities, or make any payments denominated in USD, which, if carried out by a US person, would be prohibited by any OFAC sanctions (except for the specific 'U-turn exemption' relating to Iranian sanctions discussed below).

When considering transactions for compliance with these sanctions, the transaction as a whole should be considered. This requires that where any transactions involve the use of cover payments (MT202s) any linked message (e.g. an MT103) should be considered together with the cover payment.

GHQ CMP already maintains a database, which includes details of all sanctions affecting Group Offices, including the OFAC sanctions. A link to the principal provisions of the current OFAC country sanctions is here

In addition, further advice, instructions and guidance, with regard to the principal provisions of the OFAC sanctions, will be issued by GHQ CMP to local Compliance functions to coincide with this GCL to enable those local Compliance functions to provide advice with regard to the practical application of this GCL.

Group Offices should, however, ensure that they continue to update relevant procedures in response to details of any future amendments or additions to applicable sanctions, including OFAC sanctions, issued by GHQ CMP in accordance with GSM 5.6. The guidance in this GCL should also be read in conjunction with GCL040074 US OFAC Sanctions, which discusses, among other things, how OFAC sanctions can apply to US citizens or permanent resident allens, even when outside the US.

It is acknowledged that compliance with sanctions with extra-territorial reach, including OFAC sanctions, may be unlawful under local laws. Where compliance with this GCL would result in a breach of local law or regulation or existing binding contractual arrangements, the position should be considered in liaison with local Compliance and Legal functions and GHQ CMP. Any dispensation from the terms of this GCL requires GHQ CMP concurrence.

Iranian sanctions

The OFAC sanctions applicable to Iran are unique in including the specific exemption for payments that quality as a "U-turn payment". Uturn payments can be summarised as being 'cover payments involving Iran that are by order of a third country bank for payment to another third country bank - provided that they do not directly credit or debit an Iranian Account. Iranian Accounts are defined as 'accounts of persons located in Iran or the Government of Iran contained on the books of a United States depository institution'. In this context, a third country bank must be non-US and non-Iranian and an Iranian Account penerally includes an account for a non-Iranian subsidiary in which an Iranian company has a 30 per cent or greater interest. A more complete definition is contained in the guidance to be issued by GHQ CMP.

For the purposes of this GCL, 'Iranian Payments' mean payments made to or from an account maintained by any Iranian person (which includes any Iranian national, any individual resident in, or entity doing business in, Iran, or any entity incorporated or formed in Iran and subsidiaries of any Iranian entity), or an Iranian government body (including governmental-owned entities) whether directly or indirectly.

HSBC OCC 3407560 HSBC OCC 3407561 In view, however, of the complexity of the relevant provisions governing the Iranian sanctions and the "U-turn exemption", all Iranian Payments denominated in USD must, with effect from ISEPDS, or any earlier date notified by HBME DUB, be routed through HBME DUB - HSBC Middle East Management Office, Dubal Internet City, P O Box 66, Dubal, UAE, Tel. No. + [971] (4) 390 4722, which will establish a dedicated beam to pre-screen proposed Iranian Payments for Compliance with the Iranian sanctions and process compliant payments via dedicated correspondent accounts. This will require Group Offices that wish to continue to make Iranian Payments to open USD accounts with HBME DUB. All requests to open accounts should be sent for the attention of Alan Kerr or Ahsan Raza, CIBM HBME, HBME DUB will Issue more details to Group Offices as to how payments should be processed. With immediate effect, and prior to ISEPDS, all Iranian payments must be referred to Rod Moxiey, Tel. No. + [44] (0) 207 991 3664 (email Rod MOXLEY/HBED/HSBC), and may only be processed once confirmation has been given that the payment is compliant under the "U-turn (or other) exemption".

Other sanctions with extra-territorial effect

GHQ CMP maintains a full and current list of sanctions that affect Group Offices. This list is accessible through the Group Compliance Intranet via this link or via local Compliance functions.

Although certain sanctions only apply locally, UN sanctions should be viewed as having Group-wide application. Sanctions issued by the European Union blod EU persons (Individuals who are nationals of member states and companies incorporated or domiciled in member states) globally as well as those persons located or operating in member states. Group Offices should use WOLF or any alternative approved systems to load any additional names covered by local or other extra-territorial sanctions applicable to those offices.

Implementation

It is recognised that the use of automated payment screening systems is necessary for the effective identification of payments potentially subject to relevant sanctions, including OFAC sanctions. GCL 040021 Payment Screening required all Group Offices whose payments are not processed through one of the Group's 3 regional TP sites to install the Group's solution WOLF by 31MAR05. The mames loaded centrally by Group Messaging Systems will be supplemented by 8AUG05 to include a full list of OFAC country and SDN names, thus ensuring that all cross-border USD payments Group-wide will be pre-screened for OFAC compliance. Group Offices should satisfy themselves that they are fully compliant with the requirements of GCL 040021 and notify GHQ CMP Immediately of any deviation.

Where there are local USD dearing systems (e.g. Hong Kong and UAE), relevant offices must ensure that WOLF is capable of screening all local payments consistent with the requirements of this GCL in order to ensure that non-compilant payments are rejected. Those Group Offices with local USD dearing systems must confirm to GHQ CMP by 1NOVO5 that they are screening all local USD payments.

In addition, Group Offices should take at least the following steps where relevant:

- Ensure that they have adequate procedures to identify proposed transactions and activities other than payments which may be prohibited by OFAC sanctions before the proposed transactions are entered into. This would include in-country book transfers over USD accounts. This may require the issuance of staff circulars, amendments to desk instruction books and local procedures manuals
- Once the SDN and country names are loaded into WOLF it is likely that the number of payments identified as potential matches to the OFAC sanctions will increase. Group Offices need to ensure that they are sufficiently resourced to consider any potential matches for clearance or rejection as appropriate
- Where proposed transactions or payments are identified that would breach the OFAC sanctions, non-US Group Offices should decline the transaction and refuse to make any payments returning the funds to the remitter, US Offices are normally required to block or freeze payments
- Consider, in conjunction with local Legal or Compliance functions, whether any amendments or additions should be made to product or service terms and conditions or whether any advance notification should be given to customers to clarify the bank's right and intention to reject or accept relevant instructions or requests
- Where Group Offices are in doubt as to whether a transaction or payment is affected by any sanction, but particularly OFAC sanctions, they should consult their local Compliance function which may in turn refer to GHQ CMP
- It should be noted that the policy contained in this GCL, where it relates to OFAC sanctions, only applies to transactions or payments denominated in USD, except for those US Offices which are required to apply OFAC sanctions to all transactions regardless of the currency of denomination
- Note the specific arrangements required in relation to payments that might be subject to the OFAC sanctions applicable to Iran.

Yours faithfully

GCL 060011 - US Dollar Payments (06/Apr/2006)

Language; Français | Portuguese | Espanol | 禁控中文

Introduction

Į

GCL 050047 'Compliance with Sanctions' reiterated Group Policy with regard to Compliance with local and international sanctions by Group Offices, including sanctions issued by the US Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). Group Policy arising from the above GCL prohibits any Group Office from initiating any payment denominated in US Dollars (USD) that would constitute a breach of any of the OFAC sanctions.

US regulatory authorities continue to focus closely upon Compliance with OFAC sanctions by US banks, particularly where they act as correspondent banks for non-US banks, and by foreign banks with US operations.

Payment Methodology

USD payments made on behalf of underlying customers can be made either as cover payments (MT103 + linked MT202) or as serial payments (two MT103s). An illustration of both payment types, using the same underlying transaction, is shown in Appendix 1. Where cover payments are used, the payment message passing via the US correspondent (MT202) makes no mention of the underlying remitter or beneficiary. This is contained in the linked MT103 message which passes outside USA.

Policy

- 1. With effect from 30APR06 all USD payments initiated by a Group Office and remitted via HBUS, or any other US correspondent, must be made as serial payments.
- 2. The requirement to make payments as serial payments does not vary the provisions of GCL 050047 in that only USD payments permitted by OFAC may be initiated or processed by a Group Office.
- 3. The above requirements do not restrict the use of cover payments (MT202) for genuine bank-to-bank payments, for example in relation to Foreign Exchange settlements.
- 4. Until further notification, U-turn payments, under the Iran country DFAC sanctions, should also continue to be made as cover payments (MT103 + linked MT202) as serial payments cannot qualify as U-turn payments. In accordance with GCL 050047, all U-turn payments must continue to be made via HBME DUB. Where U-turn payments are made, Field 72 of the Swift payment message must be completed so as to make reference to any linked MT103.
- 5. By 31DEC06 HBUS will require third-party banks to which HBUS provide USD correspondent banking services to make all payments denominated in USD and remitted via HBUS as serial payments.
- 6. Any dispensations from the requirements of this GCL require approval by GHQ CMP with agreement from HBUS CMP where relevant.

Guidance

Detailed guidance is to be issued via GHQ CMP, and any enquiries with regard to the implementation of this GCL or relating to GCL 050047 should be referred to local Compliance Officers, who can, as required, seek further clarification from GHQ CMP.

Yours faithfully

GCL 060041 - US OFAC Sanctions against Iran - U-Turn Exemption (25/Oct/2006)

Language: Francais | Portuguese | Espanol | 农园中文

Background

The Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) of the US Department of the Treasury is responsible for the administration and enforcement of economic and trade sanctions based on US foreign policy. These sanctions target specified countries, suspected terrorists, drugs traffickers and those engaged in the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

The OFAC sanctions include country-level sanctions against a number of countries including Iran. The regulations contain an exemption to the sanctions unique to Iran, the so-called "U-turn exemption" for payments that qualify as a 'U-turn payment'. U turn payments can be summarised as being 'cover payments involving Iran that are by order of a third country bank for payment to another third country bank - provided that they do not directly credit or debit an Iranian Account' (as defined in the regulations). This U-turn exemption is described fully in GCL 050047 (Compliance with Sanctions).

Revised policy

With Immediate effect, all Group Offices (Including offices incorporated or operating outside the US) may no longer use the U-turn exemption of the OFAC sanctions against Iran. All other requirements of GCL 050047 remain in force.

Valid U-turn payments can continue to be made in relation to binding contractual commitments (i.e. that cannot be amended or terminated) that pre-date this GCL, provided that these payments are processed through HBME as per GCL 050047. Where a U-turn payment is made it must be through the serial method pursuant to GCL 060011 (US Dollar Payments).

Also refer to related GCLs: GCL 040074 (US OFAC Sanctions - Applicability to US Citizens, wherever located, and other US Persons) and GCL 060011, where appropriate.

GCL 070049 - Sanctions Against Iran (24/Sep/2007)

Language: Francais | Portuguese | Espanol | 繁體中文

Background

GCLs 050047 and 060041 referred to compliance with economic and trade sanctions to the extent applicable pursuant to local laws and regulations and the application of certain Group minimum required standards in relation to transactions and payments denominated in US dollars. These GCLs remain in full force and effect.

Policy

Reflecting the current international and political situation and the potential risk of the inadvertent involvement of Group companies in transactions, payments or activities linked to the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction (WMD) and nuclear proliferation a decision has been taken to suspend all services and business with Iranian banks, irrespective of currency to the extent and as detailed below.

Relationships with Iranian Banks

All account relationships with Iranian Banks must be closed as soon as possible after giving any period of notice required by local law or regulation and which is sufficient to allow an orderly run down of activity (for example uncleared items), and the run-off of any outstanding exposures. In any event such accounts must be closed by 30NOV07.

Similarly, any remaining facilities extended to Iranian Banks and SWIFT BKE arrangements should be cancelled or withdrawn as soon as possible and in any event by 30NOV07.

Where local law or the need to manage exit in an orderly manner will require accounts/SWIFT KEYS to be maintained beyond 30NOV07 specific dispensation must be obtained from GHQ CMP.

Pending closure of accounts and cancellation of SWIFT BKEs any payments debited to accounts held for Iranian Banks, regardless of currency, should be made as MT103 serial payments.

Existing Facilities and Transactions

All existing facilities and transactions where there are legally binding commitments should continue to be honoured. Such arrangements may include committed facilities (for example Project and Export Finance facilities), existing guarantees (see below) and Documentary Credits issued, advised or confirmed. Any payments linked to such pre-existing commitments may be made, but as serial payments.

OCC-PSI-00141530 OCC-PSI-00141531

Permanent Subcommittee on Icvestigations

EXHIBIT #70d

Where there are pre-existing guarantees issued on a pay or extend basis supporting business with Iran these may exceptionally continue to be extended provided that:

Group Offices review each such guarantee and are satisfied that the underlying transaction is not linked to WMD or nuclear proliferation.

Each such guarantee must be reviewed on each extension and customers encouraged to negotiate alternative arrangements.

New Business involving Iran

No new business should be entered into in respect of any transactions involving Iran, Iranian resident entitles or Iranian goods subject to the detailed policy guidance issued by GTS simultaneously with this GCL.

Further Guidance

Further guidance in respect of FIG relationships can be obtained from FIG Dubal and/or FIG London (Client Management Group). For guidance on payments into or out of Iranian banks and for all other matters, contact your local Compliance function.

All account relationships with Iranian Banks must be closed as soon as possible after giving any period of notice required by local law or regulation and which is sufficient to allow an orderly run down of activity (for exemple uncleared items), and the run-off of any outstanding exposures. In any event such accounts must be closed by 30NOV07.

Similarly, any remaining facilities extended to Iranian Banks and SWIFT BKE arrangements should be cancelled or withdrawn as soon as possible and in any event by 30NOV07.

Where local law or the need to manage exit in an orderly manner will require accounts/SWIFT KEYS to be maintained beyond 3DNOV07 specific dispensation must be obtained from GHQ CMP.

Pending closure of accounts and cancellation of SWIFT BKEs any payments debited to accounts held for Tranian Banks, regardless of currency, should be made as MT103 serial payments.

Existing Facilities and Transactions

All existing facilities and transactions where there are legally binding commitments should continue to be honoured. Such arrangements may include committed facilities (for example Project and Export Finance facilities), existing guarantees (see below) and Documentary Credits issued, advised or confirmed. Any payments linked to such pre-existing commitments may be made, but as serial payments.

Where there are pre-existing guarantees issued on a pay or extend basis supporting business with Iran these may exceptionally continue to be extended provided that:

Group Offices review each such guarantee and are satisfied that the underlying transaction is not linked to WMD or nuclear proliferation.

Each such guarantee must be reviewed on each extension and customers encouraged to negotiate alternative arrangements.

New Business involving Iran

No new business should be entered into in respect of any transactions involving Iran, Iranian resident entitles or Iranian goods subject to the detailed policy guidance issued by GTS simultaneously with this GCL.

Further Guidance

Further guidance in respect of FIG relationships can be obtained from FIG Dubal and/or FIG London (Client Management Group), For guidance on payments into or out of Iranian banks and for all other matters, contact your local Compiliance function.

Yours faithfully

D H Hodakinson

Subject: OFAC sanctions Importance: Normal Attachments: image_0.gif

John,

You will be aware that I am keen to ensure that implementation of the GCL 050047 is carried out both professionally and efficiently. To this end, I have requested my colleague Jeremy Walker to supply MI for affected USD payments over a 10 day period (5 a round the time of implementation of the GCL and 5 more recently), so that I can review and address any issues arising.

These figures, which you may find interesting, are detailed below:

	12/09/05	13/9/05	14/09	9/05	15/09/05	16/09/05
Sudan	406	478	37	1	353	382
Iran	181	155	185		128	172
Cuba	144	236	220)	169	144
Myanmar	0	۵	0	0	31
TOTAL	731	869	776	10	650	729

To clarify, these figures constitute the number of payment transactions which have been identified by Wolf in UK as being possible hits. The figure shown will include both MT202 and MT103 messages (so there is an element of double counting in the figures supplied, as a typical single customer transaction will have both an MT103 and an MT202) and is for all currencies-not purely USD -on a particular day.

In particular regard to the Sudanese payments, but also to a lesser extent, Cuban and Burmese, there are a considerable number of USD denominated transactions. The precise amount is difficult to quantify, unless manual counts are made and as you will appreciate, this is difficult in a volume driven payments environment. Until 28 July, the above payments would have been filtered by Wolf and providing they did not infringe UN/EU sanctions or terrorist parameters, they were paid on the basis that HBEU were not affected directly by OFAC sanctions.

Since the issuance of the GCL, it has been made clear that US interests are of paramount importance and we should do nothing, when processing payment transactions, which would leave HBUS in a vulnerable position. The issues surrounding Iran have overshadowed other OFAC payments recently, however, I can advise that we have not so far physically returned any USD payments involving Sudan, Cuba or Burma. I feel we now need to look far more closely at these payments to ensure compliance with the GCL.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
EXHIBIT #71a

The choice at present, from my viewpoint, with regard to application of the GCL in respect of these payments is this:

- 1. We continue to process the USD transactions but ensure that the method of routing of the payments is such that they are not frozen in US. This will involve intelligent usage of the routing system but may perpetuate similar scenarios to those encountered with Iran (customer instructions saying Do not mention Sudan or routing which does not make it apparent that these are Sudanese payments). This would create the exact scenarios illustrated in Compliance's guidance examples re Sudan i.e the payment is prohibited under the sanction but is made because it pays a USD account outside the US.
- We apply strictly the wording of the GCL..."...refuse to participate in any transactions and activities, or make any payments denominated in USD, which, if carried out by a US person, would be prohibited by any OFAC sanctions.." and return the payments unprocessed.

My instinct is to return all such USD payments but, before doing so, I would like confirmation that there should not be a cooling off period when we continue to make such payments, pending the Relationship Managers 'advi c e to their customer base. Additionally, I want to be sure that I am correct in thinking that we should be "adopting" OFAC sanctions in these situations and not merely "interpreting" the OFAC sanctions so that our US colleagues' position is not compromised. It is perhaps also worth bearing in mind that OFAC sanctions are not limited to USD and if we made a Euro payment to Citibank in favour of Sudan, we should likewise be cancelling such payments.

I have spoken to a number of RMs recently and, rightly or wrongly, there is little or no knowledge of the practical implications of the GCL. The BPM is yet to be updated and so it has not crossed the line of vision of many RMs. This does mean that, If we refuse to process OFAC related USD payments forthwith, the first time the customer will be aware will be when his payment rejects at our Wolf queue. This could cause considerable customer servicing issues, particularly if it involves large corporates or valued private customers.

To reiterate my stance above, I am keen to ensure that this is progressed professionally, and with minimum risk, but I am acutely aware that whichever route I take may have other repercussions, albeit unwittingly. I feel that David Bagley should be made aware of this situation but before advising him directly I thought it sensible to involve yourselves, so that practical remedial action can be drawn up.

I would be grateful for your input, perhaps a short meeting to prevent protracted email correspondence could be arranged, but I will await your views.

Regards

Rod

Graham,

Thank you for the update.

Sandy collared me on this last week. I told him then, and I have since confirmed, that the new policy applies specifically only to USD payments. However, I have now been advised there is also an issue for non-USD payments where these are transmitted through the HBUS TP gateway, as is the case in South America. Fernando Busnello is dealing with this on behalf of HBBR/HBAR and you may like to talk to him directly if HBMX' payments are similarly routed.

I note HBMX continues to process USD payments involving Cuba. It is very important this is stopped immediately as the regulators are getting very tough and the cost to the Group could be considerable if a breach occurs, both in terms of the fine and in the rectification work which is likely to be a pre-requisite to any settlement. If this identifies further breaches, the cost could spiral,

With regard to non-USD payments as described above, GHQ CMP are urging HBUS to screen out these transactions to avoid any risk, and HBMX would have to put measures in place to per-empt customer dismay.

I am happy to discuss further.

I have received the following commentary from HBMX CMP, which I relay in response to your query

OFAC List Verification Implementation

Background:

The implementation of the "OFAC" list as directed by GCL050047 has not been completely accomplished. This is due to the fact that the "WOLF" system for the online detection of "OFAC" related matches will not be implemented until April 06; and because neither USD demand deposit accounts nor the Credit Card systems yet provide online validation against the "OFAC" list for new account openings. Please note that once these systems are updated, all other products and services will also be controlled as they all require a cheque account to be operated.

Pending these systems changes, manual controls have been implemented in Private Banking, Treasury, Trade Services, and Trust; however, please note that no automated means exists to ensure that these controls are properly being carried out.

Our greatest exposure, and hence principal focus, is to the volume of business historically carried out by HBMX customers with Cuba in US dollars.

David W J BAGLEY/HGHQ/HSBC HGHQ Sent To Matthew J W KING/GGM INA GHQ/HGHQ/HSBC@HSBC cc Subject GCL 050047 - Compliance with Sanctions Entity HSBC Holdings plc -

I refer to the above GCL, where the practical impact largely centres upon the OFAC sanctions, both at country and individual (SDN) level.

Group CEO is particularly concerned to ensure as far as is possible that the GCL is properly and fully implemented across the Group, recognising the significant US regulatory and reputational risks which might arise were even non-US Group members seen to infringe or aid and abet infringement of the OFAC sanctions. The recent case involving perhaps provides a stark example of the potential consequences which arise in circumstances where the US authorities suspect involvement in "breach".

I attach a copy of my note to Stephen dated 19 September which sought to both update him with regard to certain significant steps required as part of implementation but also indicated that we would need to seek further assurance with regard to compliance with the GCL either by specific and targeted reviews (which will need to take place in the first quarter of 2006) and will be the subject of the Compliance planning process, but also presumably through relevant scrutiny as part of audits.

Areas particularly affected by the GCL would include Trade Finance (where HTB have issued specific guidance), Payments areas, Correspondent Banking and possibly participation in local USD settlement systems. I am happy to discuss relevant aspects of the GCL, and the practical issues which we have already seen arising out of implementation, with any of your team if you think this would help, and whilst I recognise that as a matter of routine your audit programmes consider GCLs, it is clear that Group CEO sees compliance with this GCL as being of particular significance.

Subject: GCL050047 "COMPLIANCE WITH SANCTIONS"

Stephen

Given the significance of the above GCL, and conscious of the fact that I will miss the next pre-GMB meeting whilst in Hong Kong, I thought I should update you with progress made in relation to implementation of the GCL since its issue. The key points are:-

The required specialist 'U-turn' team has been established in HBME DUB who have opened a correspondent account with J P Morgan Chase through which the pre-screened complaint U-turn Iranian Payments can be made.

A number of Group Offices have opened USD accounts with HBME (through which they will route all Iranian payments) I am not convinced that all Group Offices with Iranian payments are yet routing those payments through HBME, which the GCL required they should do by 1SEP05. I have already issued a reminder to Regional Compliance Officers and asked that they review with their Business Heads if they do have relevant business which requires routing through HBME. It is of course entirely possible that some offices may have no need of these accounts if they have no relevant activity. I have asked for confirmations of the local position by close on 23 September.

GHQ CMP have provided, and continue to provide, significant levels of ad hoc advice in relation to OFAC sanctions, including in respect of activities within CIBM. The latter consisted of FX and Bond dealing with Iranian banks. Where necessary we have validated our advice with external lawyers.

HTV, in close consultation with GHQ CMP have issued detailed guidance with regard to operational procedures for trade transactions involving Iran. Most of the payment flows linked to trade transactions we have considered to date are U-turn compliant. HTV's procedures are intended to ensure that no further trade commitments are entered into where the ultimate payments would be other than compliant. For operational reasons HTV have adopted an approach which is stricter than the requirements of the GCL.

I suspect that ASP is most heavily affected by the GCL, particularly in relation to trade by their customers with Myanmar. Whilst I am sure that there will have been some adverse reaction on activity involving Iran, most of the trade transactions have been able to continue as the payments are U-turn compliant. I have not received any feedback on the reaction within Iran.

I have indicated to the Compliance function globally that they will be required to carry out a comprehensive programme of reviews, against a standard template to be provided by GHQ CMP, to consider whether the GCL has been implemented. I will also discuss with Matthew King how we can use routine audits to provide additional comfort.

A recent meeting of the Wolfsberg Group confirmed both the substance and timeliness of the approach we have adopted. It appears that at least 3 European banks have OFAC related issues, although ABN are by far the worst affected. David Hodgkinson advised me that he has heard that the fine to be imposed on ABN may be as large as USD350m, although this is unconfirmed. Additionally Warren Leaming, RCO Dubai, has been called to a meeting with major banks at the US Consulate where they will be addressed by a representative from OFAC. I suspect this follows on from the known visit to ABN's Dubai Office by representatives from the Federal Reserve.

I will continue to monitor implementation of the GCL and at the Global Conference arranged in October will re-emphasise to the function the significance and the reasons for our policy, and the need to monitor Compliance. I wonder if it would also be appropriate for you to talk briefly about the significance of this GCL at the AOP offsite.

No questions or issues were raised in connection with cover payments during the peer review carried out jointly by FRB and OCC of our correspondent banking activities with HBUS.

I will be discussing how best to address the USD clearing system in Hong Kong, where HBAP act as the administrating bank, during my visit next week. Any changes to this system which we think are advisable in the context of the OFAC sanction will need to be discussed with HKMA. Given that there are obvious potential sensitivities in being seen to apply US regulation extra-territorially I recognise the need to proceed with caution, whilst protecting us against US regulatory risk.

We have closed a number of USD correspondent relationships with Cuban and Myanmar banks.

We have, as anticipated within the GCL, allowed a number of pre-existing commitments to be honoured, but emphasised that no fresh arrangements should be entered into which would breach the terms of the GCL.

Accordingly we have lifted our recommendation against the commence or expansion of relationships with the above with immediate effect. We will communicate this decision to HBEU where I believe there are a number of pending applications.

Whilst we will advise HBUS CMP of the revised view within GHQ CMP nevertheless I believe it will remain appropriate for HBUS CMP in conjunction with HBUS senior management to reach their own determination with regard to the expansion of business with Al Rajhi within the US. Although the revised view from GHQ CMP ought to be a material matter causing them to reconsider their position nonetheless, and particularly in the current US environment, I do not believe it is appropriate for us to seek to influence their determination one way or the other. This was something that I discussed as a possible outcome with Igbal when we discussed Al Rajhi.

Sally -

This is not so simple. David does not object insofar as HBEU is concerned, but has left it to us to assess the US risk. We've gotten push back from the OCC on Al Rahji Trading, which is less controversial than the bank. We can revisit this, but I am not inclined to push ahead precipitously, especially in light of the regulatory scrutiny.

After the OCC close out and that chapter hopefully finshed, could we re-visit Al Rajhi again. London compliance has taken a more lenient view, as per below.

Having now received the updated KYC from Shariq Siddiqui and reviewed the previous information received from Group Securities I am pleased to confirm that we have revised our recommendation in relation to the above.

Accordingly we have lifted our recommendation against the commence or expansion of relationships with the above with immediate effect. We will communicate this decision to HBEU where I believe there are a number of pending applications.

Whilst we will advise HBUS CMP of the revised view within GHQ CMP nevertheless I believe it will remain appropriate for HBUS CMP in conjunction with HBUS senior management to reach their own determination with regard to the expansion of business with Al Rajhi within the US. Although the revised view from GHQ CMP ought to be a material matter causing them to reconsider their position nonetheless, and particularly in the current US environment, I do not believe it is appropriate for us to seek to influence their determination one way or the other. This was something that I discussed as a possible outcome with Iqbal when we discussed Al Rajhi.

Salman Hussain, the PCM Regional Sales Manager at HBME in Bahrain, who has recently visited the subject, has called to say that Al Rajhi has now run out of patience waiting for us to re-start our banknote trading relationship and unless we can complete the kyc formalities and advise them accordingly by the end of November, they will terminate all product relationships with the HSBC Group - which I believe to be substantial.

Their main point of contention is that they feel that they were exonerated by all US legal processes from TF suspicion some time ago and yet we have still not been able to re-start trading with them. Gordon finished our latest attempt at the profile on Tuesday and you will find the kyc profile to be currently in the 'IB Pending' inbox. Steve,

I am not trying to be difficult, but I do not personally feel comfortable IB approving this name. I do not know this bank. Additionally, several years ago, when HBUS had relationships with 2 different Al Rajhi names, management would ask me questions about the customer every time the name appeared in the US newspapers. I do not know this bank personally and am therefore not qualified to render an opinion; I cannot answer questions if/when the Alrajhi name appears in US news media.

Therefore, please ask another officer to IB approve. I am IB-Denied the KYC, so that my name can be removed as RM.

Thank you.

Dear David, Gordon and Stephen,

Further to my phone call with David last week after meeting Al Rajhi Bank in Riyadh. I was given a deadline by Mr. Cassim Docrat, Head of FI until end of Nov. to respond to them weather we will be able to resume the banknote business or not. Mr. Docrat indicated that HSBC Amanah business will be at risk and they will cancel any dealings with HSBC.

Mr. Docrat understand Compliance Dept. requirements and suggested we request further information from Moody (Attn. Mr. Anwar Hasson) or S&P. He also indicated that JP Morgan Chase, their main US$ clearer had done the same and accordingly an O/D limit of $290mm established by JPMC for Al Rajhi.

I can't stress on the fact that we do want to do business with this institution from PCM side. We do stand a good chance to win a US$ clearing account thru offering Islamic Overnight Investment Product and the US$ check clearing thru Check 21.

Kindly let me know if you do require any further assistance to obtain compliance approval.

Just spoke to Alan. He's going to read the whole file, including the few EDD. He says the file is more than an inch thick and he's aware of the 'threat' you passed along. His view is Alrajhi may not really walk away if we can't revert by November end, which I agree.

Steve, Salman

The purpose of this note is to confirm to you the willingness of HBUS to recommence a relationship with Al Rajhi Bank.

I have reviewed Al Rajhi Bank's AML information as well as all the investigative research that has been performed by ICRO, I have also conducted some of my own research and am satisfied that we can do business with this entity as long as our due diligence is thoroughly documented and close transaction monitoring takes place by Compliance along with a high degree of transaction awareness being maintained by the business. Over a period of years there has been much negative publicity associated with the principals of this entity – while none of these allegations has been proven or substantiated, the notion of 'no smoke without fire' is one we must bear in mind and any business unit dealing with this entity must acknowledge the associated risks. I have not yet reviewed their Lotus Notes KYC Profile in any great detail but will try to do so before close of business today – to paraphrase an expression from English Banking, if it is in my hands and in order I will approve it.

I am confident that our Banknotes transaction monitoring is sufficiently robust to keep a close eye on this client's activities and I would ask that your traders apply special vigilance when dealing with them.

I'm addressing Salman with this note because I know that he too is looking to further develop the Al Rajhi Bank relationship but here I have to place some conditions. While we have a robust method of monitoring wire payment activity, we do not have a corresponding automated method of monitoring check or cash letter transactions. Accordingly, while I would be happy to see wire activity flowing over a future Al Rajhi Bank account, I cannot support paper activity with the degree of close monitoring that would be appropriate.

Chris Lok has agreed to act as relationship owner for this name in place of Beth Fisher - he will thus review and approve the profile if he is satisfied with it. Should a PCM relationship develop, it must be with the explicit approval of HBUS' senior PCM management.

Officials Debated What To Do About Al Rajhi, Intelligence Files Show By GLENN R. SIMPSON July 26, 2007; Page A1

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia -- In the 1940s, two Bedouin farm boys from the desert began changing money for the trickle of traders and religious pilgrims in this then-remote and barren kingdom. It was a business built on faith and trust, Sulaiman Al Rajhi once told an interviewer, and for many years he would hand gold bars to strangers boarding flights in Jidda and ask them to give the gold to his brother on their arrival in Riyadh.

EXTREMISTS' ACCOUNTS

The News; U.S. intelligence reports say Islamic extremists often use Saudi Arabia's Al Rajhi Bank to move money. The bank has denounced terrorism and denies any role in financing extremists.

The Issue: A confrontation with Al Rajhi would be politically difficult for Saudi monarchy, and U.S. isn't satisfied with its efforts to curb the financial infrastructure essential to terrorism.

Result: U.S. has periodically debated taking action on its own against the bank, but chosen instead to lobby the Saudis quietly about its concerns. Today, Mr. Al Rajhi is a reclusive octogenarian whose fortune is estimated at $12 billion. And Al Rajhi Bank grew into the kingdom's largest Islamic bank, with 500 branches in Saudi Arabia and more spread across the Muslim world. Following the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks, the bank also set off an intense debate within the U.S. government over whether to take strong action against its alleged role in extremist finance. Confidential reports by the Central Intelligence Agency and other U.S. agencies, reviewed by The Wall Street Journal, detail for the first time how much the U.S. learned about the use of Al Rajhi Bank by alleged extremists, and how U.S. officials agonized over what to do about it.

After 9/11, the Saudi monarchy pledged its full support in the fight against global terrorism. And following violent attacks inside the kingdom in the next two years, the Saudis did launch major strikes against militants operating on their soil. But the Saudi government has been far been less willing to tackle the financial infrastructure essential to terrorism. U.S. intelligence reports state that Islamic banks, while mostly doing ordinary commerce, also are institutions that extremism relies upon in its global spread.

As a result, the Bush administration repeatedly debated proposals for taking strong action itself against Al Rajhi Bank, in particular, according to former U.S. officials and previously undisclosed government documents. Ultimately, the U.S. always chose instead to lobby Saudi officialdom quietly about its concerns.

The U.S. intelligence reports, heretofore secret, describe how Al Rajhi Bank has maintained accounts and accepted donations for Saudi charities that the U.S. and other nations have formally designated as fronts for al Qaeda or other terrorist groups.

In addition, Mr. Al Rajhi and family members have been major donors to Islamic charities that are suspected by Western intelligence agencies of funding terrorism, according to CIA reports and federal-court filings by the Justice Department.

A 2003 CIA report claims that a year after Sept. 11, with a spotlight on Islamic charities, Mr. Al Rajhi ordered Al Rajhi Bank's board "to explore financial instruments that would allow the bank's charitable contributions to avoid official Saudi scrutiny."

A few weeks earlier, the report says, Mr. Al Rajhi "transferred $1.1 billion to offshore accounts -- using commodity swaps and two Lebanese banks -- citing a concern that U.S. and Saudi authorities might freeze his assets." The report was titled "Al Rajhi Bank: Conduit for Extremist Finance."

Al Rajhi Bank and the Al Rajhi family deny any role in financing extremists. They have denounced terrorist acts as un-Islamic. The bank declined to address specific allegations made in American intelligence and law-enforcement records, citing client confidentiality.

RELATED DOCUMENTS

Al-Rajhi bank became a target for U.S. terrorism sanctions less than two months after Sept. 11, 2001.

No action was taken, but in mid-2003, the Central Intelligence Agency concluded that the Al-Rajhi family and their bank were financing terrorists, probably knowingly. This is the summary page1 from the agency's report.

The bank sued The Wall Street Journal Europe for libel in 2002 over a report that it was under scrutiny in connection with terrorism funding, but dropped the case in 2004 and The Wall Street Journal published the bank's statement2. The CIA's report and other U.S. intelligence on Al-Rajhi remained secret, and in 2005 a federal judge threw out a lawsuit against the bank by victims of Al Qaeda, saying there was no evidence Al-Rajhi provided anything but routine banking services to terrorists. Read the order.3

The Al-Rajhi family and the ruling Al-Saud family of Saudi Arabia have been at odds for decades, in part because of the accidental death of an infant Al-Rajhi family member in a botched police rescue attempt during a kidnapping. Saudi dissidents in London issued a communiqué recounting the incident4 that was highly critical of Saudi authorities. The document was made available by the Investigative Project on Terrorism, a Washington-based nonprofit group. This 1992 State Department cable5 from the U.S. ambassador in Riyadh discusses the Saudi press coverage of the Al Rajhi bank's purported role in the BCCI scandal.

One of the Al Rajhi bank's major longtime clients is the International Islamic Relief Organization of Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, a powerful charity backed by some of the country's wealthiest businessmen. This fundraising solicitation6 is from the IIRO's March 2007 newsletter. The group strongly denounces terrorism on its Web site7.

U.S. intelligence has alleged connections between al Qaeda and the IIRO since 1996, and the Treasury Department now alleges8 the IIRO has been deeply penetrated by al Qaeda. The group denies supporting terrorism in this statement 9 from its most recent newsletter. The group also claims it no longer sends money overseas, and that its accounts are frozen by Saudi banks. Yet its most recent fundraising letter10 solicits donations to Al Rajhi bank and touts a variety of ongoing projects in overseas conflict zones.

In 2004, IIRO funded a medical facility in Fallujah while that central Iraqi town was under the control of Iraqi insurgents. The U.S. Marine Corps blew up the clinic, and says all three of the city's hospitals were being used by insurgents as fighting positions. See the PowerPoint slides11. In 2002, the bank sued The Wall Street Journal Europe after an article said Saudi authorities were monitoring some Al Rajhi Bank accounts at U.S. request, in a bid to prevent them from being used, wittingly or unwittingly, for funneling money to terrorist groups. The bank dropped the suit in 2005 and the Journal published a statement saying its article hadn't reported any allegation that the bank supported or financed terrorism.

Also in 2005, a U.S. judge dismissed Al Rajhi Bank from a lawsuit filed by relatives of Sept. 11 victims. The ruling said banks couldn't be held liable for providing routine services to people who turned out to be terrorists. In a statement in response to questions about suspected terrorists among its clients, the bank noted that "Al Rajhi Bank has a very large branch network, and a very large retail customer base."

U.S. law-enforcement and intelligence agencies acknowledge it is possible that extremists use the bank's far-flung branches and money-transfer services without bank officials' knowledge. The U.S. has never obtained proof that the bank or its owners knowingly facilitate terrorism, according to documents and former officials, despite what they describe as extensive circumstantial evidence that some executives are aware the bank is used by extremists. The 2003 CIA report concluded: "Senior Al Rajhi family members have long supported Islamic extremists and probably know that terrorists use their bank." Most major banks around the world are bound by a patchwork of treaties and agreements that, in effect, require them to know their customers and report any suspicious activities to regulators. The rules are designed to fight terrorism, money laundering and narcotics trafficking. It's generally acknowledged that Saudi banks are bound by these rules, although experts differ on when compliance became mandatory.

The top counterterrorism official at the U.S. Treasury Department, while declining to comment on Al Rajhi Bank specifically, says Saudi officials haven't met a promise to create a commission to oversee Saudi charities, many of which bank with Al Rajhi. "They are also not holding people responsible for sending money abroad for jihad," says the Treasury official, Stuart Levey. "It

The Saudi government maintains it has been working diligently with the U.S. and others to counter terrorism. It cites its arrests of several alleged terrorist fund-raisers in recent years. The Saudis didn't respond to specific questions about their efforts to counter terrorist finance or oversee banks.

A White House statement said that "the Saudis continue to be a strong partner in the War on Terror....We have made significant progress on numerous fronts -- including the freezing of assets and the shutdown of known conduits of [terrorist] funding." A CIA spokesman said "publishing details of how our government seeks to track extremist financing" could undermine those efforts. For the ruling Saud family, any confrontation with the Al Rajhis could be politically treacherous. To stay in power, the Sauds rely on the tolerance of clerical and business elites, many of whom view the royal family as corrupt. The wealthy Al Rajhis are a clan long at odds with the royal family. And U.S. intelligence files show the Al Rajhis also have close ties to another group critical of the royals: Saudi Arabia's conservative clerics.

The Al Rajhi empire includes hotels, housing developments, commodities trading, shipping, aviation leasing and poultry. Its core is the bank, with more than 500 branches in Saudi Arabia and other offices abroad, from Pakistan to Malaysia. For 2006, the publicly held institution reported $1.9 billion in profit and $28 billion in assets.

Sulaiman Al Rajhi grew up in the Nejd desert, the birthplace of a severe form of Islam, called Wahhabism, that forbids birthday parties, musical instruments and photographing people. In the 1940s, he and a brother, Saleh, went to the Saudi capital city. "From literally nothing — making change on what were then the dirt streets of Riyadh — Sulaiman and Saleh al Rajhi built the Al Rajhi Bank," Sulaiman's lawyers told a U.S. court in New York in 2005. Sulaiman described the business in a rare interview with Euromoney magazine in 1983. With two other brothers, he and Saleh began changing money for pilgrims taking camel caravans across the desert to the holy cities of Mecca and Medina. When throngs of migrant workers came to Saudi Arabia during the 1970s oil boom, the Al Rajhis helped them send their earnings home to places like Indonesia and Pakistan.

In 1983, the brothers won permission to open Saudi Arabia's first Islamic bank, one that would observe religious tenets such as a ban on interest. But relations with the ruling family frayed. The government-controlled press in 1992 publicized Al Rajhi Bank's tangential role in an international scandal of that era, that of the bank called BCCI, U.S. diplomats reported. Then in 1994, an infant relative of the Al Rajhis died in a kidnapping. Official press accounts said the kidnappers slit the child's throat, but Saudi dissidents claimed police shot the child. Mr. Al Rajhi blamed the royal family, the CIA report says.

Although Al Rajhi Bank continued to make a show of support for the Sauds — annual reports had flowery tributes to the royal family — the bank began refusing to make loans to the Sauds or to finance their projects, U.S. diplomats said at the time.

With its Islamic procedures, the bank was a magnet for the clerical establishment, which grew rich from alms amid the oil boom. As the clerics' charities spread, they became entwined with AI Rajhi Bank and the conservative AI Rajhi family's own extensive financial support for Islamic causes. There is no reliable estimate of how much the AI Rajhis have given to promote Islam over the years, but an endowment holding much of Saleh AI Rajhi's wealth gives an indication of the scale. Its Web site details nearly $50 million in direct donations within the kingdom to Islamic causes and at least $12 million in donations abroad. The overseas money went to aid embattled Muslims in Kosovo, Chechnya and the Palestinian territories and to finance Islamic instruction.

There are indications not all the giving was for such purposes. The Al Rajhi name appeared on a list of regular financial contributors to al Qaeda that was discovered in Sarajevo, Bosnia, in 2002. The list was authenticated for the Federal Bureau of Investigation that year by America's top judicial witness against al Qaeda, a onetime al Qaeda business manager named Jamal Al Fadl, who is in the federal witness-protection program. He called the contributor list the "golden chain."

A 2003 German police report said Sulaiman Al Rajhi and other family members had contributed more than $200,000 in 1993 to a charity that financed weapons for Islamic militants in Bosnia, in addition to providing humanitarian aid. The 2003 CIA report tells of efforts by two Al Rajhi brothers to keep some giving secret. It says that Sulaiman and Saleh transferred $4 million to parties in Germany and Pakistan in December 1998 using "a unique computer code to send funds at regular intervals to unspecified recipients, suggesting they were trying to conceal the transactions and that the money may have been intended for illegitimate ends."

The report says extremists "ordered operatives in Afghanistan, Indonesia, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Turkey, and Yemen" to use Al Rajhi Bank. Mamduh Mahmud Salim, convicted mastermind of the 1998 embassy bombings in Kenya and Tanzania, was carrying records of an Al Rajhi account (number 001424/4) when arrested in Germany in 1998, German police found.

In 2000, the CIA report says, AI Rajhi Bank couriers "delivered money to the Indonesian insurgent group Kompak to fund weapons purchases and bomb-making activities."

A U.S. intelligence memo dated Nov. 16, 2001, says a money courier for Osama bin Laden's second-in-command, Ayman al-Zawahri, traveled on a visa that the bank had obtained for him. The memo adds, however: "Reporting does not indicate whether bank management was witting" of the courier's terrorist connections. Al Rajhi Bank maintained at least 24 accounts and handled unusual transactions for Al-Haramain foundation -- a charity that Treasury officials say has acted as a front for al Qaeda in 13 countries -- until the Saudi government ordered the charity shut down in late 2004, according to intelligence and law-enforcement reports. The United Nations has designated top officials of Al-Haramain foundation as terrorists, and most of its offices now are closed. According to a federal indictment in Oregon, a top Al-Haramain official in 2000 carried $130,000 in $1,000 traveler's checks from Portland to Riyadh and deposited them with Al Rajhi -- funds the indictment says were for the ultimate benefit of al Qaeda fighters in Chechnya. The indicted official, Soliman Al-Buthe, now works for the city of Riyadh. In an interview, he confirmed carrying the checks and depositing them with Al Rajhi Bank but said that they weren't for al Qaeda and that he did nothing wrong.

A Jidda-based charity called the International Islamic Relief Organization, or IIRO, arranges for donors to send their donations directly to the Al Rajhi Bank. The IIRO's chairman, Adnan Khalil Basha, says the charity is "absolutely apolitical" and has elaborate spending controls to prevent illicit diversions. The charity says it works with Al Rajhi Bank simply because its fees are low and its service is best.

However, the U.N. has labeled two of the IIRO's branches and some of its officials as al Qaeda supporters. In 2004, the IIRO solicited donations through Al Rajhi Bank for the Iraqi city of Fallujah, then largely under the control of insurgents and the base of the late Abu Musab al Zarqawi, who led al Qaeda in Mesopotamia. The IIRO's workers oversaw construction of a trauma clinic in an insurgent-controlled area of Fallujah. The U.S. saw the clinic as a haven for insurgent fighters, and Marines destroyed it in November 2004. That was "a big tragedy for us," says the IIRO's chairman, Mr. Basha.

He denies the charity had any involvement with the Iraqi insurgency. Charity officials complain that the U.S. has produced no evidence of their alleged ties to terrorism.

Two years earlier, federal agents raided the Virginia offices of a network of charities funded by Sulaiman Al Rajhi that worked closely with the IIRO and that — according to Justice Department court fillings — provided funds to Palestinian terrorists. No charges have been filed.

A year after the 9/11 attacks, U.S. authorities began to lament the lack of Saudi action in taking down terrorists' financial infrastructure. A November 2002 CIA report said the Saudi government "has made little independent effort to uncover terrorist financiers, investigate individual donors, and tighten the regulation of Islamic charities," largely because of "domestic political considerations."

The report advised against a noisy confrontation: "A key factor for continued successful counterterrorism initiatives with the Saudis, whose society is by tradition private, closed, and conservative, will be to ensure that their cooperation with the United States is handled discreetly and kept as much as possible out of the public eye."

The U.S. began to rethink that approach after an al Qaeda attack in Riyadh in May 2003 that killed 26 people, including nine Americans. Deputies from the National Security Council, CIA, Treasury and State departments debated a proposal for legal and political action against Al Rajhi Bank, including the possibility of covert operations such as interfering with the bank's internal operations, according to Bush administration documents and former U.S. officials.

One idea kicked around was "listing or threatening to list" Al Rajhi Bank as a supporter of terrorism. Such a listing can be done if recommended by a committee representing the Treasury, State and Defense departments and the CIA and NSC, and signed by the president. The designation bars U.S. companies from doing business with the named entity. A U.S. designation also normally is forwarded to the U.N., and if that body puts the name on its own terrorist-supporter list, all member states are obliged to freeze the entity's assets.

Other ideas U.S. officials discussed included enlisting friendly countries to step up scrutiny and regulatory action against the Al Rajhis. The CIA report said that "a successful effort against the Al Rajhis would encourage efforts against other donors, or at a minimum, would discourage private funding of Al Qaeda."

Ultimately, the Bush administration again chose merely to continue privately exerting pressure on the Saudis to stiffen their oversight.

One, the money is there and we should go for this account.

Two, I will jump in and wear the GRM hat.

Three, I wonder where will can you get that much Saudi. Just relying on what you and HKG can pickup in the region is not enough. Even including London's. So how?

Four, I wouldn't rely on Hersel to help you get the business. And he certainly can't help on clarifying the link to Alrajhi. I would instead suggest we ourselves visit the client and sell our service directly.

I believe we should be able to get the KCY sign off.

Re: ISLAMI BANK BANGLADESH LIMITED

Chris,

Some background on the issue;

According to our colleagues in Dhaka, approximately 60,000 Bangladeshis make their way to Saudi Arabia annually to perform the Haj. It is estimated that each pilgrim will require approximately USD1,000-3,000 in currency for expenses. On the low side, we're therefore looking at about USD 60 mio of currency needs on an annual basis.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

EXHIBIT #82

There is a shortage of SAR in the market. Most of it is now supplied by money changers and banks who recycle SAR notes that come in from the transient worker population working in the Middle East. Pilgrims who can't secure enough SAR will carry USD notes with them to Saudi Arabia, where they will change them into riyals.

There is therefore an underserved demand here, one that Islami Bank is looking to capitalize on. Assuming that about half of all pilgrims would prefer to change SAR in Bangladesh instead of in Saudi Arabia, that's an annual requirement of about SAR112 mio. Assuming again that we take a conservative margin of 2.5 per mille, our estimated net profit would be approximately USD 75,000/ year.

Bangladesh is a relatively small market, but there is potential. Our total volume in '06 was USD37.1 mio, garnering us NTI of approximately USD47,000. Comparatively, our volume YTD Oct '07 is USD 46 mio, garnering us NTI of approximately USD72,000. We expect the full year's NTI to be around 75,000, representing growth of about 53% year-on-year. We are a monopoly here, and margins are decent.

I understand that Hersel Mehani is quite close to Islami, and PCM already has dealings with the prospect. Would this help in supporting our bid to open the account, should we decide to proceed?

Mr Fung

First, I'm happy to be the RM if this is an account worth chasing. How much money you can expect to make from this name? If this can be answered positively then I will ask PCM to check out the connection between the alrajhi connection. I've looked at the Alrajhi Bank profile and found out an identical Abdul Aziz Alrajhi (chairman of the papermill co. in the islamic profile) also appearing in the alrajhi profile. If this is the same person then we have to asssume there's cross-connection between the Alrajhi Bank and Islamic Bank. We need clarification.

The name Alrajh has been a name heatedly debated for many years. We terminated our trading relationship following 911 and only a year ago after London Compliance came back telling NYK the group is happy to let us resurrect the relationship that we went back. You should check out the Alrajhi Bank profile - done by Gordon Brown and comprehensive.

Not saying just because of this connection we won't do busniess. Its just that if the revenue is there then we're prepared for a good fight. But before that lets get the facts straightened out.

So come back to me with the expected NTI. Also tell me the entire Bangladesh market's worth please.

Chris,

In response to your inquiry, please note that there is a connection between ISLAMI BANK BANGLADESH LIMITED-Bangladesh and Al-Rajhi Bank (aka: Al Raijhi Banking and Investment Corporation).

Based on the information that we have on file, the Al-Rajhi family has been associated with Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited, since its inception. They have at least 37% direct ownership within ISLAMI BANK BANGLADESH LIMITED through their ownership within the following companies; Arabsas Travel & Tourist Agency, 9.999%, Janab Yousif Abdullah Abdul Aziz Al-Rajhi, 9.936%; Al-Rajhi Company for Industry & Trade, 9.94%; Abdullah Abdul Aziz Al-Rajhi, 7.58%

This same family has major controlling interest within Al-Rajhi bank (aka Al Raijhi Banking and Investment Corporation).

Hope this helps. Please let me know if this information is satisfactory.

Daniel
Many thanks for your updated information,
I will support SCC classification for 6 month to allow the local GRM and RM to do a full review of subject bank Sr. mgts and secure that internal controls are in place.
As you know the bank being the Govt Owned will always faces such issues at a lower level of bank management's.
I am aware that the Sr Management and Senior officer are screened and officially chosen by the board of the central bank and from past experience they have chosen honest and professional Bankers. However they will always have exposure to some officers who will abuse their power and take advantage of the bureaucratic system of the bank.

Overall I am comfortable with the relationship we presently have on the PCM and will support retaining this account

Thanks and regards,

Valerie / WK.

We will need a response from the client in Bangladesh and the business (BN/PCM, RM, etc.) regarding the negative information identified in this EDD ROF. This is a PCM and Banknote-Singapore shared client, so you may want to collaborate with each other and the RM & Sales Manager on this - and determine/confirm whether you want to maintain them as a client in each of your respective businesses. Resolution of the issues and risk mitigants would need to be well-documented.

And we need to consider SCC classification due to reputational risk.

The bank is listed as a PEP because it is owned by the government. There was information found on our internal database that seems to have already been addressed previously in the KYC (In General Comments). The last listing is for the chairman, who is listed as a PEP, however he no longer holds any of the positions listed. It seems to me that no further action needs to be taken on these items, however I wanted to get your opinion on the matter.

Since this information is not directly related to AML, is it something I should still pursue from the GRM to get a response for? If so, what types of questions would be relevant to this situation. Your help and guidance is much appreciated.

Thank you,

Subject Bank - FIG Re: Fw: Report of Findings -

I disagree whole-heartedly with FIG's recommendation. FIG displays ignorance to the banking hierarchy of the banks. As said many times, all state owned banks in are appointed by the Govt and this is not the ground to think that the person is a PEP.

Yes, corruption can be rampant in this bank, but it is not unique to Bank. Without exception all State owned banks have been and will continued to be plagued by misuse of state's money, corruption and delinquent loans. Thats why alone t his year the State has injected over billion into the banks. This is all public knowledge.

in which HSBC has a 19% stake is the Bank and I'm sure HSBC must have found impropriety. Shall we then classify this name as an SCC?

My point is HBUS being a US entity cannot simply use the excuse that because of US regulators' attention and then say that 'I want to classify this name as an SCC because of the adverse reputation this institution has'.

If somebody in HSBC wants to take that view it will be at the group level. Proper consultation must be held at the Group Compliance Level with the senior executives of the Bank to examine this question : Are the State owned Banks in or not.

John: Could you please discuss this with Iain and get his opinion. I want to elevate this to a much higher level now as I want a quick resolution rather than continue engaging myself in these unnecessary discussions.

Chris

REMARKS/RECOMMENDATIONS

Shannon,

As you will read in the below Report of Findings for the bank's senior management and employees have been involved in numerous significant instances of corruption, fraud, and embezzlement over the past few years. Highlights of such instances (detailed in the reports below) involving Bank's management include the following:

Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Also, Bank should be considered for Special Category of Client (SCC) status due to its current President being categorized as a Politically Exposed Person (PEP) on World-Check (details below).

For the above reasons, and the additional instances of financial crime involving the Bank's employees, as detailed below, we recommend that Bank's account relationships with HSBC be closely monitored. The number of instances of corruption, fraud and embezzlement at this institution appears high when compared to other institutions that we have reviewed, and may be indicative of lax controls at the Bank. This is especially of concern given the fact that many of these cases have involved Bank's management and top executives.

Much of the information pertaining to the instances of corruption, fraud and embezzlement at Bank was obtained subsequent to our previous Report of Findings in October 2003. Therefore, we recommend that you consider these findings and discuss them with your Local Compliance Officer (LCO).

Sincerely,

VIII. Summary of Reasons

We have reviewed the information provided above in the context of the bank 's "Know Your Customer" policy and "due diligence" requirements and criteria. Based on the following summary of reasons, we feel comfortable recommending this client for banking business.

Purpose - Explain the purpose of this account / Client relationship and summarize the anticipated activity :

Banknotes Trading - Please refer to the KYC Banknote Profile for a description for the reason for dealing in banknote transactions.

11 August 2010 - ALE search conducted on the bank, its management and owners. No matches were found on OFAC. World-Check isted one of the Board of Directors as a PEP and this has been noted below

EDD ROF dated 10 March 2010 contained some negative news articles concerning the bank's alleged refusal to cooperate with a US Government Supoena in relation to its "investigation into terrorist financing". The bank has launched counter-proceedings in the US Courts in response to the US Governments stance. This case is currently pending an outcome and the US Government has yet to take any steps to make this a designated entity. London Banknotes has discussed these news articles with the GRM, who is comfortable with continuing this relationship. Until further developments London Banknotes is comfortable to continue the existing relationship, whilst monitoring the situation as is warranted for this SCC Type 4 client.

EDD ROF request made 13th January 2009. Compliance says not required from NY. Own due diligence performed and no issues found. No references were found to the history involving court cases.

EDD ROF 4th December 2007:

Despite the overall reputation of the Al-Rajhi family in Saudi Arabia, there have been numerous allegations of impropriety in the business dealings of Al-Rajhi and their group of companies, specifically in Europe and the United States. The controversy primarily centers around the patriarch, Sulaiman Bin Abdulaziz Al-Rajhi and somewhat directly and indirectly to Al-Rajhi Bank, of which he is both Chairman and Managing Director. These allegations allude to tax evasion, money laundering and terrorist financing. Though severe in nature, none of these allegations have yet resulted in any convictions or sanctioned by either U.S. or foreign governments. This bank is already rated an SCC-1 due to the ownership and control by Abdullah Abdul Al Rajhi. The KYC Customer profile indicates the various allegations against the bank but it is noted that no formal charges have been levied by US officials. We will leave this bank as a SCC-1.

Ownership - Comment on the owner's / principal's background, history and reputation:

Three AI Rajhi brothers own 44.5% of the shares in the Bank, although the total AI Rajhi family shareholding is significantly higher. Four AI Rajhi brothers are listed in Forbes Magazine as being part of the 400 wealthiest individuals in the world, with a combined net worth of $22.5 Billion. No mention is made in Forbes about any connections to terrorist financing or terrorism for that matter. Apart from the General Organization for Social Insurance no portion of the remaining 45.4% is held by an individual or entity with more than 5% share. The founding AI-Rajhi family continues to hold a key stake and provides several of the top managers. It is the largest Islamic bank in the Arab world. AI Rajhi Banking and Investment Corporation is a major name in Saudi Arabia's banking and business world. It has grown from a strong base, focusing on serving the needs of the nation and its citizens, contributing to the Kingdom's construction and development, and always operating within the framework of Shariah principles. AI Rajhi Banking and Investment Corporation is one of the largest joint stock companies in the Kingdom, with a paid up capital of SR 2,250,000,000. Head Office is located in Riyadh and there are six Regional Offices. The Corporation has the largest branch network distributed throughout the Kingdom and the largest ATM network.

Management - Comment on the Client's professionalism, expertise, experience, and education of senior officers / executives;
The following Board of Directors and managers were checked against OFAC and World-Check as at 14 January 2009. No adverse information was found in the databases or on OFAC. London Banknotes believes that the management is competent as assessed by our meeting with management since 1998.

20 January 2010 - Haithem Katerji, Director FIG met with Nikolas Fotilas, Head od Strategy at Al Rajhi Bank

Met with Nikolas Fotilas on Wednesday 20th January, 2010. The purpose of the visit was to get an update on their M&A strategy for 2010 and run by them an opportunity in Turkey. The main focus for 2010 is organic growth where the bank is due to open branches in Kuwait (1 branch) and Jordan (8 branches). They will be very opportunistic on the M&A front and they are interested in GCC and Egypt. Turkey is not of interest as the Chairman is not convinced of the Islamic Banking proposition in the country.

We agreed to stay in touch and have monthly calls or visits.

14 november 2009 - David B Illing met with Ahmed Baghazal, Senior Dealer

Met with Ahmed at GTB roadshow in Riyadh.

He is very happy with the increased business we have done this year,especially now that we repatriate our surplus SAR notes to them. The recent order they had for €100 mio was fulfilled with Commerzbank who had no issues with the credit risk on the deal. Discussions took place in a later meeting about AI Rajhi opening a USD account with us in New York which would assist the Banknotes business.

2 March 2009 - Shamzani Bin Md Hussain met with Mohammad Fazal Haque, M Farshad Cader

Discussion Points:

Announced USD 1.7 bn profit for 2008 - 4th Quarter 2008 profit was down 10% - YoY to 2007

Expect 2009 to be more challenging

Agreed that a lot more business can be done between the two institutions

Requested for CAD clearing with HBCA asap

To increase volumes of existing Banknotes business

Perusing Docs for Structured Investment Products

To increase Brokerage transactions i.e. Metal Trading, once they get clarity on fee reduction

-Trade transactions - ready to channel business if rebates arrangement is agreed

Requested HSBC for Bilateral Murabaha - 1-2 years tenor

To build synergies with Al Rajhi Malaysia - immediate Treasury and Trade transactions + multi-currency platform

Possibilitý for funding exercise by 4th quarter 2009 - either via Sukuk programme or Syndication - target USD 2.0bn EMTN - HSBC to be advised

Action:

Shamzani to continue overall engagements to increase Flow business and secure potential EMTN mandate

John / Salman to follow up on CAD accounts

David Billings to follow up on Banknotes

Sulaiman to revert on brokerage fee reduction and follow up on Treasury Docs Shamzani and Davies to follow up with Che Zam / Fadillah of Al Rajhi Malaysia's Treasury.

Sharig Siddigi - 23rd June 2008:

Met with Mohammed Fazal Haque, Manager Financial Institutions. Mohammed mentioned they have received Canadian Dollar proposals from three other banks, and was asking if there is any update on our side. Apparently, he was not kept in the loop by his team on this issue. I told him that Al Rajhi had problems using our Agreement, and HSBC Canada had reservations against the Agency Agreement sent by them. I explained that if we have to use their Agreement, we need to go through a tedious clearance / approval process. It was agreed to close the issue one way or other by next week.

They would be interested in working with Amanah on deals at Senior level. Historically, the focus had been on Saudi market but they have now started looking at transactions outside the Kingdom as well. He said initial areas of interest would be infrastructure and Flexposures and they can come in transactions with USD100m and above. I told him we will certainly keep this in mind. With regards to their own funding, the USD1.0m 5-year facility discussed earlier is not likely to happen this year due to market conditions. They will revisit the issue next year. He was pleased with the relationship on banknotes side, and advised that Saleh Al Jumai would be the best person to meet in that regard. I also expressed desire to broaden the contact with their product teams, and he will arrange meetings with asset management, structured finance etc during the next visits.

Shariq Siddigi - 23rd July 2007:

Met with Mohammed Fazal Haque, Manager Financial Institutions. Al Rajhi Bank is majority owned by the members of Al Rajhi Family. Recently, Fahad Al Rajhi (GM for Treasury and FI) and Cassim Docrat (AGM for Treasury and FI) left the bank. We had requested for a meeting with Acting GM of Treasury and FI (Anand Anchan) and his team, but only the Acting Head of FI (Mohd Fazal Haque) along with his assistant turned up for the meeting. The bank has strict KYC Policies and monitors any unusual transactions through accounts as well as reporting to the SAMA (Saudi Arabian Monetary Agency). Upon opening an account, customers must provide sufficient information about themselves to satisfy the bank. Money laundering is not considered to be a major problem in Saudi Arabia due in bart to the extremely severe penalties for drug related crimes.

They advised that it has been Al Rajhi's policy to primarily deal with the largest local bank in each country. As regard to their correspondent banking relationship in Sudan, they confirmed that the main correspondent is Bank of Khartoum, which also maintains a GBP account with HSBC London. Raju confirmed that relationship with other Sudanese banks is either inactive or insignificant. He also advised that the bank is reviewing its overall relationship portfolio with a view to close the dormant inactive accounts. The bank confirmed that it fully understands the risks associated with providing financial services or making funds available to listed terrorists/sanctioned names notified by the competent authorities. He confirmed that necessary due diligence based on FATF/SAMA guidelines is performed at the relationship inception stage. They have an automated process to detect if the client appears on the list of SDN/sanctioned names advised by the regulatory authority. It also has a transaction monitoring system to detect unusual activity in the account and provides daily reports, which are reviewed by compliance. If there is suspicion about an account, it is immediately reported to SAMA and the account is put under surveillance. If it is established that the account is indeed being used for money laundering purposes, the relationship is immediately exited.

Simon Putt, Hissam Kamal - 19th March 2007:

Met with Anand Anchan, AGM, Treasurer; Samer Farhoud, Deputy Treasurer and Abdulaziz Al Amro, Senior Manager - Head of Products. Meeting to pitch a rated international Sukuk issue by Al Rahji Bank. They were very open that they would very much like to ssue along the lines of ADIB and Sharjah Islamic Bank, and that although they are highly liquid, they would do it tomorrow for strategic purposes.

Salman Hussain, Pallavi Kempaiah - 19th July 2006:

Met with Mohammed Fazal Haque, Manager Financial Institutions and Mohammed Ashraf. Cassim Docrat (head of Financial Institutions) was attending the ADB Conference in Hyderabad, hence MH filled in for him. MH appraised us that the Org was being evamped with focus moving to new areas like corporate banking apart from consolidation in the retail sector.

Alastair Muir, Nigel Weir, Emran Alireza (in London) - 23rd January 2006: Bank Notes - they currently buy 75-100m per month of mainly dollar notes and use Commerzbank for this service they also occasionally buy other European currencies and are interested in opening up a dialogue. The new treasurer Anond is the contact +966 1 211 6000. Met with Cassim Docrat, AGM Head of Financial Institutions. He was formerly with BIB in Bahrain and for the last two years has been working out of Canada for the Islamic Development bank. He was offered and accepted a job with AI Rajhi in May 2005. He reports into Fahad Abdullah Al Rajhi, who is head of Treasury & Financial Institutions and was also due to attend this meeting but was delayed in Switzerland. He estimates that as a bank they are responsible for transaction values in the region of USD 12 billion per annum and believes this represents a substantial piece of business for the FI market and he is keen to share this around. He gives the impression of being keen to develop business with HSBC globally. They currently have 380 branches and around 5.5K staff. He has an area manager responsible for each region Europe, Asia and the Americas. Sharig should make contact with Cassim to ntroduce himself, he has not met many people from HSBC in the last 9 months in his role. Treasury - Colin Willis is no longer Head of Treasury and is on a special project and been replaced by Anand Anchan. Colin favoured certain institutions and HSBC was not one of them and the former head of FI Mr Raju and Colin did not communicate.

The bank also provided us with the 56 page document giving detailed rules on AML from SAMA and confirmation that they comply with these. In summary, the information provided by the customer covers all areas of AML requirements.
	No banking services are provided to new customers without proper identification. The bank requests information on our customer's source of cash so that a reasonable understanding of the profile of the customer is obtained. Customer records and documents are maintained for at least 10 years from the date of origination of the record or document or, in the case of Account Opening documents and Customer identification records, 10 years from the date the Customer closes his account. An Anti-Money Laundering Unit (AML Unit) is established within their Internal Audit. Staff is required to alert their manager if they suspect money laundering. The AML Unit will the scrutinise the account of the Customer under suspicion of money laundering and, if warranted, alert SAMA and the authorities.

A copy of their extensive rules governing SAMA's Anti Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing is held on client file in London. Saudi Arabian Monetary Agency (SAMA), the Central Bank of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, was established in 1952. They issue national currency, the Saudi Riyal; act as a banker to the government; supervise commercial banks; manage Kingdom's foreign exchange reserves; conduct monetary policy for promoting price and exchange rate stability; and promote the growth and ensures the soundness of the financial system.

Does the Country the Cliant is located in have KYC and AML laws and regulations?

If yes, comment on the country's KYC and AML practices (past, present and/or future) regarding prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing.

Extract from 2009 International Narcotics Control Strategy Report (INCSR)

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is a growing financial center in the Gulf Region of the Middle East. However, there is no indication that narcotics-related money laundering currently is vulnerability in the country. Saudi Arabia is neither a major center within the region for financial crimes nor an offshore financial center. Saudi officials acknowledge difficulty in following the money trail due to the preference for cash transactions in the country. Money laundering and terrorist financing are known to originate from Saudi criminal enterprises, private individuals, and Saudi-based charities. There is an absence of official criminal statistics, but reportedly, there was no significant increase in financial crimes during 2008. It is believed the proceeds of crime from stolen cars and counterfeit goods are substantial. All eleven commercial banks in Saudi Arabia operate as standard "Western-style" financial institutions and are under the supervision of the central bank, the Saudi Arabian Monetary Agency (SAMA). In 2003, Saudi Arabia approved a new Anti-Money Laundering Law that contains criminal penalties for money laundering and terrorist financing. The law bans conducting commercial or financial transactions with persons or entities using pseudonyms or acting anonymously; requires financial institutions to maintain records of transactions for a minimum of ten years; adopts precautionary measures to uncover and prevent money laundering operations; requires banks and financial institutions to report suspicious transactions; authorizes government prosecutors to investigate money laundering and terrorist financing; and, allows for the exchange of information and judicial actions against money laundering operations with countries with which Saudi Arabia has official agreements.

In May 2003, SAMA issued updated anti-money laundering and counterterrorist finance guidelines for the Saudi banking system in accordance with the Financial Action Task Force's (FATF) 40 Recommendations on Money Laundering and the Nine Special Recommendations on Terrorist Financing.

In June 2007 the GOSA enacted stricter regulations on the cross-border movement of money, precious metals, and jewels.

The new 2007 regulations also stipulate that whoever is convicted of money laundering will be imprisoned for up to ten years and fined up to five million Saudi riyals (approximately $1,333,300). The regulations also state, "Whoever funds terrorists or terror organizations is considered to be committing a crime of money laundering."

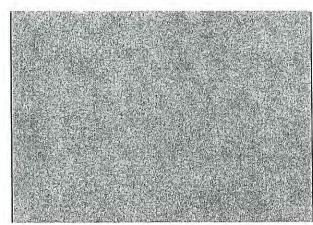

Saudi Arabia participates in the activities of the FATF through its membership in the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC), and as a member of the Middle East and North Africa Financial Action Task Force (MENAFATF), Saudi Arabia will be undergoing a second

FATF mutual evaluation in February 2009. Saudi Arabia is a party the 1988 UN Drug Convention, the UN Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, and the UN Convention for the Suppression of the Financing of Terrorism. Saudi Arabia has signed but not ratified the UN Convention against Corruption. The Government of Saudi Arabia is taking steps towards enforcing its anti-money laundering/counterterrorist finance laws, regulations, and guidelines. However, Saudi Arabia continues to be a significant jurisdictional source for terrorist financing worldwide. The GOSA continues to take aggressive action to target direct threats to the Kingdom, but could do more to target Saudi-based support for extremism outside of Saudi's borders. Saudi authorities should hold terrorist financiers publicly accountable through prosecutions and full implementation of UNSC obligations. The GOSA also needs to take concrete steps to establish a charities oversight mechanism that also overseas "multilateral organizations" and enhances its oversight and control of Saudi entities with overseas operations. Charitable donations in the form of gold, precious stones and other gifts should be scrutinized. There is still an over-reliance on suspicious transaction reporting to generate money laundering investigations. Law enforcement agencies should take the initiative and proactively generate leads and investigations, and be able to follow the financial trails wherever they lead. The public dissemination of statistics regarding predicate offenses and money laundering prosecutions would facilitate the evaluation and design of enhancements to the judicial aspects of its AML system. Saudi Arabia should become a party to the UN Convention against Corruption. http://www.state.gov/p/inl/rls/nrcrpt/2009/vol2/116545.htm Sources used for Country KYC, supervisory regime and AML information are set out in the HBUS AML Country Risk List 🖫 Please refer to the KYC User Guide

Specify how the reputational risk is being controlled:	A multitude of allegations have surrounded the Al-Rajhi family implicating them in a gamut of highly adverse activities ranging from money laundering to terrorist financing. The current facts, however, do not easily support these allegations. Presently, no U.S. or foreign government law enforcement or regulatory body has stated, unconditionally, that any member of Al-Rajhi or any company controlled by Al-Rajhi is under sanction. The U.S. continues to pursue relationships with Saudi Arabia and the Al-Rajhi family irregardless of the allegations being levied against charitable institutions with some presumably direct and indirect links to Al-Rajhi. The major 9/11 lawsuit, which included Al-Rahji, has been dropped against the family and family-related institutions.

01/23/2012 02:13:18 PM

However, there is some reputational risk and the possibility that further investigations by U.S. authorities may ultimately uncover substantiating proof of the Al-Rajhi connection to terrorism is certainly a concern. Our account relationship with Al-Rajhi will be primarily selling USD banknotes out of London. The risk of future sanctions and the reputational risk based on the aforementioned allegations should be measured against the current risks involved in our relationship when ultimately deciding our course of action. Therefore, London Banknotes feels that the bank poses minimal reputational risk to us. The senior management of the bank is fully aware of the previous issues that caused our relationship to terminate and understand the we have to abide by United States banking law and regulation. They have agreed to advise us in changes in market and customer type of USD banknote business, whenever it occurs. Given that the bank operates its banknotes operations internally only, coupled with the fact that this relationship is categorized an SCC, and the other management assurances we feel that we can reactivate this relationship.

	I. Company Overview
	The establishment of Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited on March 13, 1983, is the true reflection of this inner urge of its people, which started functioning with effect from March 30, 1983. This Bank is the first of its kind in Southeast Asia. It is committed to conduct all banking and investment activities on the basis of interest-free profit-loss sharing system. In doing so, it has unveiled a new horizon and ushered in a new silver lining of hope towards materializing a long cherished dream of the people of Bangladesh for doing their banking transactions in line with what is prescribed by Islam. With the active co-operation and participation of Islamic Development Bank (IDB) and some other Islamic banks, financial institutions, government bodies and eminent personalities of the Middle East and the Gulf countries, Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited has by now earned the unique position of a leading private commercial bank in Bangladesh.

EDD ROF 5/11/2006, a notice of cause was issued by the Bank of Bangladesh to the CEO of Islamic Bank in March 2006 to explain accounts owned by suspected Islamic Militants. Client was subsequently fined by Bangladesh Bank and take measures against 20 officers for their involvement. Sources suggest this was the third time Islami Bank Bangladesh Ltd was fined for covering up militants transactions.

GRM was queried and visited client:

CLIENT'S RESPONSE:

The client has indicated that the above-referenced case was not of terrorist financing but rather an isolated case of failure/negligence by branch officials to follow their AML quidelines and operating procedures.

GRM'S COMMENT:

"We performed the due diligence visit yesterday afternoon." "As, we found the explanation on the event and responses to the KYC questionnaire satisfactory, we recommend not to take any further action on Islami Bank. However, considering that Islami Bank is involved in mass banking with a pretty large branch network without a sophisticated or integrated IT platform, there will always be a chance that isolated incidents like this might be found. As such, we will closely monitor the future events and keep you informed as soon as any issue of concern is detected." Muhammad Shohiduzaman, email dated March 21, 2006 According to FIG HBUS, various sources have indicated that this is the third time that the client, Islami Bank Bangladesh has been lined for covering up militants' transactions.

Additionally, ROF recommended that the subject client's KYC profile should be classified as SCC due to the following reason:

"one of its shareholders, the Kuwait Finance House, along with several officers from another shareholder, the Islamic Development Bank (Issufo Sanha, Ibrahim Al-Mofleh, and Aissa Abdellaouf), being categorized as Politically Exposed Persons on World-Check." One of the subject client's shareholder Islamic Development Bank, Jedda, Saudi Arabia, (7.50%) has membership in 56 countries and field representatives in 11 several countries, some of which are OFAC sanctioned countries.

LCO on 5/15/2007 replied, "As for the IDB connection I would say no to SCC."

slamic Development Bank, Jedda, Saudi Arabia, 7.50%:

The functions of the Bank are to participate in equity capital and grant loans for productive projects and enterprises besides providing financial assistance to member countries in other forms for economic and social development. The Bank is also required to establish and operate special funds for specific purposes including a fund for assistance to Muslim communities in non-member countries, in addition to setting up trust funds. The Bank is authorized to accept deposits and to mobilize financial resources through Shari'ah compatible modes. It is also charged with the responsibility of assisting in the promotion of foreign trade especially in capital goods, among member countries; providing technical assistance to member countries; and extending training facilities for personnel engaged in development activities in Muslim countries to conform to the Shari'ah.

The present membership of the Bank consists of 56 countries. The basic condition for membership is that the prospective member country should be a member of the Organization of the Islamic Conference, pay its contribution to the capital of the Bank and be willing to accept such terms and conditions as may be decided upon by the IDB Board of Governors.

Each member country is represented on the Board by a Governor and an Alternate Governor. Each member has five hundred basic votes plus one vote for every share subscribed. Generally, decisions are taken by the Board of Governors based on a majority of the voting power represented at the meeting. The Board of Governors meets once every year to review the activities of the Bank for the previous year and to decide future policies. In its annual meeting the Board designates a Chairman, who holds office until the election of another Chairman at the next Board meeting. The Board of Governors is the highest policy-making body. It can delegate powers to the Board of Executive Directors for the general operation of the Bank. However, only the Board of Governors can deal with issues relating to membership, increase or decrease in the Bank's authorized capital, authorize cooperation agreements with international and regional organisations, election of the President and Executive Directors and decide their remuneration.

The Bank's principal office is in Jeddah in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. Two regional offices were opened in 1994; one in Rabat, Morocco, and the other in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. In July 1996, the board of Executive Directors also approved the establishment of an IDB Representative Office at Almaty, Kazakhstan, to serve as a link between IDB member countries and Central Asian Republics. The office became operational in July 1997 and is now a full-fledged Regional Office. The Bank also has field representatives in eleven member countries. These are: Indonesia, Iran, Kazakhstan, Libya, Pakistan, Senegal, Sudan, Gambia, Guinea Bissau, Mauritania and Algeria.

Detailed Description

Existing Attachments

Since we conducted an FEDD visit to Islami Bank Bangladesh Ltd. along with Mr. Paul M Kennedy, Managing Director, GB FIG and Allen C H Chang, SVP, GB FIG on 01 Mar11, we completed the customer due diligence over phone. During the meeting, the following ssues have been discussed and details are given below:

Know Your Customer: Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited

Introduction of New Business and Branch expansion:

There has been only horizontal expansion of branch network. Total 55 branches including SME branches have been opened since Ownership Changes:

There has not been any major change in the Banks ownership, ARK confirmed that Mr. Abdullah Abdul Aziz Al-Rajhi is holding more than 5% of the Bank s total shareholding as an individual.

Change in AML policy:

Both the Money Laundering Prevention Ordinance, 2008 and Anti-Terrorism Act 2008 have been approved by the Government as Money Laundering Prevention Act and the Anti-Terrorism Act in 2009. However, there has been no change from the ordinances. There has been no change in the AML policy from last questioner completion. They have not sent any reporting to the Central Bank regarding AML transaction issue. They have an internal quarterly training on AML, ranging from the officer level to Managers.

Client on-boarding process:

slami Bank Ltd advised that they follow very strict KYC policy prescribed by the central bank. For individual clients, photo ID of the customers like passport, driving license etc. are obtained. In recent days, copy of National Identification Card is preferred. Two copies of customers photographs duly attested by the introducer, who is an existing customer/acceptable person to the Bank is obtained. Same procedures are followed while on-boarding local corporate entities for each of the Directors/Sponsors. In case of cross-border clients, all the related documents must be verified by the Bangladesh Embassy in the country of domicile of the client. For cross-border entities other than individuals, reports are obtained through credit agencies like Dun & Bradstreet and others. In addition to the above, o meet Money laundering Prevention Act requirement, possible transaction profile of the client is also recorded.

Policy and status regarding Money Business & other high risk customers:

Dealing with any shell is not permissible in Bangladesh. Islami Bank Bangladesh Ltd does not accommodate any shell bank, According o ARK, they maintain relationships with some exchange houses to facilitate handling of inward remittance business. These exchange houses are maintaining account with them. But the accounts are opened only after the endorsement of Central Bank. Bangladesh Bank, Central Bank considers transacting with money exchange houses as high risk and prescribed specific guidelines to deal with this. t requires the Money Services license issued by the Central Bank or other appropriate authority of its country of domicile, Credit report from any internationally reputed agency, audited financial of last three years, profile of all the directors etc. Also a certificate of clearance from the Bangladesh Consular Office in the country of domicile of the Money Service is required before commencing the elationship with them. ARK confirmed that Islami Bank does not deal with any precious metal or gem traders.

AML Policy & screening process of restricted clients while on-boarding and transactions:

Bangladesh is a member of APG, an FATF style body on prevention of money laundering. All APG members commit to effectively mplement the FATF's international standards for anti-money laundering and combating the financing of terrorism. Islami Bank advised that as per their AML policy and guidelines, the Branch and Head Office AML Compliance Officers are regularly monitoring the transactions against a list of persons and entities suspected for terrorism which is provided by the Central Bank, Central Bank, Bangladesh Bank in its AML Circular No. 02 dated 17 Jul 2002 specifically identified the requirements of KYC and provided formats for egular reporting of abnormal/suspicious transactions. The Branch Managers of Islami Bank Ltd are Branch Anti Money Laundering Compliance Officer (BAMLCO) who require to submit this report to Chief Anti Money Laundering Compliance Officer (CAMLCO) in the Head Office. CAMLCO decides whether to report the transaction to Central Bank or not. CAMLCO is required to submit a quarterly report to Central Bank on abnormal/suspicious transactions.

slami Bank Bangladesh Ltd is not allowing any of their customers to provide correspondent banking services through their account maintained with HSBC Bank USA, N.A. Payable through account is also not permissible within the Banking guideline of the country.

The primary purpose of the visit was for Mr. Fakih to ascertain a greater understanding of the Islamic banking market in Bangladesh and to have an insight into the performance of Islami bank in terms of market penetration, market demographics, growth prospective and product assortment.

Mr. Nurul Islam, DMD gave a power point presentation to the HSBC visiting team. The presentation contained an over all financial performance history of the bank. With specific deliberation on an overview of their business growth (average growth 21% over the last decade), asset (USD 3 billion as at 31Dec2009) growth (over 20% in last five years, liability (USD 3,5 billion as at 31Dec2010) growth (over 20% in the last five years), liquidity position and capital growth, also their wallet share position in the Islamic banking market of Bangladesh was explained in the said presentation along with the Islamic product propositions in offer by them. Mr. Islam also elucidated on the future of the Islamic banking market in Bangladesh and its growth prospective in the coming years. With a market size of 136 million (85% of 160 million) people growth potentials are tremendous for any sort of Islamic banking products in Bangladesh. Mr. Islam mentioned that they were aware of the Shariah council of HSBC and they were very appreciative of the council's composition and the quality.

Mr Fakih explained to the attendees to the presentation about the Amanah proposition of HSBC and its overall gamete and scope in terms of operations and business objectives. Mr. Fakih also motioned that he was very hopeful about the prospective of the Amanah initiative of HSBC in Bangladesh both in terms of growth and market penetration He advised the Islami bank's representatives that in future if they require any support or clarifications on any issues or product know how (Islamic banking products) they are more than welcome to approach him for assistance and auxiliary dialogue on the quarries at hand.

Mr. Sadique Reza advised that IB DAK has already presented the Automated Murabaha Servise product of HSBC (overnight swing) to Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited. And the subject product is in discussion and consideration for availing by the said.

Upon the completion of the presentation the HSBC team was directed to meet the managing director (Mr. Md Abdul Mannan) Islami Bank. Mr. Mannan cordially received the visiting team and advised that he was aware and welcomed the HSBC's Islamic banking initiatives in Bangladesh and reiterated the positive prospects of such initiatives. Mr. Fakih thanked Mr. Mannan for his insightful advice and informed that his (Mr. Fakih) visits to the country will increase in the coming days and years as the Amanah preposition develops further to its growth to the pinnacle of the country's Islamic banking market/segment.

Onsite Visitation 1/20/2010

During the meeting Mr. Khadem confirmed that no individual shareholder of the bank is holding over 10% of total shares of the Bank. The latest shareholding position has been requested. Islami Bank confirmed that they do not have any off shore banking activities. They do not entertain any anonymous customer. There was one change in their senior management in last one year.

Mr. Khadem advised that Islami Bank got its own AML policies & guidelines in line with country's Money Laundering Prevention Act, 2009. In the Act, all responsibilities have been entrusted with Bangladesh Bank to investigate and monitor ML cases in the Banks. slami Bank has got a Compliance Department headed by a senior executive who is responsible for enforcing the AML policies allover the Bank, including the Branches. AML training has been included in the induction training for all staff. Workshops, Seminars and trainings on AML are conducted by the Compliance Department in regular intervals. AML training programs with is included in the foundation course for new incumbents.

Does the Country the Client is located in have KYC and AML laws and regulations?

Yes O No

If yes, comment on the country is KYC and AML practices (past, present and/or future) regarding prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing:

Bangladesh is not a regional or offshore financial center. Under the caretaker government that declared a state of emergency when it came to power on January 11, 2007, evidence of funds laundered through the official banking system escalated. The new government instituted a stringent anticorruption campaign that netted more than $180 million in proceeds—a fraction of the estimated total amount of corrupt funds located both domestically and abroad. Fighting corruption is a keystone of the caretaker government under the state of emergency. Money transfers outside the formal banking and foreign exchange licensing system are illegal and therefore not regulated. The principal money laundering vulnerability remains the widespread use of the underground hawala or "hundi" system to transfer money and value outside the formal banking network. The vast majority of hundi transactions in Bangladesh are used to repatriate wages from expatriate Bangladeshi workers.

In April and June 2008 the government promulgated the Money Laundering Prevention Ordinance (MLPO 2008) and the Anti-Terrorism Ordinance (ATO 2008). The laws facilitate international cooperation in recovering money illegally transferred to foreign countries and mutual legal assistance in terms of criminal investigation, trial proceedings, and extradition matters. The GOB has formed a national level committee headed by the Law Adviser and an inter-agency Task Force headed by the Governor of the CB to retrieve illegally transferred money. For the past twenty years, corrupt practices became so common that, between 2001 and 2005, Transparency International ranked Bangladesh in its Corruption Perception Index as the country with the highest level of perceived corruption in the world. In 2008, Bangladesh was ranked 147 out of 180 countries surveyed. Bangladeshis are not allowed to carry cash outside of the country in excess of the equivalent of $3,000 to South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) countries and the equivalent of $5,000 to other countries. Proper documents are required by authorized foreign exchange banks and dealers. The GOB does not place a limit on how much currency can be brought into the country, but amounts over $5,000 must be declared within 30 days. The Customs Bureau is primarily a revenue collection agency, accounting for 40-50 percent of Bangladesh's annual government income.

Although positive legislation has been passed and progress has been made, the Government of Bangladesh should continue to strengthen its anti-money laundering/terrorist finance regime so that it adheres to world standards. The GOB should support technology enhancements to reporting channels from outlying districts to the Central Bank. While the FIU is growing steadily, the FIU analysts and investigators need to enhance their ability to conduct analysis, investigations, understand money laundering and terror finance methodologies and guide the ROs. Bangladesh law enforcement and customs should examine forms of trade-based money laundering and initiate money laundering and financial crimes investigations at the "street level" instead of waiting for a STR to be filed with the FIU. A crackdown on pervasive customs fraud would add new revenue streams for the GOB. Continued efforts should be made to fight corruption, which is intertwined with money laundering, smuggling, customs fraud, and tax evasion. The GOB should ratify the UN Convention against Transnational Organized Crime.

Dear Sir,

Greetings!

Please find below the responses of your queries:

1. What is Islami Bank's relationship with HSBC, including HSBC Bank USA (HBUS)?

Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited (IBBL) is the largest private sector commercial bank in Bangladesh which has got around 600 hundred correspondent banking network including almost all globally reputed banks in different locations. HSBC is one of such correspondent banks of Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited. In this process, Relationship between Islami Bank Bangladesh Ltd. and HSBC began in early 2000 by arranging RMA (Relationship Management Application) with different HSBC Group offices. Later, an USD account in HSBC Bank USA N.A. was opened on 11 October 2000. The USD ACU (Asian Clearing Union) accounts with HSBC India and Pakistan were opened on 28 April 2006 and 23 July 2006 respectively. So far, we have got RMA arrangement with HSBC in 24 locations of the world which includes Australia, Brazil, Canada, China, Dhaka, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, South Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, Pakistan, Peru, Singapore, Spain, Switzerland, Taiwan, Thailand, Turkey, UAE, UK and USA. The purpose of this relationship is to facilitate our foreign trade related transactions i.e. LC advising, trade confirmation, trade payments, trade receipts, customer receipts and treasury coverage.

2. What is Islami Bank's relationship with the Al Rajhi group and the Al Rajhi family?

At the outset, Central Bank took initiatives for establishment of Islamic Banking in Bangladesh. Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited was incorporated in 1983 with the initiatives of Government of Bangladesh including renowned local and foreign sponsors. Among the foreign sponsors, Islamic Development Bank, Kuwait Finance House, Kuwait, Dubai Islami Bank, UAE, Bahrain Islami Bank, Bahrain, Ministry of Awqaf and Islamic Affairs, Kuwait (Present Name: Kuwait Awqaf Public Foundation, Kuwait), The Public Institution for Social Security, Kuwait, Al-Rajhi Company for Currency Exchange and Commerce KSA (Present Name: Al-Rajhi Company for Industry and Trade, KSA) and Ministry of Justice, Department of Minors Affairs Kuwait (Present Name: The Public Authority for Minors Affairs, Kuwait), Jordan Islamic Bank, Islamic Banking System International Hondlings S.A., Luxembourg were prominent. Government of Bangladesh joined with 5 percent shares and continued until government decided to offload its shares from all private commercial banks. These entities along with Al-Rajhi Company for Industry and Trade, KSA have been elected Director of our bank from time to time. At present Mr. Abdullah Abdul Aziz Al-Rajhi from Al-Rajhi family is also a shareholder and director of the Bank.

3. What are Islami Bank's KYC and AML practices?

We have adopted our AML policy in line with Central Bank regulation and relevant acts of the government and follow the same strictly and meticulously. For details, please find attached our AML Policy.

4. Did Abdur Rahman, chief of the Jamaatul Mujahidden of Bangladesh have any accounts at Islami Bank? Please describe those accounts, including relevant dates.

We have had no account in the name of either Abdur Rahman or the organization under question.

5. What were the findings of any Central Bank of Bangladesh investigation into Islami Bank since 2005?

Central Bank as a regulator of this Banking Industry conducts their regular and routine inspection & investigations from time to time since establishment of the Bank in 1983. Till today we do not have any mentionable outstanding issue with the Central Bank regarding the aforesaid investigations other than routine matters.

However, an incident took place in 2006 in connection with some transactions originated from our Gazipur and Savar Branches through eight telegraphic transfers for an amount ranging from BDT 10,000(USD 144) to BDT 79,000 (USD1,137) of altogether sum BDT 4,17,000 equivalent to approximately USD 6,000(United States Dollar six thousand). The transfers were destined to an account in the name of one Mr. Saidur Rahman who had opened account with our Laldighirpar Branch, Sylhet in February 1999 complying all usual norms. Initially, the concerned officials did not find anything suspicious in good faith. Upon inspection from Head Office, it was revealed that the transactions were made in an inoperative account and thereby suspicious in nature and then we made STR to Central Bank. Instantly, Bank also suspended the concerned officials. As the reporting was not done in time, Central Bank fined BDT one hundred thousand (equivalent to USD 1,439) and IBBL paid the amount. Later on, IBBL carried a thorough investigation on the matter and terminated the delinquent officials from the service of the bank. Mentionable that several banks including some foreign bank were also fined by Central Bank at that time due to failure of timely STR.

6. Did the International Islamic Relief Organization have any accounts at Islami Bank? Please describe those accounts, including relevant dates.

International Islamic Relief Organization (IIRO) had accounts bearing number and with our bank. These accounts were opened on 17.04.1993 and 06.06.1994 respectively as a regular and approved NGO and maintained with our bank till 03.08.2010 along with other 2(two) Banks. As the entity was a UN sanction listed organization informed by Central Bank in 2006, we instantly freezed the accounts and confirmed our actions to the Central Bank and there was no transaction from that date to 03.08.2010 i.e till transfer. In 2010, we received instruction from Central Bank at the direction of Ministry of Finance, Government of Bangladesh to defreeze the accounts in the name of IIRO maintained with three banks including IBBL and transfer the accounts with IBBL to BASIC Bank, a Government owned bank and accordingly we confirmed our actions to Central Bank.

We feel our reply will satisfy your query and please feel free to contact us if you have got any query further.

Thanking You,

The Bank's Management strictly ensures the compliance with all statutory and regulatory requirements, including designating AML Officer for this specific purpose and conducting training for staff at all levels.

Bank's compliance with Anti-Money-Laundering requirements and procedures is monitored by the Central Bank of Bangladesh (Bangladesh Bank) and also by Bank's internal and external auditors.

Each and every account of the bank and any transaction in any account are fully complied with our KYC procedures.

3. Please describe the relationship of Social Islami Bank with the Al Rajhi group?

Ans: Social Islami Bank DOES NOT have any kind of relationship with Al Rajhi group.

4. Was Abdul Majid of Singapore a director of Social Islami bank? Was the same Abdul Majid arrested by the Singapore government for terrorism-related activities? What was the result of any legal action against Mr. Majid?

Ans: SIBL Board had never a Director named Mr. Abdul Majid and as such the answer is that Mr. Abdul Majid of Singapore WAS NEVER a director of Social Islami bank.

5. Please describe the relationship of Social Islami Bank with the International Islamic Relief Organization (IIRO)? Is (or was) the IIRO a shareholder of Social Islami Bank?

Ans: International Islamic Relief Organization (IIRO) is a foreign shareholder of Social Islami Bank who currently holds 1.61% share of the bank. It is of mention that the bank doesn't have any transactions with this organization except that this organization purchased some primary shares of the bank when it was floated in 1995, during the year of bank's inception. In 2006 we came to know that the United Nations Security Council enlisted International Islamic Relief Organization (IIRO) under "Individuals and Entities Associated with Al Qaida" as one of the Directors of IIRO was accused of having association with Al Qaida.

The matter was viewed with due concern by the management and the Board of the bank. The management of the bank placed the issue before the Shareholders of the bank in the 11th Annual General Meeting (AGM) held on 06.11.2006 and adopted a resolution unanimously that the whole shares held by International Islamic Relief Organization will be disposed off by way of sale/transfer in accordance with the law of Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), Bangladesh Bank and in line with the law of the land.

The matter was also taken to the notice of Bangladesh Bank and Securities Exchange Commission. The Central Bank issued instruction on 10.12.2006 not to disburse any bonus shares, issue of right shares or pay any cash dividend to IIRO until further instructions of Bangladesh Bank.

In compliance with the instructions of Bangladesh Bank, the bank immediately stopped issuing bonus shares, right shares and paying any cash dividend to IIRO.

To overcome the situation the bank communicated with IIRO several times and requested them to dispose off their entire share held with the bank by way of sale/transfer but they did not respond to the bank's request to offload their shares.

A Board Memo was then placed before the Board of Directors of the bank on 30.06.2009 and the Board unanimously agreed to dispose off the whole shares held by International Islamic Relief Organization (IIRO). The Board of Directors also agreed to seek permission from the High Court praying for Court's intervention to sell the entire shareholding of IIRO in the capital market and the proceeds may be deposited in any government account/screw account or as would be determined by the Hon'ble court of justice to save the Bank from any unwanted trouble and for smooth operation of the foreign exchange business of the Bank.

But in 2010 Ministry of Finance, Government of the Peoples Republic of Bangladesh has issued a circular dated 31/05/2010 providing IIRO permission to run their business/activities legally in Bangladesh.

The Central Bank has also endorsed the circular issued by the Ministry of Finance, Government of the Peoples Republic of Bangladesh vide their Letter No. AMLD-432010-2797 dated 30.06.2010 and instructed us to comply with the Circular issued by the Ministry of Finance.

Under the above circumstance, the bank is under definite obligation in paying dividend/ issuing bonus shares/ right shares to IIRO as per the instructions of the Central Bank and Ministry of Finance which were not paid/ issued in their favour till 31/05/2010.

06. Does (or did) IIRO have any accounts at Social Islami Bank? Please describe those accounts, including relevant dates.

Ans: IIRO has only one Foreign Currency Account with the bank which they opened in 1995 at the time of buying primary shares of the bank. Present balance of the account is zero. Other than that the bank does not have any sort of transaction in that account of IIRO .

07. Please describe the relationship of Social Islami Bank with the Islamic Charitable Society Lajnat al-Birr Al Islam (Lajnat al-Birr)? Is (or was) the Lajnat al-Birr a shareholder of Social Islami Bank?

Ans: The Islamic Charitable Society Lajnat al-Birr Al Islam (Lajnat al-Birr) is a foreign shareholder of Social Islami Bank who currently holds 0.22% share of the bank. It is of mention that the bank doesn't have any transactions with this organization except that this organization purchased some primary shares of the bank when it was floated in 1995, during the year of bank's inception.

08. Does (or did) Lajnat al-Birr have any accounts at Social Islami Bank? Please describe those accounts, including relevant dates.

Ans: Lajnat al-Birr DOES NOT have any account with the bank.

Should you have any query or require further clarification please feel free to contact us.

With thanks & Kinds regards,

Sincerely Yours,

A.M.M.Farhad

processing bulk TCs used for business purpose but continue processing other ordinary TCs. Also informed that this decision is not made only for the deals with Hokuriku Bank but also for any other banks.

Their response is as follows.

They wish you to allow_respite until_they will fix time frame to meet with your decision given the following internal situation at their end.

- First of all, they should consider whether or not they will continue dealing this business. - If they continue the business; 1) they have to select alternative provider. - If they continue the business; 1) they have to select alternative provider. As you mentioned, it is true that there are several candidates in Japan but it may not be easy for them to select the most appropriate provider as they should consider pricing, procedure and etc through selecting process; and 2) they need to change their internal system and procedure. (As mentioned in my previous LN, their systems including accounting system are arranged to deal with HBUS. They also have to change their procedure manual etc. to meet with the alternative provider's processing manner.)

- As you may be aware, September is the month for their interim fiscal period and due to this, it is one of the busiest months for Hokuriku Bank (not only for them but also for Japanese banks).

for them but also for Japanese banks).

As to sort out TCs which HBUS can continuously deal with, they wish to know the clear definition of bulk TCs

We suggest that we should withdraw very carefully given the fact that Japanese regional banks' world is very small. If we will push Hokuriku drastically, HSBC may likely have bad reputation on our PCM business in this marketplace. Your feedback would be appreciated.

Occ-Psi-00808695 and determined that we can not continue to support this business. Thiis is not an issue for negotiation with Hokuriku. HBUS has decided to withdraw from processing bulk quantities of TCs, as the regulatory burden is costly and the operational / regulatory risk is not acceptable.

We respect Hokuriku's perspective, and 30 days notification should be acceptable for withdrawal of services (as stated in our cash letter documentation).

As Cash Letter is a manual process, there should be no significant systemic issues with them shifting this business to another provider. Hokuriku maintains accounts with all of the major USD service providers (Citi, Chase, BONY, Wachovia, Deutsche, Amex, etc), each of whom offer competitive Cash Letter services. They can shift this business relatively easily, and we would appreciate their cooperation in ceasing bulk TC deposit as soon as possible. We will return bulk TC deposits received by HBUS after October 12.

Subject Fw: Hokuriku Bank

Dear Alan

Matsumoto-san and myself visited Mr. Takahashi, GM and Mr. Takarada, Deputy MGR of International Operations Center to advise of your decision.

We conveyed the message that we understand that AML process is appropriately taken by Hokuriku Bank as Anthony commented and the point we intended to discuss is how we enhance process to avoid unnecessary internal process on our side.

During the discussion, we confirmed again the background of relevant transactions.

- Most of their customers related to this issue are used-car dealers for Russian buyers who are cash account holders of Hokuriku Bank through appropriate AML process.

- The dealers are doing cash on delivery type of deals with buyers in this market therefore cash or TCs are normally used to accommodate those deals. As such Hokuriku Bank considers it is difficult for its customers to shift their payment method to wire transfers or commercial check from TCs.
- HBUS is currently the sole Cash Letter provider for Hokuriku Bank and if we stop providing this service to Hokuriku Bank, it needs reasonable grace period to find out alternative service provider and re-adjust its system which is currently arranged/designed to meet HBUS's requirement and also make sure the new internal process with all relevant branches/offices.
- Since relevant customers are limited around 20 25 names and they are all cash account holders of Hokuriku Bank, Hokuriku Bank is well prepared to cooperate with HBUS by providing necessary information / arranging operational process in order to help HBUS to streamline the process. As such if there are any measures to reduce your processing burden, they are open to discuss on that. For that, they wish to understand what is exactly the issue in your processing of the TCs in problem. They have already been following your requirement on high value deposit (exceeding USD20k per deposit), under which they have been providing their customers' information including name, address and business as well as amount and number of TCs. If HBUS requires further more information and/or different process, Hokuriku Bank is ready to discuss on that.

Your feedback would be appreciated.

As you may know, Compliance meets monthly with senior management in the Payments and Cash Management AML Management Review Committee. Recently we discussed the fact that Hokuriku has been sending a large number of sequential traveller's checks from a number of similar businesses through cash letter here in the US. This use of cash letter is inappropriate and the Committee has concluded that PCM should no longer allow Hokuriku to send traveler's checks through cash letter. Hokuriku should therefore cease the activity and make alternative arrangements. Such as to make the denosits by wire by September alternative arrangements, such as to make the deposits by wire, by September 30. Can I ask you to contact the appropriate RM's to convey this message to Hokuriku and confirm back that they have done so?

Re: Fw: Hokuriku Bank - information needed

Our Ref

Your Ref

Takao,

By way of introduction, I am responsible for Global Transaction Banking Compliance in the U.S.

Ako Kobayashi has been very helpful thus far in assisting us in obtaining additional information as it relates to Hokuriku Bank customers that were utilizing our Cash Letter (Pouch) services. In response to the additional questions Hokuriku Bank has requested for our specific request:

- The reason you are reviewing transaction from first and second quarter of 2008 at this time of the year. Internal backlogs
- 2. Where did you get the name of the 30 companies? From Hokuriku Bank bulk deposits
- 3. Are you only asking Hokuriku Bank to provide such information? Yes, as it relates to Hokuriku Bank transactions
- 4. What would be the course of action you would take if any of the Russians are Page 3 related in any way with the named relationships?

(repeat of previous response)

We are required to understand and vet transactions processed that are alerted in our systems because of patterns or trends. To the best of our knowledge, we are unaware of any pending criminal act and would appreciate any information that can be shared with us regarding any law enforcement actions. The Russian names were identified during our due diligence as purchasers of travelers checks on behalf of third parties that used the items to purchase goods from your clients. Our request for information directly relates to transactions processed and alerted in our

because of the large volumes, this processing is normal as we review in arrears and currently are backlogged reviewing transactions from first and second quarter of 2008. These investigations are time consuming as in most instances, like this one, we need to rely on our customers to provide additional information.

5. What is the reason for the request when there is no more outstanding travelers checks with Hokurku Bank
To clear the pending HBUS system generated alerts on previous activity.

We understand from the previous e-mails that Hokuriku Bank has requested some time to gather information for us, which we greatly appreciate and understand that we cannot expect completion by year-end. Again, we cannot stress enough, that all we are asking is confirmation that the purchasers of the travelers checks - Alexander Tokarenko, Andrey Davydov, Yuriy Zimchuk, Leonid Efimovich Egorov, Kopychev Valery or Bulgarov Maxim; are not signers or are connected in any way to the previously requested named relationships at Hokuriku Bank.

Hokuriku Bank is not saying that they will not assist you to provide the required information however they are upset with the nature of the request without being given sufficient background. According to the client, they have identitied the name of the branches where those named entities maintain an account with and shall shorlty make a request to each branch to supply them with the required information.

Please bear with us some time for the Hokuriku Bank to complete the whole process.

I have called Hokuriku Bank and was advised to allow some time. As they do not know how those Russian names are pronounced, Hokuriku Bank needs to visit the companies listed below one by one and it would certainly require certain amount of time. Please consider to wait till the end of this year.

Subject:

SK Trading Monday, December 01, 2008 10:48:54 AM Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Tony, HSBC Compliance management provided me with an update on the situation involving SK Trading.

If you recall, we uncovered huge amounts of travelers' checks (daily averages of $500M to $700M per day) being processed by HSBC for their correspondent Hokuriku Bank in Japan. The travelers' checks were being processed in bulk and all checks were payable to SK Trading, with each bundle (average size of $250M) signed by the same individual and in $1000 denominations and sequentially numbered. We were informed that the aforementioned amounts we identified during our sampling was the peak amount sent in for processing for SK Trading.

We were informed that once received a 314 request from HSBC regarding dispatched investigators to Russia to conduct the matter, they surveilliance at the bank in which the travelers' checks were being purchased. The result was that identified five individuals who were purchasing the checks with cash at the Russian Savings Bank and signing the checks. In turn, the five individuals were providing the checks to Mr. Alexander Tokarenko who is the owner of SK Trading. Mr. Tokarenko then stamped the checks payable to SK Trading. HSBC identified all accounts, including SK Trading, at Hokuriku Bank that were forwarding bulk deposits of travelers' checks to HSBC for clearing. There were 30 accounts at Hokuriku Bank that were sending bulk deposits of travelers' checks. HSBC is attempting to discern if Mr. Alexander Tokarenko has ownership interest in the other 29 entities. HSBC advised that the total dollar amount of bulk travelers' checks processed by HSBC for the 30 entities during the period of November 2007 to October 2008 was over $61 million.

Recently, HSBC informed Hokuriku Bank that HSBC could no longer process travelers' checks for them. Once HSBC management ascertains if Mr. Alexander Tokarenko has ownership in any of the other entities, management will Please let me know if you require any further information.

Thanks, Joe

Re: Questions Posed to the New York Representative Office Of The Hokuriku Bank, Ltd.

Dear Mr. Schram:

Our client, the Hokuriku Bank, Ltd. ("Hokuriku Bank") has asked us to respond to the questions you posed to it in your email of May 21, 2012. The information conveyed here came from our client.

Question 1

What is Hokuriku's relationship with HSBC, including HSBC Bank USA (HBUS)?

Hokuriku Bank's relationship began with HBUS's predecessor in interest, Marine Midland Bank, in May of 1973. In September of 1985, Hokuriku Bank and Marine Midland entered into an International Cash Letter Service Agreement, pursuant to which the two banks cleared travelers' checks for each other. In October of 2008, the bank, by then named HBUS, stopped clearing travelers' checks for Hokuriku Bank, and on May 21, 2012, HBUS terminated its relationship with Hokuriku Bank entirely.

Hokuriku Bank also has a correspondent relationship with Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, Ltd. However, this relationship will be terminated by mutual consent on July 4, 2012.

Hokuriku Bank currently has a correspondent relationship with the four branches of HSBC Banking (China) Company, Ltd. pursuant to a Relationship Management Application ("RAM"). Hokuriku Bank also has a RAM arrangement with the Taiwan branch of HSBC (Taiwan) Ltd.

Hokuriku Bank also maintains correspondent relationships with HSBC Banking Middle East, Ltd. and HSBC Bank PLC (now known as HSBC PLC) pursuant to an agency agreement.

Until May 29, 2012, Hokuriku Bank had a correspondent relationship with HSBC Malaysia Berhad, pursuant to a RAM.

Questions 2 and 3

What is Hokuriku's experience with submitting U.S. dollar travelers' checks to HBUS for clearance from 2005 to the present, including the volume of checks submitted each year, why HBUS stopped processing the travelers' checks in 2008, and when and why HBUS restarted processing them.

Hokuriku's understanding of the travelers' checks cashed by clients in Russia involved in the used car business, HBUS's 2008 inquiry into those travelers' checks, and whether Hokuriku is still processing those checks.

Due to the geographic proximity of Russia across the Sea of Japan, many Japanese dealers of pre-owned automobiles are located along the coast, including the Hokuriku region. (Hokuriku means "North Land" in Japanese). Hokuriku Bank is headquartered in this area and has several branches in the surrounding areas. Some of such dealers have accounts at Hokuriku Bank.

In a typical transaction, a customer of Hokuriku Bank (that is to say an account holder) sells a used car (or cars) to a Russian buyer who is a passenger or crew member of a ship at a nearby port. The buyer pays with travelers' checks. The seller/account holder brings the travelers' checks to its bank (Hokuriku) and deposits them into its account. Hokuriku Bank accepts the travelers' checks, credits the customer's account, and sends the checks to clearing banks. About 90% of the travelers' checks which were cleared by HSBC were in denominations of $1,000 or $500. All the travelers' checks were issued by American Express.

Until October of 2008, HBUS was the clearing bank for Hokuriku Bank in the U.S. HBUS would clear the checks and credit Hokuriku's correspondent account at HBUS. In or about October of 2008, HBUS notified Hokuriku Bank that it would no longer clear travelers' checks for Hokuriku Bank. The reason offered by HBUS was that the cost of processing the travelers' checks, especially the ones submitted by used car dealers, had become too high.

Hokuriku Bank then turned to Bank of New York Mellon which has been clearing the travelers' checks ever since. HBUS has not restarted clearing traveler's checks for Hokuriku Bank.

Hokuriku Bank does not have "clients in Russia" who bring in travelers checks. The traveler's checks are brought in by Hokuriku's account holders which are companies incorporated under Japanese law. Hokuriku does not accept travelers' checks unless deposited by customers into existing accounts (other than travelers' checks total of which is less than $1,000 brought in by individual tourists). Please refer to the attached document which is an excerpt of the compliance manual of Hokuriku Bank. The pages attached list identification and other documentation required the Hokuriku Bank in order for them to engage in various transactions, including processing traveler's checks.

Hokuriku Bank still accepts traveler's checks brought in by its customers, which are now sent to Bank of New York Mellon for clearance.

Hokuriku Bank does not have any knowledge regarding "HBUS's 2008 inquiry into those traveler's checks."

Please see the attachment for the volume of travelers' checks sent to HBUS for clearance each year.

Question 4

Whether Hokuriku clears its U.S. dollar travelers' checks with any bank other than HSBC

As stated above, The Bank of New York Mellon has been clearing Hokuriku's U.S. dollar travelers' checks since November 1, 2008.

Question 5

What is Hokuriku's KYC and AML practices?

Hokuriku Bank has established comprehensive Compliance Regulations to assure compliance with all applicable laws and regulations including, without limitation, the Laws Preventing Transfer of Profits Generated by Criminal Activities and the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Control Law. Hokuriku Bank reviews and updates the Compliance Regulations annually and as required by law.

The legal section which is created within the Compliance Office is responsible for overseeing the bank compliance matters.

All branches perform internal inspection on a monthly basis to ensure their compliance pursuant to certain procedures set up by the bank. In addition, the Internal Auditing Department conducts thorough investigations of all bank activities including, without limitation, compliance with AML matters.

Zachary Schram, Esq. United States Senate June 26, 2012 Page 4 of 4

Hokuriku Bank accepts U.S. dollar traveler's checks only on the following conditions:

- No more than $1,000 per person per day. Two exceptions may apply:
 - (1) If a regular customer brings in a travelers' check in excess of $1,000 and if by Hokuriku's judgment, it is deemed that the funds will be collected from the customer should it turn out that the travelers' cheek was not duly issued; or
 - (2) If the travelers' checks were issued by Hokuriku Bank.
- In either case, Hokuriku Bank requires an ID to clear travelers' checks in the excess of \(\frac{\pma}{2}\),000,000. (approximately \(\frac{\pma}{2}\)5,000 at the exchange rate of \(\frac{\pma}{1}\) = \(\frac{\pma}{8}\)0)
- Whenever someone who does not have an account at Hokuriku (such as a tourist or sailor) whose address is not verified brings in travelers' checks in denominations of $500 or $1,000 or more, Hokuriku would check if a lost or stolen report has been filed regarding them.
- Whenever a non-Japanese customer opens a new account, Hokuriku will confirm if the customer (as well as the person in charge in case of a corporate account) is subject to economic sanctions or their assets are frozen. The Hokuriku Bank has a database for such confirmations and performs searches based on the surname, given name, middle name and corporate name.

Very truly yours,

第2項 外為法上の本人確認

平成15年1月6日施行の改正外為法では、国運安保理決議の求めるテロリスト等に対する資産連結等の 措置の実効性を確保するために、金融機関等に対して本人確認を義務付けている。

また、改正外為法と同時に、テロ資金供与の防止とマネー・ローンダリングの防止を目的とした法律 「金融機関等による願客等の本人確認等に関する法律」も施行された。平成20年3月1日、当該法律に代 わり、新たに「犯罪による収益の移転防止に関する法律」(以下「犯罪収益移転防止法」という)が施行 された。

なお、改正外為法に基づく本人確認は、対象取引が外為取引であることを除き、犯罪収益移転防止法に 基づく本人確認と、原則、同様の取り扱いとなる。

Zach,

Here is our client's response to your queries:

1. When did the limits on the use of travelers checks mentioned in your answer to question 5 take effect?

The current policy has been in effect since 1984 or around that time,

2. Why do so many purchasers of used cars use travelers checks at Hokuriku?

The bank does not know why travelers checks were the primary method of payment in the past. Currently, most payment are being made by wire transfer.

3. How does Hokuriku receive travelers checks from its customers?

The customers (account holders) would bring them to the branch offices and give them to the tellers.

Thank you Alan.

Jeff - do you have a similar policy for new and existing a/cs?

Terry - I will call you to bring you up to speed with the meeting we had this morning. Can you provide a summary analysis of bearer share accounts for NY and the status for BOLs, shares in custody etc for new and existing a/cs as required by the policy listed below please?

Bearer Share Companies

The following is our current policy for Bearer Share Corporations in NY:

New Clients: For this purpose, new clients are considered to be new relationships to HSBC.

Bearer Share corporations will only be accepted if: • CEO - NY IPB and AML LCO approval is received; and,

· Client commits to registering the shares or the shares are held in custody with an approved non-US resident third party custodian, who is authorized to advise HSBC of any changes in ownership

Existing clients:

If an existing client opens an account with a Bearer Share Corporation, then the Existing Clients section noted below applies:

For Bearer Share corporations classified as "high-risk" (see below), the client either must commit to converting the corporation to a registered share corporation or the bearer shares are held in custody with HSBC or an approved non-US resident third party custodian, who is authorized to advise HSBC of any changes in ownership. For all other Bearer Share corporations, the Beneficial Ownership letter must be completed and renewed every three years.

Each of the factors noted below will be considered in determining if the Bearer Share account should be classified high-risk:

Risk classification of ultimate beneficial owner/decision maker
Involvement of HSBC in the creation of the Bearer Share corporation (if HSBC created the corporation, the Relationship Manager will already have significant knowledge of the client)

Number of accounts the Bearer Share client maintains (if the only account with HSBC is the PIC (Bearer Share corporation), then the client may be considered high risk)

· Length of time the Beneficial Owner of the Bearer Share corporation has been

Level and nature of activity in the Bearer Share corporate account(s)

Exceptions:

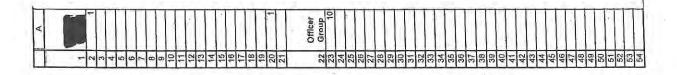

Exceptions to this policy must be approved by any two of the following, one of whom must be the AML Officer: the CEO - NY IPB or designate, COO and Chief AML Officer, PB Americas.

Subject: Re: Fw: Bearer Share Corporation Policy

Paul, attached are my comments on the draft Bearer Share Policy that I had previously sent to Alan in September. As you know, IPB Miami has ceased accepting Bearer Share company accounts so draft requirements for establishing new bearer share accounts are not relevant. IPB Miami maintains existing accounts for 1,679 Bearer Share Corporations of which 126 are considered High Risk. (See attached report.) These companies hold $2.6 billion in PUM and generate an estimated revenue of $26 million per year.

Bearer Share PUM Bearer Share 1679 2,626,134,512 1.00% Est. Margin Estimated Rev 26,261,345

I believe there would be a significant impact to the IPB business if we enacted the draft policy of requiring all existing bearer shares to be held in custody by the end of next year.

I would question why the draft policy would require BOTH holding bearer shares in custody and re-certifying the beneficial ownership letter every three years. That seems to go beyond the expectation of the regulators. As I pointed out below, the interagency examination manual has clearly stated that periodic re-certification of the beneficial ownership of bearer share accounts is acceptable for well known established customers. (The average age of the Miami bearer share relationships is 13 years.)

I would also question the timing of the draft policy, which requires existing Bearer Share companies to convert to registered shares or be held in custody by the end of 2008, a year ahead of the BVI regulations requiring the same steps at the end of 2009. This would take a major effort on our part to accomplish and would disadvantage long standing HSBC clients many of which HSBC has assisted in establishing their company.

Is there any room to revise this policy or obtain a dispensation for IPB? Regards, Jeff Clous, SVP

Alan with respect to existing bearer share accounts the BSA/AML EXAMINATION MANUAL has changed their comment on the mitigation of risk of bearer share accounts. In 2005 - custody was the only option. This changed in 2006/7 and re-certification is acceptable.

EXAMINERS MANUAL 2005 - BEARER SHARE If ownership is held in bearer share form, the bank should maintain the physical control of the bearer shares either inhouse or with a trusted third party to ensure that the ownership of the corporate entity does not change without the bank's knowledge.

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

EXHIBIT #94

EXAMINERS MANUAL 2006/7 - BEARER SHARE If ownership is held in bearer share form, banks should assess the risks these relationships pose and determine the appropriate controls. For example, banks may choose to maintain (or have an independent third party maintain) bearer shares for new clients, or those without well established relationships with the institution.

For well-known, established customers, banks may find that periodically recertifying beneficial ownership is effective.

Fw: Bearer Share Corporation Policy

All,

Attached is the final draft of proposed policy covering Bearer Share Company clients. There is a little more flexibility than was originally planned and we will be able to maintain bearer share company accounts once the requirements of the policy are met.

I will follow up with each group individually (DPB, IPB NY, and IPB Miami) to discuss implementation steps.

regards,

Mr. Cohen:

Hello

Claude:

Yes, Mr. Cohen, you're sure that Gregoire told you that?

Mr. Cohen:

Why? Yes.

Claude:

He told you that he'll set up a Panamanian company for you [again]?

Mr. Cohen:

A Panamanian, he gave me names and everything.

Claude:

He gave you names too?

Mr. Cohen:

Yes, Panamanian companies.

Claude:

Because it's... sooner or later you are going to register Mr. Cohen, it's better to have registered shares.

Mr. Cohen:

I don't want registered shares. If I place relatives as assignees, I don't want these assignees one day saying that the money is theirs.

Claude:

sighs

Mr. Cohen:

Eh yes, do you understand?

Claude:

Yes, I see, but because sooner or later, it's going to be registered, do you understand Mr. Cohen? That's why, why you will pay money, now you will pay money all over again.

Mr. Cohen:

So what do you want? That I close the account with you and that I go to Gregoire?

Claude:

I didn't say that, but I didn't say that you should close the account...

Mr. Cohen:

I can't do that.

Claude:

...close the account.

Mr. Cohen:

Neither Safra nor Gregoire told me that. It's just you telling me that.

Claude:

That what?

Mr. Cohen:

Maybe in Geneva it can't exist...

Claude:

...but Mr. Cohen, I am honestly telling you that if it isn't today, its tomorrow, or the day after, it's going to be...

Mr. Cohen: Maybe in the United States, but not New York... in Geneva.

Claude: Alright, do you want to speak with Evelyne and have her better explain it to you?

Mr. Cohen: No, I do not want to speak with her [laughs]. Why?

Claude: OK, listen, I will verify with compliance and compliance will verify with Geneva if it's OK to open Panamanians and that's it.

Mr. Cohen: Check, and check if the laws in Switzerland are different than American laws.

Claude: The laws in Switzerland are different than those in the United States, we are going to verify that Mr. Cohen. Believe me, I'm doing the best for you, that's why I am going to ask.

Mr. Cohen: And older companies, no.

Claude: Older companies what.

Mr. Cohen: They don't need to register.

Claude: No, no, no, older companies no, but now new companies are asked to, all of them are going to be registered, all.

Mr. Cohen: But older companies, no.

Claude: No.

Mr. Cohen: So, I still have the old ones.

Claude: Yes, but this has nothing to do with the old ones. Now you want to open for ...

Mr. Cohen: ...no I can give you an old one.

Claude: Panamanian?

Mr. Cohen: Yes, there are old Panamanians.

Claude: I'll ask ...

Mr. Cohen: I have old ones that are ten and fifteen years old.

C. Mandel 04/25/2007 11:32:53 AM (43452433_C. Mandel 4_15_07 to 5_5_07 XV_2DD.wav.zip) Page 3 of 4

Claude: Ten and fifteen years old, but there always needs to be a new tarificator, good standing, a new this, a new that, a new this, what do we... If it's ten years old, there is a new certificate of good standing.

Mr. Cohen: Yes.

Claude: There is a new...some new, the...new secretaries. (Inaudible) you know that the directors, bosses, have changed? Of the...of that company.

Mr. Cohen: Yeah, so?

Claude: And so it would need a new director, the list of new directors, the list of new ones...so it's the same thing. You need to open a new one...there needs to be a new one.

Mr. Cohen: There needs to be shareholders.

Claude: Yes.

Mr. Cohen: I'll give you the beneficial owner, but I do not want the shares to be in the name of the beneficial owner.

Claude: No, you can ... you can diversify the shares.

Mr. Cohen: And so?

Claude: That means that the hundred, [inaudible] you can give all of the names, that one, that one, that one, that one.

Mr. Cohen: And so?

Claude: It's easier than giving it to just one.

Mr. Cohen: Wait, wait a minute, but the shares, you have to, you want shares?

Claude: No, you will have the originals, but you can put for example X - M. Leon -40; Sonia -50...

Mr. Cohen: But I can't put that, otherwise I have to declare them in the United States? I can't do that, I don't want to declare...otherwise, I have to close the accounts with you and go to Geneva.

Claude: Yes, I see, I see what you want...

Mr. Cohen: I can't do that because we, I'm a resident here.

Claude:

Yes.

Mr. Cohen:

Why do you think I put Habib...

Claude:

Mr. Cohen:

...my brother-in-law, he's...he agrees with me. It's not like I'm doing it without...

Claude:

OK, OK, alright, I understand, I understand.

Mr. Cohen:

He gives me his passport, he gives me everything.

Claude:

OK so you... you absolutely want to change to Panamanian. OK, I'll ask,

I'll ask compliance and we'll see, alright and I will call you back.

Mr. Cohen:

Keep me posted because [inaudible]... Geneva is free.

Claude:

OK, I will keep you posted. He gave you names too?

Mr. Cohen:

He gave me names; he's going to make them companies.

Claude:

Alright, OK, I will ask and I will call you back.

OK.

Subject: Re: Waiver Request

Alan,

That's where my problem comes in.

The policy reads:

For new Relationships: Bearer Share corporations will only be accepted if:

CEO - NY IPB and AML LCO approval is received; and,

Client commits to registering the shares or the shares are held in custody with an approved non-US resident third party custodian, who is authorized to advise HSBC of any changes in ownership. (see Procedures)

In this case, the client does not want to commit to either option. That's why Manuel suggested if we can give them a waiver to the above. We are talking about a potential client with an estimated net worth is in excess of million in liquid assets.

Would having a conference call with Manuel, the RM and the two of us help? We always try to work with the business, but sometimes we just can't.

Thanks

I spoke to Susan Wright, Group Head of AML. She is reluctant to grant the exception but will consider it.

Could I ask you to prepare a summary of the proposed relationship again, including details of the family and their businesses. Please specifically address whether there are any undisclosed ownership interests or political connections with these accounts. Circulate it to this group for review.

I know you already did something of this - no reason you can't re-use most of it.

Marlon,

Teresa Garcia must have given you heads up on the and the issue regarding their holding companies having bearer shares and the fact that they will not sign the BOL.

I will see one of the family members tomorrow morning and this still seems to have no resolution. This is too important a family in for us not to want to do business with, and one that has taken a lot of my time and effort to convince to start a relationship with us. Joao Luiz has met members of the family as well. I would appreciate your involvement at this point, as this has become extremely sensitive.

Attached is the relevant MLPP policy which allows either BO declaration or holding the shares by HSBC or third party banks. The MLPP provides significant flexibility since the shares can also be held by other banks acceptable to HSBC. As long as US requirements are not more stringent than our GPB KYC policy, suggest that USPB offer the client the choice of the various options under the policy.

I have asked Teresa for a draft of a letter that client could sign in lieu of the BOL, as have few clients in the past. While the letter states similar information to that in the BOL is kept separately from account opening docs and may be a viable option. I am just waiting for her draft before trying anything else.

Hi Marlon,

In this day, it is not likely that any US based Private Bank would allow an account to be opened without knowing all the owners unless an exception/dispensation was granted. Citi Private Bank would open an account for an entity whose shares were issued in bearer form for a client with an existing 2+ year relationship, but I never saw an exception requested because the client did not want to sign the Beneficial Ownership Letter.

would this client feel more comfortable if we open the account for his bearer share entity without a BOL but he would allow us to hold the certificates in safekeeping? In that situation, we could make a very reasonable argument for dispensation.

Or would the client provide the BOL if we provide him a confidentiality agreement? There is an 'approved version' that we have used in the USPB, but I am certain Legal can tweak it to make the client feel more comfortable.

Hope this helps.

Marlon,

I met with the prospect today. While they understand our policy, he reiterated the family is extremely concerned about confidentiality and they are afraid this kind of information could put them at risk. He added that neither Citi nor JPMorgan (banks they have relationships with) have asked for them to sign a BOL. He does understand that eventually they will have to register the shares, but will only do it when absolutely necessary.

I wanted to add that another piece of business that is on the table, for which we only have one other bank competing, and which we have a good chance of winning since we were the first to approach them on, is to help them reorganize the family businesses, and facilitate the succession not only of their financial assets but also their opeating companies. This could be a very significant piece of bussiness. Not opening accounts will eliminate us Not opening accounts will eliminate us from this business that is very strategic for the family and a way to deepen a relationship with them over time, and needless to say, very profitable.

Thank you for your help with this!

Subject: Re: OCC Meeting

The backlog issue is an indisputable problem, and resulted from a number of factors—increase in transaction volumes, increase in alerts due to system changes, law changes and protocol changes (such as MT202COV, which effectively eliminated cover payments) and a failure to increase resources early enough to deal with this. Some of the volume and alert activity should have been anticipated, some could not. The biggest issue for me is that our KRIs did not result in escalation of the problem at an early enough stage so that management could address the issues—the KRIs are being revised, and I do not expect this problem to occur again, but it is taking an enormous effort to eliminate the backlog. You may recall that in December you authorized the hiring of significant temporary staff to work the backlog, and hiring and work began in January. began in January.

One fair question is how did the alert backlog buildup?

---- Original Message ----From: Janet L Burak Sent: 02/24/2010 08:39 PM EST

Subject: OCC Meeting
I met with the OCC today. In light of the extent of our alert backlogs, Sally indicated that they will shortly be issuing a Supervisory Letter finding violations of the requirements to file a SAR in certain defined circumstances, and generally within 30 days of detection of facts that may constitute a basis for filing a SAR. We make a determination of whether or not to file a SAR after an alert is reviewed, and, as you are aware, there are a significant number of aged alerts. While the OCC is unable to point to specific situations where they believe that SARs should have been filed, but were not, they have concluded that, in light of the size of the backlogs, these situations must exist. The letter will reflect the fact that we self-identified the backlog issue, and that are taking actions to address it. Subject: OCC Meeting

Sally also indicated that they are considering downgrading their assessment of Compliance Risk Management to "weak" from "satisfactory", although Sally indicated that if they make that decision it will not impact the Bank's composite CAMELS rating, which would remain a "2" (satisfactory), and would not likely impact the Management rating component (also a "2"). For Irene's benefit, national banks are rated on a number of component categories—Capital, Asset Quality, Management, Earnings, Liquidity, and Sensitivity to Market Risk—and those components determine the composite rating of the institution. This is a quite surprising development, since Compliance as a function was deemed effective in the OCC's July 2009 report of examination, and the OCC's July 2009 separate Compliance Management examination also concluded that Compliance management was satisfactory. While the latter report indicated that Compliance leadership needed to be strengthened in the BSA/AML area, and recommended the hiring of a dedicated and qualified BSA/AML Officer, it also noted that a search was then underway at the time to fill this position. Sally indicated that the reason for their reconsidering their assessment Page 1 Page 1

HSBC-OCC_E 0179327.txt
relates to the issues they have identified coming out of the "expanded banknotes examination" as well as the fact that there is an ongoing third party investigation of our BSA/AML compliance (I assume a reference to the DOJ). While we are finalizing our review of the examples they provided us 10 days ago, Wyn has told me that we are not finding anything which points to a systemic problem rather than one-offs (if that). As such, I am inclined to believe this may be more about an OCC concern that if the DOJ investigation actually results in a negative finding, the OCC will be criticized for not having identified and acted on those issues earlier. We intend to provide the OCC with a response next week to the issues they identified, and I am hopeful that the response will positively influence their view on Compliance Risk Management. If that appears to not be the case, I think that we will need to take this to DC (Grace Dailey), as this is becoming an untenable situation.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Emilson,

I fully acknowledge the level of priority and focus that you and the team have given to these issues and the progress that has been made particularly in Maxico and have taken all of this into account. Catherine has kept us fully updated and I am also aware of the fact that CNBV has expressed their satisfaction with the progress made. It is important to note that this rating does not signify that we take the view that there has been an inadequate response. For example US has been rated red on some categories of risk in the GAC risk map because of inherent risk.

The basis for the rating is however:

The inherent AML risk in Mexico is still very high and I than are not many other parts of the Group that have what is effectively a drugs war being conducted on the streets and also have the risk posed by potential sting and other operations by the US authorities. We have of course remediated our high risk accounts, but the historic weak account opening processes mean that we have overall lower levels of KYC across the customer base as a whole.

There are other countries within CA where we have ongoing remediation projects including Panama and Costa Rica where again there is a raised AML risk where it is not yet clear to me that we have completed the remediation of high risk accounts.

Happy to discuss further.
